1986 Summer Drought Hay Fund Is Opened

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

The first checks arrived this week for the 1986 Summer Drought Hay Fund. So on Thursday morning Editor Newswanger met Don Bissler, fund treasurer and Fairbbridge farmer, in the Farmers First bank in Elizabethtown. At that time an account was opened to receive the drought hay funds.

Risser and Frank Stoltzfus who will assign the checks arranged for the funds to be placed under the Elizabethtown Brethren in Christ Church charitable organization account number so an immediate clarification of the tax-deductible status of the fund could be established.

As announced last week Lancaster Farming, the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture are working to bring farmers with serious drought losses together with other farmers who can help supply those needs. This week the United States Department of Agriculture started referring national hotline callers to the fund. The Pennsylvania Farmers Association will administer the funds through their PACMA division. PACMA has already shipped Pennsylvania-made hay to hurting farms in drought areas.

Emotional stories of how this sort of farmers helping each other could already be told. But Editor Newswanger has determined that emotionalism and sensationalism shall not be used to induce people to give. The 1986 Summer Drought Hay Fund was established to give those who wanted to help but didn't have hay to donate. If you would like to make a donation to this fund, here's what you can do.

1. Make your checks payable to 1986 Summer Drought Hay Fund.
2. Send your check to Lancaster Farming newspaper, P.O. Box 366, 22 East Main Street, Lititz, PA 17543, Attention Hay Fund or Attention Editor.

Lancaster Farming will forward your check to the fund treasurer. The deposit will be made. When PACMA finds a need to pay for transportation of donated hay or when they find a need to buy hay to donate, moneys from this fund will be forwarded to PACMA to fill the need.

Anyone who would like more information about this drought hay fund may call Lancaster Farming any time during office hours. The phone numbers are 717-394-3047 or 717-626-1164.

In addition, if you have hay to donate or need hay, you may call the PFA office at 717-761-2740.

For information from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture about the drought hay situation you may call 717-787-2387.

Or to reach the USDA hotline in Washinton you may call 1-800-433-0703.

Sec. Lyng Sees Both Drought and Abundance Across America

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LANCASTER/YORK COUNTY
— National Agricultural Secretary Richard Lyng made a whirlwind tour to Lancaster, York County and the Scranton area on Tuesday to support the re-election of Senator Arlen Specter from the farm community and to hear the opinions of farmers on political matters related to agriculture.

Arriving half-a-day late due to a last minute meeting with President Reagan, Lyng spoke to a $50 a plate fund raising luncheon for Senator Specter. Lyng told the farm leaders of the great phenomena he is seeing as he travels the national farm community. "It seems half my day is spent reviewing the crops west of here to Nebraska where we have a corn crop that will undoubtedly give us the best yield per acre we have ever had. That causes us concern about the corn export sales and where to store the grain. But when we are not worrying about the big corn crop, the other half of the day is spent worrying about the drought."

"Last Friday, I was in Georgia to speak to the peanut growers," Lyng said. "There the corn doesn't look good. It's awful. It makes you ill to see it. President Reagan is deeply concerned about the drought," Lyng said. "He was in South Carolina last week and feels the USDA should do all we can to help."

"One of the things he did by bringing the air force planes in to fly hay down from the western states called attention to how bad the drought actually is. He was able to get volunteers all over the country to offer to help. Some by giving hay. Some by giving money. Some by giving transportation. There has been an outpouring of volunteerism that I think is very unusual and tremendously valuable. People in the south are very grateful," Lyng said. "We can't supply the need for every hungry animal by flying hay into the area. But it was a gesture that showed how much the President cared and it got the thing started."

We set up a special telephone number for people who want information about the drought. The first day of operation last Friday, we had 900 calls. And on Saturday we had 700 calls. Of those calls, most of the people who wanted to send money were calling from Pennsylvania. The secretary gave the hotline number for the USDA drought information as 1-800-433-0703. The hotline is available 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

After a short speech at the fund raising luncheon, Secretary Lyng moved on to the York County farm of Geary Hunsberger where a large group of media represen-

Conservation Reserve Signup Begins Monday

Signup for the 1987 Conservation Reserve Program gets underway Monday and continues through Aug. 15 at county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Enacted as part of the Food Security Act of 1985, the goal of CRP is to remove the nation's highly erodible land from cultivation by paying farmers an annual rental fee to maintain permanent vegetative cover on CRP acreage. Producers entering land in the program are eligible for cost-share payments of up to 50 percent of the cost of establishing cover.

The CRP contract duration is 10 years, and total rental payments for any one fiscal year may not exceed $50,000, or its equivalent in in-kind payments.

"We are pleased with the response from farmers during the 1986 signup," said Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng, upon announcing the 1987 signup. "Now that producers are aware of the other provisions of the Act, such as sodbuster and conservation compliance, we expect even more interest...in the Conservation Reserve Program this year."

USDA recently announced interim rules that could affect farmers participating in CRP commodity programs and other government farm programs. The so-called Sodbuster and Swampbuster provisions prohibit farmers from producing crops on highly erodible land without following a locally approved conservation plan, and from producing crops on converted wetlands. These provisions apply to highly erodible land and wetlands in production since Dec. 23, 1985, the date when the Food Security Act was enacted.

A conservation compliance provision, related to the Sodbuster provision, requires farmers who request certain farm program benefits, and who have farmed highly erodible land at least one year during 1981 to 1985, to plan and apply locally approved conservation plans.

Chester Co. Holstein Field Day

Richard Grubb, Pennsylvania agricultural secretary (left), at Elisa Wilkinson, alternate Chester County dairy princess of the Purple cow in front of the 50 foot long banana split the county holstein field day Thursday evening. The event is held at the family farm of Arthur Hershey. Grubb spoke in the evening outlining the changes that farmers have made and are experiencing from milking cows by hand to technology.

The cow judging contest winners were: men (first place tie) rl Yoder and Harold Bare; (second place tie) Nelson litzfuser and Glenn Freese; women (first) Doris Hostetter, cond) Betsy Wilkinson; youth (first) Clint Stees, (second) erie Freese.

Clarence Stauffer from the National Holstein Association advised breeders that the no sale family transfer registration cost will increase from $2.00 to $5.00 on November 1. Any transfer should be made before that time to save the added cost.

POULTRY MARKETS

Delmarva Poultry Thursday, July 31, 1986

Market Comment: Movement of ready to cook whole birds was moderate to good. Offerings were irregularly available but clearances were usually easier than earlier in the week. Demand for parts continued to increase and cutlets and breast meat cleared with ease. Leg quarters and legs were again well-cleared. Wings had improved and were in much better balance with demand. Less than trucklot asking prices were generally unchanged to one cent higher and seller premiums were getting back to normal in many instances. Live supplies were mostly moderate. Weights desirable to light. Slaughter schedules were moderate. The undertone was at least steady and was being stimulated in part by increased need for first of the month business and demand from the fast food industry.

Estimated slaughter of broiler fryers in Delmarva:
Estimated 7/31 1,873,000; Actual 7/24 1,590,000.
Actual 7/29 1,976,000.
Average Weights 7/29 4.26, 7/22 4.26.

Eastern PA and NJ Poultry

Wednesday, July 30, 1986
Report Supplied by USDA

Market Comment: Trading too limited to report prices. Spent hen movement was extremely light and plants ran short or no schedules at all. Some light volume moved at 11 to 12 cents at farm. Bid prices were noted as a frivolous venture as sellers were intent on retaining hens for their heavyweight egg production. The undertone was firm.

Prices Paid at Farm:

Light Type Hens: too few, mostly too few.

Philadelphia Eggs

Report Supplied by USDA

Market Comment: Prices were unchanged under a generally steady sentiment. Demand was mixed but generally only fair at best. Supplies of extra large remained tight and no more than adequate. Large were adequate to fully adequate and continued to increase in availability. Mediums were adequate to long. Jumbos were seasonally short, and smalls adequate to fully adequate.

Prices to retailers: sales to volume buyers, consumer grades white eggs in cartons delivered store door: A Extra large 76-80; A Large 74-78; A Medium 51-53.

Omaha Weekly

Thursday, July 31
Report supplied by USDA
Slaughter Steers and Heifer prices lower for the week erasing advances posted on Monday.
Prices for both steers and heifers
.50 to mostly 1.00 lower than last week according to USDA livestock market news.

Trading early was marked by good higher demand with a dressed market that was little changed from the previous weeks levels. However, by mid-week dressed beef prices turned lower and packers applied pressure to bring live prices more in line with carcass realization.

Slaughter cows steady to 1.00 lower. Slaughter bulls steady.

Estimated 5 day receipts of cattle this week 4,200 compared to actuals last week of 4,323 and 6,944 last year. Slaughter Steers accounted for 48% of receipts, slaughter heifers 40%, slaughter cows 9% and feeder cattle 1%.

Ask the Old Farmer: How can I remove stains from marble? A small battery-operated clock leaked and stained my marble dresser top. K.W. Stattdurg, N.Y.
Some spots and discolorations can be removed by wetting them with hydrogen peroxide and adding two or three drops of ammonia. When the bubbling stops, wash and rinse thoroughly. If the marble is dull, polish with putty powder, which you can get at a monument works. Sprinkle the powder on a piece of damp felt and rub the surface until you get the finish you want.

Home Hints: A copper scouring pad placed in your humidifier will prevent lime buildup.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Rainy and mild at beginning of week, midweek clear and hot, rainy and mild again at end of week.
Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins sunny and hot, midweek showers with mild temperatures, end of week sunny, continued warm.
Middle Atlantic Coastal: Beginning of week clear and hot, midweek rainy and mild, clear and hot again at end of week.

Lancaster Farming

The Dutchman In Us

In Lancaster Farming Territory, we're often accused of being "dutchman". Those who use this term often mean to imply that we are a little slow to take on modern things and ideas. Backward is the word they use. Some of us still farm with horses. And even if we farm with modern equipment we still get a bit giddy from the fast pace of modern society.

The assistant to the state secretary of agriculture John Nikoloff last week called us fiscally conservative. You can be sure he was being respectful when he said it. Nikoloff was simply saying that because of our dutchman characteristics we didn't get ourselves under as big a debt load as some of our midwestern brothers did. This hesitancy to go into things in a big way has paid off for a lot of us farmers during this time of deflation.

And we are noted for our barn raisings. When a farmer has a disaster his neighbors come and help him build up again. If a fire destroys a barn, the loss is soon forgotten because of the neighborliness of those persons in the community who come help restore the structure. If a farmer becomes ill, his neighbors will move in and take care of the farming operation until the afflicted person has recovered.

And if there is a drought—

One of the beautiful happenings that has covered national agriculture in the last several weeks is the outpouring of sympathy from farmers who have been abundantly blessed with rain to those farmers in other parts of the country who have not been so blessed. You might call it a national barn raising. At least the principle of helping ones neighbor in time of need is evident.

National secretary of agriculture Richard Lyng when he visited Lancaster Farming Territory this week spoke with quiet amazement at the "outpouring of volunteerism" that has been expressed since the USDA set up the drought disaster hotline. The first day the telephone answering service was available 900 calls were received. Of this huge number of calls Lyng reported that most of the calls offering to help came from Lancaster Farming Territory. That's great.

But because of our natural dutchman characteristics, we're not too surprised. Individual farmers, farm organizations, agribusiness and government agencies all have joined hands to help those who are hurting. And because of this we can't help but think there must be a little bit of dutchmanism in all of our farmers and friends in Lancaster Farming Territory.

NOW IS THE TIME

By Jay Irwin

Lancaster County Agriculture Agent

To Attend Ag Progress Days

Most farmers do not need much prodding to visit an agricultural show whether it is in the county or halfway across the state.

Each year thousands of people have jammed Penn State University's Rock Springs Agricultural Research Center, nine miles west of Boalsburg on Route 45, to attend the Annual Ag Progress Days. The dates are August 19 to 21. Activities will start at 9 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. each day.

This year's show should be one of the biggest and best ever. The theme of this year's event, "Water Quality And Your Life," is very fitting with the concerns for safe drinking water. Since 1984, almost half a million Pennsylvanians, including 125,000 in the first four months of this year, have had to boil their drinking water.

Wednesday, August 6

Lancaster Conservation District Board Meeting.

Carlisle Fair, Carlisle; continues through Aug. 9.

Tioga County Fair, Whitneyville; continues through Aug. 12.

Thursday, August 7

Pa. Christmas Tree Growers annual meeting, Sheraton Inn, Wexford.

Farm City Day, Penn Square, Reading, 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Huntingdon County Extension Executive Committee Meeting, 8 p.m., Extension Meeting Room.

Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Roundup, Carlisle Fairgrounds, Carlisle.

Lancaster County Poultry Queen Contest, Farm and Home Center.

Chester County 4-H Swine Show, New Holland Sales Stables, New Holland.

Bradford County 4-H County Council, 4-H Building, Troy, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, August 9

Eastern Pennsylvania Championship Holstein Show, Kutztown Fairgrounds, Berks County, 10 a.m.

Bradford County Holstein Junior Club, Blueberry Festival at Gary Kelleys.

Adams County Poultry Queen Contest, 6 p.m., Dobbin House Restaurant, Gettysburg.

Chester County 4-H Swine Sale, New Holland, 9 a.m.

Old-fashioned horse pull, Wayne County Fair, County Fairgrounds, Honesdale, 1 p.m.

Wayne County Fair Livestock Auction, Fairgrounds, 7 p.m.

More than 300 commercial companies will be exhibiting their products for home, farming and country living. Take a day out of your busy schedule (you've earned it) and plan to attend Ag Progress Days. There is no parking or admission charge.

To Observe Poultry Month

The Lancaster County Commissioners have proclaimed August as Poultry Month. So, this is a good time to reflect on the impact of this important industry has on the economy of Lancaster County. Poultry products in Lancaster County provide nourishment for over 6 million people. The value of the poultry products sold totaled over $167 million. It is estimated that nearly 10,000 people are employed in the many different areas of the poultry industry in Lancaster County.

The industry is strong because of the dedicated, well-managed poultry farms along with the highly efficient and supportive allied industry. Eggs and poultry meat are two of the most nourishing foods in your health diet. Let's be supportive of this important part of our agricultural economy during Poultry Month.

To Communicate With Legislators

How long has it been since you, as a farmer, have been in contact with your senator, congressman, or representative?

I'm afraid that too many of us are reluctant to inform our legislators how we feel on certain issues. Yet we expect them to represent us and support legislation to our satisfaction.

It often has been said that farmers do not make enough "noise" when it comes to agricultural legislation. This is no doubt true, but it should not be that way.

You have heard the phrase, "the wheel that squeaks the loudest gets the grease." I feel that too many times those who sound off the loudest do not represent the majority views of our farmers.

Don't hesitate to be on good terms with your elected officials; they will appreciate your opinions and it will help them with their major decisions.

To Be Aware Of The Pollen Count

The "hay fever" season is here. Despite its name, "hay" is not normally the cause of hay fever. Ragweed is the chief cause. Ninety percent of all allergic reactions to grass and weed pollens are due to ragweed.

Hay fever is a seasonal disease. It's a disease that many people tend to minimize despite the fact that one out of every three sufferers develop its serious form — chronic asthma.

In Lancaster County it is widespread from early August through September when the weed flowers. The best way to destroy ragweed over large areas is by using a weed spray such as 2,4-D. Cutting the plant low, near the roots is recommended for small areas. The best way to prevent the spread of ragweed is to keep idle land covered with grass.

SHAME IS A VIRTUE

Background Scripture: Ezekiel 36.
Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 34:11-16.

When I was a little boy, if someone said to me, "For shame!" my reaction was predictable: my head would tilt forward, my eyes would be lowered, my mouth turned down and my upper lip stuck out just a bit. The word "shame" alone could produce a look of shame on my face. There was nothing unique about my reaction: most children tend to react that way. It is not hard to make a child feel embarrassed, and shame is just an acute sense of embarrassment.

As we get older, however, many of us lose some or all of our capacity for shame. We learn to cover over those feelings of vulnerability or at least drive them deep into the unconscious where the reaction is less visible, if often more dangerous. And most of us regard this development as a desired one: no one likes to feel shame and it is more comfortable without it.

LOATHED DEEDS

But comfort is not always the healthiest condition. Although a sense of shame that is too deep can be harmful to our physical and emotional well-being, too, little sensitivity to shame can also be a problem. The fact is, a balanced sense of shame is a good thing, a necessary thing, in our lives because it helps us to recognize our failures, sins and mistakes. There are times when we need to be ashamed of what we have done or not done, said or not said, been or not been. For, out of shame grows the possibility of repentance and out of repentance rises the possibility of pardon and renewal.

Sin is tragic enough by itself, but to sin without a sensitivity to our wrongdoing can be spiritually very dangerous, perhaps even fatal. Shame is what can prevent sin from becoming, not just an occasional act, but a continuing fact. When the prophet Ezekiel promised the exiled people of Israel that they would be renewed and restored, he also assured them that their sense of shame would be restored as well: "Then you will remember your evil ways and your deeds that were not good; and you will loathe yourself for your iniquities and your abominable deeds" (36:31). There would be no point in renewing these people if their sense of shame were not to be restored as well.

A HEART OF STONE

The people of Israel had been sinning so long and so deeply that they had lost their sense of shame — their hearts had figuratively turned to stone. They could continue to sin because, having denied their feelings of shame so long, they no longer had a deep sense of right and wrong. Thus, prophesied Ezekiel, "I will take out of your flesh the heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh" (36:26), a heart that can feel and know the spiritual pain of displeasing our Lord.

Attention TOBACCO FARMERS

Growers in Georgia began marketing their tobacco on July 29. Sales of "Primings" or "Ground Leaves" ranged from $1.05 to $1.22. It will be 3 to 4 weeks before demand for higher quality tobacco will show.

Estimates indicate Maryland tobacco acreage is reduced from 21,000 to 18,000 acres this year.

Aphids are a real problem in some areas. More frequent control may be required. Do not allow aphids to damage your tobacco before maturity; this leads to green tobacco.

When using sucker sprays it is important to read the labels. Too little will be ineffective. Too much may damage your tobacco. Know whether you are using a contact or a systemic sucker control and learn how they do their job. Good effective sucker control will repay you with more weight in the usable leaves.

It is very important to allow your 609 tobacco to ripen or mature before cutting. Optimum time is from 4 to 6 weeks after topping. A yellow hue in the leaf, and a popping sound when pinching one of the top leaves in the middle between 2 veins, indicates ripeness.

SR82 WHEAT

Outstanding Value

When you plant HYTEST SR82 for your winter wheat crop you can save money right up front because 100 lbs. to the acre is ideal, no need to plant more. You'll get a plant with strength and medium tall height—great for straw or grain. This top yielding soft red winter wheat shows good fall growth. An ideal performer for eastern conditions.

SR82 is one of the top soft red winter wheat varieties available to the farmer in the Mid-Atlantic states. Excellent yield potential, powdery mildew resistance, good standability and high straw yields are SR82's outstanding qualities.

Kline's Aged Cow Named Supreme Champion

BY SUZANNE KEENE
AND MARTHA GEHRINGER
LEBANON — Youthful exhibitors led their 4-H and FFA project animals into the showing for junior dairy competition at Lebanon Area Fair Tuesday.

For Sharon Kline of Myerstown and her 9-year-old Holstein cow C Midland Mardi Judy, the walk around the ring was worth the effort. Judy was first named champion FFA Holstein and was later selected supreme champion of the junior show. Classified EX 90, Judy was sired by Little River Mardi Gras. She was bred by Bliss Johnson.

"She's got the most age to her, and she has held together well," judge Dean Daubert said in selecting the supreme champion.

A member of the Elco FFA Chapter, Sharon also claimed the FFA reserve champion honors with her 3-year-old entry, C Almet Northern Gertie. Gertie is classified VG 85 and has been a member of the Kline Herd for several years.

The 4-H Holstein championship went to four-year-old Sher-Don Rorae Valiant Holly, owned by Kent Hoffer.

"She's dairy from one end to the other," judge Billy Joe Heath of Westminster, Md., said.

Classified VG 85 as an early 3-year-old, Holly boasts a production record of nearly 22,000 pounds milk and 750 fat as a three-year-old. She was reserve grand champion at last year's fair.

Kent, the 16-year-old son of Donald and Sherry Hoffer of R4 Lebanon, is a member of the NoSoAnn Dairy Club.

For his 4-H reserve champion, Heath turned to a two-year-old homebred cow owned by Kynel Bomgardner. Sired by Birch-

The 4-H junior championship belonged to Stephanie Wagner and her homebred senior yearling heifer, Ju-Vindale Tradition Bobbie. Sired by Sweet-Haven Tradition, Bobbie was first-place senior calf at last year's Lebanon Fair.

Stephanie, the 12-year-old daughter of Vincent and Juliet Wagner of Myerstown, is a member of the Elco 4-H Club.

Dale Weaver showed his homebred intermediate yearling heifer Beach Wood Starfire Sylvia to the FFA junior championship. Sired by Thumb-Pride Starfire, Sylvia was first-place intermediate calf at the Fair last year and won a blue ribbon at district competition.

Dale, the 20-year-old son of John Weaver, Myerstown, is no newcomer to the showing. He claimed the 4-H championship at last year's show.

Becky, the 16-year-old daughter of Paul and Marilyn Sonnen, Richland, is a member of the Elco Dairy Club.

The FFA reserve junior champion was an intermediate heifer calf owned by Sherry Donmoyer of Annville. Sired by Swampy-Hollow Valiant Rick-ET, Sherry's entry was junior champion at FFA district competition last year.

Sherry said she purchased her heifer from John Bomgardner. She is a member of Northern Lebanon FFA.

COLORED BREED SHOW

All four colored breeds registered strong competition, possibly the strongest they will face all summer, in the 4-H and FFA shows.

The Ayrshire show started the Tuesday evening competition. Wesley Harding Jr. of Lebanon dominated the Ayrshire youth show, stepping into eight champion spots in both the 4-H and FFA competitions. He claimed the 4-H grand championship with his aged cow, Penn-Bell King Vue's Penny, sired by Ardrossan King Vue.

Jesse Maulfair, Fredericksburg, edged Harding's homebred entry for the junior championship crown. Maulfair showed his junior heifer calf, Maulfair-Acres Barry Sugar, a daughter of Burr-Ayr-Farms H.K. Barry. Harding's reserve junior champion, a homebred intermediate yearling, was sired by Heb-Ayr Major.

During the FFA contest, Harding returned to the ring and stood in the grand champion position again, this time with his junior 2-year-old, Chestnut Ridge Starboy Pandora. Heather Hernley captured the reserve grand position with her dry cow, Ann Ayr Fortune Valerie. A daughter of Oak Ridge Flashy Fortune, she was scheduled to freshen within the week.

In the 4-H Brown Swiss competition, the grand and reserve grand champion placings went to Judy Mase, Lebanon. She took the grand champion spot with her homebred 3-year-old cow, Meadow Hill Prospect Lauren, a daughter of V B Great Prospect. Reserve grand went to Mase's aged cow, Jessie Improver Lena.

year 4-H member, grabbed the grand championship with his junior yearling heifer, a Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette daughter bred by Jacob Smith and Son of Annville. Last year this animal placed in the reserve grand position.

Charity Hostetter stood next to her brother with the reserve grand champion of the show. She placed with her junior heifer calf by Raemelon Deacons Fashion.

The grand and reserve grand championship of the 4-H Jersey show went to a pair of 3-year-old cows. Brenda Dice, Palmyra, walked to the grand champion spot

(Turn to Page A20)

Both the grand and reserve grand FFA honors went to Sharon Kline. Here she gets a hand showing them from her husband, John.

Kent Hoffer, left, captured the 4-H grand champion rosette, while the reserve championship went to Kynel Bomgardner.

The FFA junior champion belonged to Dale Weaver.

BY BETSY STITT

Blair County Correspondent
MARTINSBURG — Holstein breeders gathered at Memorial Park on July 25 for the annual Blair County Holstein Club Sale where a fine line-up of Holsteins awaited the bidder's attention.

Chestnut-Knoll Bell Helen attracted the most attention, capturing the top price of $4,600 when the gavel went down for the final time.

A 3-year-old daughter of Carlin-M Ivanhoe Bell, she is projected to produce 17,706 pounds of milk and 663 pounds of fat during her first lactation. Her dam, Chestnut-Knoll Pete Dancy, is scored EX-90 and has a top record of 26,230 pounds of milk and 888 pounds of fat.

Fidelity Holsteins, Martinsburg, consigned the top seller. The Bell Hell Syndicate of Blair County was the successful bidder.

William and Vera Shultz, Berlin, consigned the second high animal, Welk-Crest Wileeda Pride. She sold for $1,900 to Young's Wood Farm, Dilltown.

A 3-year-old daughter of Wileeda Citation R, she classified at 82 points. Her dam, Ben-Lou Elevation Pauline, classified at 88 points and produced a top record of 20,440 pounds of milk and 1,125 pounds of fat for a 5.5 test as an 8-year-old.

A stylish, recently fresh, 2-year-old daughter of Knoll Top Reckers Ace sold for the third high price of $1,850.

Burket Falls Ace Kit Kat's dam, Burket Falls SWD Karyn-ET, produced, as a 3-year-old, a top record of 19,942 pounds of milk and 740 pounds of fat.

She was consigned by Burket Falls Farm of East Freedom and purchased by Ken, Steve and Ron Mowry of Roaring Springs.

Blackcrest Farms of Altoona consigned the fourth high selling animal. Ken Brockett of Tyrone bought her for $1,800.

Blackcrest Molly Chief Nina sold fresh and is currently milking 65 pounds of milk per day. Her dam, Blackcrest Reliance NaDene, is classified VG-88 and has a top record of 22,176 pounds of milk and 968 pounds of fat.

Two cows sold for the fifth high price of $1,450.

The first cow to sell for this price tag was Lar-Ann Chairman Anabel, recently fresh and milking at 67 pounds per day. Her dam Lar-Ann Pete Apricot produced 17,436 pounds of milk and 607 pounds of fat as a 2-year-old.

She was consigned by Larry Kulp, Martinsburg, and Brian England, Williamsburg, was the buyer.

Also selling at the $1,450 level was Burket Falls' entry, Burket Falls Tony Carmelia, a recently fresh 2-year-old. Her dam, Burket Falls Abner Carmon, classified at 85 points. As a 3-year-old, she produced a top record of 19,519 pounds of milk and 871 pounds of fat.

Carmelia sold to the Brockett Brothers.

Barry England, sale chairman and manager, reported that the sale averaged $1,235 on 32 animals.

with a daughter of Briarcliffs Soldier Boy. Melanie Bushong, Lebanon, claimed the reserve grand placing with her Sargent Plus daughter bred by Robert Ulrich Jr.

FFA Jersey crown belonged to Ellen Hanson, Palmyra. She copped all of the major rosettes with the exception of the junior champion rosette.

Pioneers Jody of Julam won the grand champion honors for Hanson. Julam, sired by Sunset Ridge Pompeys Pioneer, was bred by Roy Watson of Troy.

Stepping into the reserver grand champion slot was Springs-A-Plenty Gems Summer, a daughter of B.W. Jewelers Gem.

Open Show Champions Named At Lebanon Fair

Copping champion honors in the Jersey Open and FFA competition were Ellen Hanson left with the FFA champion and Dianne Dice with the open champion.

BY MARTHA GEHRINGER
LEBANON — The colors of red, brown, fawn and white were flying high with exceptional dairy character at the Lebanon County Open Colored Breeds Show Tuesday.

Dale Maulfair, Jonestown, topped the Ayrshire show with Maulfair Acres Jewel Dana. This is the second consecutive trip to the winner's circle for Maulfair's homebred aged cow, sired by Selwood Greta's Jewel.

Reserve grand champion honors went to a 9-year-old dry cow also owned by Maulfair. Maulfair Acres Hi Kick Pepper was sired by Mar-Ral Hi Kick and bred by Maulfair.

Claiming the Brown Swiss championships in the open and 4-H competition was the Mase family of Lebanon. Judy Mase, left, was named the 4-H champion and the open reserve grand champion. Gary Mase was named the grand champion of the open show.

South-Central Dist. Holstein Champion Is 'Just A Beauty'

BY GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams County Correspondent
SHIPPENSBURG — Just as the name implies, Justa-Beauty Holsteins, Creedin and Steve Cornman, Carlisle, led out a beauty to capture the grand champion rosette at the 1986 South-Central District Holstein Show held July 24, in conjunction with the Shippensburg Community Fair. Judge Paul King, Delta, cited Cornman's winner from the aged cow class, Justa-Beauty Trixie Roxy EX-92-2E, as the cow showing the most frame and dairy character and having the most capacity of udder among the cow class winners.

"Roxy" is home-bred on both sides of her pedigree and traces back to the "Trixie" cow, a herd foundation animal Cornman purchased in 1959. Her best record is over 18,000 pounds of milk.

Home-bred is the byword of the Cornman herd, and their showstring netted them enough points to be named premier breeder of the show. They tied with Penn Gate Farm, Littlestown, for the premier exhibitor's banner.

Haven Elevation Beatnik and out of a Molly Chief dam, she was also named best uddered cow of the show and grand champion of the 4-H division. "Mellisse" is scored VG-87 and has records to the 20,000 pound mark.

Penn Gate Farm, Robert and Christine Gitt, Littlestown, picked up all the marbles in the junior champion competition. Their senior calf, Penn Gate Columbus Patty, was pinned junior champion, while their senior yearling, Penn Gate Columbus Dutchess followed as the reserve junior champion. Both heifers are sired by Leadfield Columbus. These two heifers coupled with Penn Gate's winning Junior Calf also won the junior best three females class.

The remaining champions for the evening included Mike Smith, Shippensburg with the grand champion in FFA and Tim Smith, Shippensburg, with the reserve grand champion in FFA. The reserve grand champion in 4-H was shown by Debbie Hall, Shippensburg.

Individual Class Winners were:

'Lily' Retains Title In District II Jersey Show

BY GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Adams County Correspondent
SHIPPENSBURG — It was the biggest and best Jersey show held here yet. That was the general consensus among the Jersey Show exhibitors at the District II Jersey Show held July 22 in conjunction with the Shippensburg Community Fair. There were 142 cataloged entries representing a dozen different farms. Dale Olver, Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, served as the judge. He continually commented on the depth of quality in all of the classes.

Capturing the grand champion title as well as the champion rosette in the 4-H division was GR TK Saint Lily, shown by Jerome Hardy, Petersburg. Lily won these same two awards at last year's show. Scored VG 88 as a three-year-old, she produced over 12,000 pounds of milk as a senior two-year-old in 305 days. She was bred by Thomas Colpetzer, Salem, Ohio. Lily was also designated Best Uddered Cow of the Show.

Following in the reserve grand champion slot was Mar-De BMR Crystal, shown by Mar-De Farm, Newburg. This senior two-year-old, sired by Belles Merry Rudolph, is a daughter of Faithful Advancers Collen, a perennial champion at this show in previous years.

The junior champion of the show came from the largest class of the day, the junior yearling class. Serandan of Commonwealth, shown by Commonwealth Jerseys, Lemasters, received the honor over the first-place senior calf, shown by Linda Rock, Landisburg, who picked up the reserve junior champion award. Olver granted the yearling, sired by Soldier Boy, strength of topline and style on the move over the younger heifer.

In the youth division Jerome Hardy had the grand champion in FFA and his sister Janice exhibited the grand champion in 4-H. James Heeter, Shade Gap, showed the reserve FFA champion, and Denise Martin, Chambersburg, had the reserve 4-H champion.

Individual Class winners were:

Meadow Voles Damage Gardens, Orchards

NEWARK, Del. — The meadow vole—a compact little rodent that resembles a furry cigar—is no newcomer to Delaware gardens and orchards. But it's currently enjoying a population explosion that has made it much more noticeable. Reports have been coming into county extension offices from all over the state that the little fellows are hungry this year. This is bad news, says Delaware State College extension agent Glenn Layton, for they can be very destructive to ornamental plantings, including annual and perennial flowers, turf, shrubs and small trees.

The vole (also called the meadow mouse and sometimes confused with the field mouse) has a stocky body, short legs, and stubby tail, small eyes, and ears that are partially hidden. Usually brown or gray, its dense undercoat is covered with longer guard hairs.

An extensive runway system through surface debris and vegetation is the most obvious sign of a vole infestation, Layton says. The system has numerous openings and nearby vegetation may be clipped close to the ground. There may be feces and scraps of vegetation in well-traveled runways. They also dig shallow underground tunnels that can damage plants.

Voles are active day and night year-round. Several adults and young may live in one tunnel system. Populations seem to peak every two or three years, Layton says, depending on food availability, climate, predators and other stress factors.

Voles damage plants both by their feeding habits and their tunnels, which can ruin turf as well as interfere with irrigation water patterns. They often girdle fruit and forest trees, causing damage to commercial stock. Their teeth marks are haphazard, leaving no particular pattern on the bark or inner portion of plants chewed. Voles feed on bark year-round, but are particularly destructive to trees in fall and winter.

In late summer and fall voles also store seeds, tubers, bulbs and rhizomes for winter feeding. This is when you may find them trying to pull flowers or vegetables into their holes, or gnawing their way through late-season beets or turnips.

To prevent vole damage, the county agent suggests using hardware cloth as a barrier around young trees. Since voles are excellent diggers, place the bottom of the wire 6 inches below the soil surface. To discourage them further, clear away dense vegetation or litter piles in the garden so the little rodents can't use them for food and cover.

Snap-type mouse traps may help eliminate small vole infestations. Bait traps with peanut butter and oatmeal, or apple slices, and place them with the bait side in the runway. Layton says pelleted baits such as Rodenticide AG or Mole or Mouse Knots that contain zinc phosphide or strychnine can be effective against voles when strategically placed. Repeated uses of anti-coagulant baits such as Havoc or de-Con can also be effective.

Annville, captured the top spots in the Guernsey competition. Lebanon Valley Star Veri, a 4-year-old cow, stood in the grand champion position and Lebanon Valley Star Elsie, a dry 3-year-old cow, stepped into the reserve position.

The grand championship of the Jersey competition belonged to Blue Mountain Jerseys of Fredricksburg. Echo Hills Francis Naomi Pancake, a 5-year-old sired by Echo Hills Frederick Francis, topped the Jersey show. Ellen Hanson, Palmyra, took the reserve grand championship with a daughter of Sunset Ridge Pompeys Pioneer.

HOW TO MILK A KUBOTA.

A Kubota tractor can do a whole herd of chores on a dairy farm.

Out in the hayfield, it can plow, till, mow and bale. Apply fertilizer or pesticide. Help repair an old fence.

Back in the barnyard, it can haul feed from the silo to the trough at mealtime. Then clean out the corrals.

In fact, it can do almost everything except milk the cows. Because it's loaded with hardworking features.

Some come standard. A liquid-cooled diesel engine. A bevel gear system on every 4WD tractor. Plus a neatly designed operator platform.

Or choose a model with more advanced features. For example, a 5-cylinder direct injection diesel engine. It's fuel-efficient. It runs more smoothly than a 4-cylinder engine. And more quietly. That can help reduce both operator fatigue and noise-related stress on the cows.

Of course, any Kubota tractor works hardest with implements also designed and built by Kubota. The quick-attach front loader on the L4150DT you see here is a perfect example.

A Kubota dealer can show you all of our tractors. You have more than 15 different choices from 23.5 hp to 85 PTO hp. One should be just about custom-made for your needs.

So start imagining all the chores a Kubota could do around your place. There's really only one thing it won't do. Head for the barn before the work is done.

Nothing like it on earth.

Bender Named Premier Breeder and Exhibitor

BY MARGIE FUSCO

Cambria Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE — The first evening Holstein Show in Somerset County drew more than 175 entries and a large crowd. They watched as Ezra and Mary Yoder's cow, Ray-Anthony Chantilli Rose, took grand champion honors in the senior division as well as the senior champion rosette, and blue ribbon for best cow age six years and over.

The 7-year-old cow was sired by Straight-Pine Elevation Pete out of Cass-Ridge Mark Esther. She was bred by Ray E. Anthony.

Junior division grand champion as well as reserve grand champion of the senior division was Marteeny Tony Corry, owned by Karen Marteeny. The 2-year-old cow is a Marshfield Elevation Tony daughter with Berkline Betty Chief Cola as her dam. She was bred by William and Connie Marteeny.

Reserve grand champion in the junior division went to Paul Carr's Carrdale Pete Little Jo. The 5-year-old was sired by Straight-Pine Elevation Pete with Carrdale Triple Threat Joy as her dam. The cow was bred by Gerald and Patricia Carr.

Paul Carr was also named Premier Breeder and Exhibitor in the junior division. Senior division honors for Premier Breeder and Exhibitor went to Oren Bender.

The show, sponsored by the Somerset County Holstein Club, was judged by Jake Emig of Shippensburg. A professional hoof trimmer and cattle showman, Emig helped to develop eight all-Americans when he worked with the show herd at Allen Dairy Farm.

Trophies and plaques were presented in 33 categories, all backed by local sponsors. Missy Walker, Somerset County Dairy Princess, was on hand to present the awards and ribbons.

Results of the show are as follows:

Milk Order Decision Amended

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued an interim final decision amending the location adjustment provisions in the Greater Kansas City, Southwest Plains, Central Arkansas and Texas milk marketing orders. The proposed amendments would modify the plant location adjustment provisions under the four orders to conform with higher Class I price differentials mandated by the Food Security Act of 1985.

The revised location adjustments reflect a north-to-south price surface that increases generally at a rate of three cents per hundredweight for each 10 miles from a plant. Currently, the orders provide for adjustments of 1.5 cents per 10 miles. The changes will provide additional price incentives to ship milk from production areas to city markets.

USDA will conduct a poll of the affected cooperative associations to determine their approval of the amendments. In order to become effective, at least two-thirds of the producers in each market must approve the proposed amended orders.

Patience Creates Picture Perfect Cows In A Snap

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS

Berks County Correspondent

HAMBURG — "It's a marketing tool," states Mark Jensen, professional agricultural photographer concerning photographs of dairy cattle. "Breeder's should have in mind in-depth pictures of strong cow families," he says. Jensen recommends a combination of pictures over several generations. "Then you have something to show the bull stud," he concludes.

Jensen, a professional photographer for almost 14 years, hails from New Hampshire. Recently, he was in Berks County where he was working at his specialty, dairy cattle photography, at several area farms.

A graduate of Ohio State University, Jensen brings to his profession a wealth of experience in working with and developing an eye for well-bred dairy animals. He was originally from Massachusetts where a neighbor's dairy farm attracted him to dairy cattle as he was growing up.

He began his college career at the University of Massachusetts and later transferred to Ohio State where he majored in animal science. After graduation, he worked for the Central Ohio Breeding Association and worked his way up to district manager in seven years. Several years were also spent teaching vocational agriculture in school.

Always interested in photography, Jensen saw a need for an agricultural photographer in the New England area and after working for another photographer for a very short time, knew that a career change was in order.

Moving back to the New England area, Jensen has been very successful and in much demand for his photography skills. Although he describes himself as a commercial agricultural photographer, 80 percent of his business is dairy cattle. "My business is a bit different," he says. He does some work in the poultry industry, for equipment manufacturers, and also for horse people.

"You have to have a lot of patience with this," Jensen goes on to say, and also adds that an extensive knowledge of judging dairy cattle is a must.

He encourages breeders to prepare for the photography session well in advance of his arrival on the farm. "The quality of the photographs depends on how much the owner has prepared the animal," he maintains.

"The big thing is to get the animal used to the halter," he stresses. The photographer then works at positioning the animal to the exact position where she will look her best in the picture. The efforts can be frustrating, but Jensen, as all good photographers, has an eye for what he wants and the patience to get it.

Jensen gave the following guidelines for preparation for a photographic session: 1. Clean and wash the animal; 2. Clip the animal, as for a show; and 3. Get the animal used to a show halter and train her to be led and held.

On the day of the pictures, he recommends five people to be on hand to assist in positioning the cow.

A person accustomed to leading and controlling the animal should be at the halter. A person is also needed at the tail to kneel on the ground and use a fish line attached to the tail and a bar to control the tail and keep it from swishing at the wrong time. One person is also needed on either side of the animal to position feet and steady her after she is set. The fifth person is needed in front of the cow, making the noises to attract the cow's attention and get her ears up for the camera. "It takes a very uninhibited person out in front of the cow," Jensen remarks.

Often this job turns out to be a big challenge. The "moover" or noisemaker, must wave a burlap or black plastic bag, jump around, moo like a calf or a bull, and attract the cow's attention on command, often in a split second when the photographer has the animal just the way he wants her, and everyone backs away in time. Sometimes a calf is needed to be pulled around by the "moover" to get the cow's attention properly.

A wrong noise, a miscalculation, and the picture is lost when the animal jumps and must be repositioned all over again for another try.

For the person holding the cow, a stiff shoulder, and aching arms are often the result of hours of trying to get good pictures. Jensen repeats, "a lot of patience is needed," and he also adds, "a little bit of work makes a whole world of difference," referring to advance preparation and training of the animal. He also states that if the dairyman is able to recruit some friends that have helped take pictures before, the session runs smoother.

Jensen enjoys working with Jersey cattle and visits many Jersey dairies in the New England area. Most likely because of their size and disposition, he finds that this breed is one of the easiest to work with in a session. Guernseys, he adds, are also nice to work with.

Taking many Holstein pictures and visiting many of the well known Holstein dairies, Jensen finds that the larger Holsteins can be a challenge to pose. Some of the bloodlines develop high strung individuals who are extremely hard to maintain control of and snap a picture at the right time. But, often, this type of picture turns out very well since the animal is extremely alert and looking sharp, according to his photographer. Again, Jensen advises having a "workable animal."

The tail must be held straight with fishline. A helper behind the cow can then hold the tail still without interfering with the photo.

Helene Dreisbach fills the role of the "moover" by waving a bag and making noise to attract the cow's attention and get her ears forward. Carol Dreisbach on the halter attempts to keep the cow from moving her head up.

Jensen recommends trying to get a picture of a valuable animal in the best part of her lactation. The udder should be free of swelling, full, and the cow should be in top condition. Pictures of 2-year-olds and then pictures of the same cow as a mature individual can be a valuable marketing aid. He encourages breeders to use photographic services in advertising and marketing their valuable dairy animals.

"A picture is worth a thousand words," is a well known idiom. With valuable, well-bred, fancy dairy cattle, a good photograph, or a series of photographs over generations of a cow family can make a breeder's goals become reality.

As one breeder explained before a picture session — when a color picture of their best cow appeared in the breed journal it made all the difference. Everyone noticed the cow and her offspring were in demand.

Five people are needed to position and alert the cow for a good picture. Helping to position the cow are: Connie Troutman at the halter; Dolly Spatz at the tail; Mary Jo Brown on the front side; and Matt James on the back side. Mark Jensen works on the tailhead.

Before positioning the cow, Jensen combs the hair up on the back of the cow to create a straight appearing topline.

MacCauleys Sweep Chester Co. Market Lamb Show

BY JACK HUBLEY
WEST CHESTER — It seems that the Chester County 4-H Market Lamb Show usually comes down to a family feud between members of Atglen's MacCauley family. Although owners Joan and Bill MacCauley don't have any problem producing Suffolk lambs that will top the market show, just which one of the sisters will take top honors is hard to predict.

It was only fitting, though, that older sister Nancy would show the grand champion in this year's event, held at the Goshen Fair on Monday. A junior at Lancaster General Hospital's School of Nursing, this is Nancy's final year of 4-H competition.

The winning lamb was a 128-pound wether out of MacCauley's Nightrider ram, a previous Farm Show Suffolk champion.

This was the second year that Nancy managed to unseat younger sister, Donna, who maintained a five-year winning streaking from 1980 to '84. Show judge Robert Leib of Mechanicsburg singled out the grade Suffolk lamb shown by Donna for reserve honors. Donna's 118-pound wether was also sired by Nightrider.

Bidding was spirited at Wednesday night's 4-H lamb sale, with prices staying above $1.10 throughout the sale. Gerry Williams, representing Brandywine Savings and Loan of Downingtown, set a new sale record when he offered the final bid of $3.65 per pound for the grand champion. Williams then donated the lamb back to the club, and it was resold for $1.55. Three additional lambs crossed the auction block twice by sale's end.

Nancy MacCauley had Chester County's champion 4-H market lamb. Lamb sold to Gerry Williams, of Brandywine Savings and Loan for a record $3.65 a pound.

Once again this year, the sale's most enthusiastic buyer was C. Aquilante, owner of Aquilante's Market, Berwyn.

Although he himself was never involved in the 4-H program, Aquilante has been buying project lambs for the past 20 years.

"There's nothing like helping the kid's," the grandfather of 30 confides. "These kids send me a note, and it gives me joy to receive them." The veteran 4-H supporter took home eight lambs this year.

The sale average was $1.39, not counting champions. A total of 2,131 pounds of lamb crossed the block, earning 4-H'ers $3,255.

Nikoloff Tells Seedmen Outside Influences Cause Many Of Our Farm Problems

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

HARRISBURG — According to John Nikoloff, executive assistant to Pennsylvania's secretary of agriculture, we have a situation where especially in the last 15 years the greatest influences in agriculture have not originated in the ag sector of the economy. Speaking last week at the Pennsylvania Seedmen's Association summer meeting in the state ag building, Nikoloff likened the ag economy to a roller coaster going 90 miles an hour—over the speed limit.

"In 1969 to '70 fed. policy decided we were going to double our money supply," he said. "And of course farm prices more than doubled at that time. Things were looking good and farmers took the opportunity to buy land. Unfortunately a lot of farmers leveraged according to the high-rolling land values. Then about 1975 the federal government decided to bring the economy back into the speed limit so they slammed on the brakes. And a lot of farmers hit the windshield. Some of them still haven't recovered. And a lot of them have gone out of business."

"Five years later we started changing the system again. Interest rates went up. Deficits started growing. And farm investors took advantage of this situation. But soon the value of the dollar increased abroad. And subsequently farm products became harder to export. We had increased farm production costs. Decreased selling prices. And land prices started dropping while surpluses started piling up. The results of this new situation can be seen on the news every night," Nikoloff said.

"I can't think of another business that is getting as much coverage from the national press as agriculture. Of course, we should understand that while Pennsylvania has many of the same farm problems as the midwest, we also have many advantages. We are very diversified on smaller farms. Our farm prices didn't take quite the roller coaster rides on milk, meat and vegetables as the grain prices. In addition, the urban sprawl has kept land prices from taking the huge drop as in many other areas. And of course our farmers are just naturally more financially conservative. Our farmers have not extended themselves as much as midwest farmers have done. The farm credit situation that you hear so much about in the western states is not really evident in Pennsylvania. Farm credit is not all that bad a situation. The major farm credit lenders don't have a crisis in Pennsylvania. We don't have a serious foreclosure problem. We are going to lose some farms but that's not new."

"Over the last 50 years we've been losing 50 percent of our dairy farms in Pennsylvania every 20 years. So we expect to lose farms. Twenty-five years ago we had 106,000 farms. Today we have about 53,000. So we've lost half our farms in the last 25 years. But our production has more than doubled. And our farm cash income has gone up more than four times," Nikoloff said. "So something is still going right. We are the largest non-irrigated ag state in production and food processing. We have more than a dozen food categories where Pennsylvania ranks as the leading state. And while we see the number of farms decreasing yet the amount of cropland being farmed is increasing. In addition, we are increasing our share of the markets in the northeast. And to show our growing self-sufficiency we became a grain surplus state in 1984 and 1985 for the first time in our history."

"Agriculture supports 1,900 related farm business and supply companies with 12,000 employees. In addition, 3,000 manufacturing firms with 300,000 employees support agriculture. Two thousand five hundred wholesale businesses and 30,000 retail establishments make up the ag-related economy. So you can see how important ag is. And we can't increase or maintain our position in production agriculture without these support business," Nikoloff said.

One of the very interesting points that Nikoloff made was to show that in Pennsylvania where the most urban pressure exists we have had the most growth in agriculture. This is especially true in the southeastern part of the state. It's also the area where we have the strongest support businesses and the strongest financial institutions that take an interest in ag lending.

Nikoloff concluded that over one million people have jobs in ag and related industries. That's 21 percent of the state work force. So obviously maintaining a healthy agriculture is a top priority of the state.

DuPont Donates Cows To University of Delaware Herds

NEWARK, Del. — Six cows — three Jerseys and three Black Angus — were donated recently to the University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station by Richard S. duPont and his brother William K. duPont.

The Jerseys have been added to the university's Newark-based dairy herd, which is being used to conduct research on dairy production practices in an urban environment. According to extension dairy specialist Dr. George Haenlein, this breed is especially welcome because its rich milk will help raise protein and total solids levels of tank milk from the herd, which is predominantly Holstein cows whose milk normally tests lower. The higher the protein and solids, the higher the price received.

"We already have several Jerseys for the same purpose, but they've dropped more bull calves than heifers lately," he explains, "so we can use a few more. In dairy herds in some parts of the country, up to 10 percent of the cows are Jerseys."

The Black Angus cows have been added to the university beef herd, which is used primarily for teaching purposes.

"The university has a long history of cooperation with area residents who have given both dairy and beef cattle," Haenlein says.

"For many years, we had a bull exchange with Colonel Henry Francis duPont's famous Wintertur Holstein herd. In 1960, Harold Shutt, Sr., of Chadds Ford, Pa., donated his Guernsey herd. And in the early 1970s, Hallock duPont gave us the Black Angus herd which established the livestock teaching program in the College of Agricultural Sciences."

In addition, Haenlein says, over the years several individual cows have been donated to the university dairy herd, and two of the Experiment Station's dairy barns were built with farmer donations.

University of Delaware assistant herdsman Joe Maloney with two of six cows -- three Jerseys and three Black Angus -- donated to the university's Agricultural Experiment Station herds by Richard S. and William K. duPont.

Production Increases Slowing

UNIVERSITY PARK — June provided good news and bad news concerning nation milk production figures released by the USDA. The bad news is that production is still rising inspite of the Dairy Termination Program. The good news is that the rate of increase has slowed to 1.5 percent over the same period last year.

May 1986 figures were up 2.7 percent over May 1985 figures. Milk prices also dropped at a slower rate, 20 cents in Federal Order 4 from June 1985, compared to a 60 cent drop in May 1985 to May 1986. Cull cows prices remained at nearly the same level.

Pennsylvania recorded a total cow population of 732,000 in June 1986, down .5 percent from the June 1985 figure of 736,000. In May 1986 there were 730,000 cows in the State. Nationwide cow numbers dropped 1.3 percent as the impact of the DTP becomes more noticeable. This is further evidenced by the one month drop of 42,000 cows in cow numbers from May 1986 to June 1986 throughout the nation.

To account for the drop in cow numbers and increase in total milk production, production per cow rose 2.1 percent from June 1985 statistics of 1,175 pounds per cow to June 1986 statistics of 1,200 pounds per cow in Pennsylvania. This figure also dropped 50 pounds from the May 1986 level of 1,250 pounds.

On the national level, production per cow for June 1986 increased at a higher rate of 2.9 percent from June 1985. Production per cow averaged 1,182 in June 1986 in the United States.

Total milk production for the nation was 10.7 billion pounds, up from the June 1985 level of 11.1 billion pounds by 1.5 percent. Total milk production in Pennsylvania in June 1986 peaked at 878 million pounds, also up 1.5 percent from the June 1985 level of 865 million pounds. However, this number is down from the May 1986 total of 913 million pounds of milk.

Production in the southeast region of the United States is expected to be reduced in response to dry weather which has severely limited crops and feed, forced early culling due to the lack of feed, and caused heat stressed drop in production. This situation could cause decreases in addition to those being incurred as a result of the DTP, according to Jack Kirkland, dairy marketing specialist at PennState.

Blend milk prices were down slightly in all three Federal Orders found in Pennsylvania.

Last year in Federal Order 2, farmers received $11.47 per hundredweight compared to $11.27 this year before any assessments. This price is up an encouraging two cents from the May 1986 price of $11.25.

Federal Order 4 blend price per hundredweight in June 1985 was $12.47. In June 1986 the price dropped to $12.27, which is also down one cent from the May 1986 price of $12.28. Federal Order 4 Class 1 utilization increased, which means that more milk is going for the higher Class 1 price.

The biggest drop in price came in Federal Order 36 with a 44 cent drop in blend price. In June 1985, producers in the western part of Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio were paid $11.82 per hundredweight while in June 1986 the price per hundredweight was $12.26.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin price rebounded in June 1986 with a two cent rise over the May 1986 price. This forced the price of butter and cheese up 4.25 cents from the middle of June to the middle of July, an indication that the summer milk market is tightening.

When butter prices rise, the CCC begins to sell surplus products back to the dairies, primarily in the Mid-West, and it reduces surplus purchases.

This price change is interpreted as good news for the dairy farmers, according to Kirkland. CCC purchases are down 47 percent from the middle of July 1985 to the middle of July 1986.

"As more cows are sold, it will help the market prices even more by aiding in further reducing CCC purchases," Kirkland commented. However, some farmers are continuing to add cow which could reduce the current, beneficial trend.

Farmers are increasing their herd sizes for one of two reasons, Kirkland speculated. One reason is to maintain or increase cash flow to maintain a standard of living comparably to what they are used to. However, the farmer must be aware of the limitations to expansion.

Expansion limitations include out growing out of or overcrowding present facilities. There are also pressures to maintain feed supplies.

A second possible reason a farmer may increase the number of cows he is milking is to raise his base level in anticipation of a quota system. Kirkland explained that the quota system will never be instituted with the present administration.

Cull cow prices dropped 1 cent from last year's price, which indicates the USDA's success in regulating the DTP by preventing a large negative impact on the beef industry.

Penn State Assistant Ag Dean Retires

UNIVERSITY PARK — Dr. Robert F. Hutton, Penn State's assistant dean in agriculture and assistant director of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station, retired July 14 with emeritus status. He has been with the University for 32 years.

The Agricultural Experiment Station, the research arm of the College of Agriculture, oversees all research in the college, and also funds research projects in the Colleges of Science and Human Development.

Dr. Hutton, who was named to his current position in 1967 partly because of his expertise with computer systems, applied computer management control procedures to budgeting and reporting systems in agricultural research administration.

Between 1979 and 1982, Dr. Hutton served as interim associate dean for research in the College of Agriculture. Before moving to the Experiment Station, he was a professor in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Dr. Hutton received the master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Harvard University in economics.

USDA Buyout Report

WASHINGTON, D.C. — An estimated 26,200 head of dairy cattle were slaughtered in federally inspected plants during the week ending July 5, as a result of the Dairy Termination Program, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced Wednesday.

This total includes all cows, heifers and calves identified as dairy animals designated for disposition in compliance with the program requirements.

The cumulative total of cattle slaughtered under the program from April 1 through July 12 is an estimated 567,900 head.

The purchases of meat in addition to normal purchases are to help offset the effects of the DTP on the domestic meat market. These purchases, which totaled 20.4 million pounds during the week ending July 26, consisted of 20.2 million pounds frozen beef carcasses and 120,000 pounds of frozen boneless roasts. The cumulative purchases total 219.5 million pounds.

Dairy cattle reported for export under the program for the period April 1 to July 26 totaled an estimated 20,408 head. Live cattle exported under the program are expected to increase as countries develop tenders participate in the export enhancement program. Live cattle exports are in addition to meat purchase requirements.

Couples Named To Conference Leadership Positions

DANVILLE — Five Pennsylvania couples were named to leadership positions for the 1987 PAFC Couples Conference at the 13th annual conference held here this month.

David and Barbara Kehr, Littlestown, were selected from the pool of four 1986 region leaders to serve as conference hosts and chair for the 1987 conference, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives.

PAFC Region Leaders for 1987 include the following: Northern Region, Dan and Laureen Naylor, sponsored by Northeastern Farm Credit; South Central Region, Alan and Kendra Meyers, Greencastle, sponsored by Dairymen, Inc.; Southeast Region, Ralph and Crystal Moyer, Myerstown, sponsored by Sire Power; and Western Region, Henry and Cyndy

Cass, Wattsburg, sponsored by MMI.

The annual conference focuses on agricultural cooperatives and today's economic climate as well as how cooperative function. It is only one of several educational efforts sponsored by the trade association.

Region couples named for 1987 include (left to right), Alan and Kendra Meyers; Dan and Laureen Naylor; Ralph and Crystal Moyer; and Henry and Cyndy Cass.

Give house plants a little special attention before you leave. However, if you plan to be gone for more than two weeks, ask a friend or neighbor to water the plants for you.

Soak your house plants thoroughly the night before you leave the put them in plastic bags just before departing. Tuck the bag under the pots so the plants are completely covered.

Try to keep the leaves from touching the plastic. A few sticks or wire stuck into the soil will support the plastic.

Never put plastic covered plants in the sun. They would bake to death. However, be sure they get plenty of light. Don't be alarmed if there are a few yellow leaves on the plants when you return. With normal care they should soon recover.

Moser Receives Largest Equity Check

BARTO — Eastern Milk Producers recently presented its largest-ever equity check to retiring dairy farmer Harold Moser of Barto.

The $5,666 check represented all of the money Moser contributed to Eastern's equity while he was a member of the 4,000-member dairy cooperative.

"Eastern's policy of redeeming regular equity upon a member leaving dairy farming is one of the most liberal programs available because Eastern refunds the entire equity in one lump sum," said Dan Fox, an Eastern director from Ephrata, Pa., who presented the check to Moser.

Also on hand for the presentation was Tony DiFava, an Eastern quality control inspector who has been servicing the Moser farm since 1972.

"In all the years this man has shipped to Eastern, he never had a high bacteria count or a high somatic cell count," DiFava said. "That in itself is an accomplishment."

Moser's son, Harold Jr., took over the operation of the farm, which, DiFava noted, is one of four Moser family farms in the immediate area that ship a total of 28,500 pounds of milk to Eastern every other day.

Retiring dairy farmer Harold Moser, center, of Barto, Pa., receives a $5,666 equity check from Dan Fox on behalf of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative. Looking on is Tony DiFava, an Eastern quality control inspector.

Her dam, classified at 89 points, has a top record of 14,410 pounds of milk and 732 pounds of fat.

The YANKEE KETTLE SALE, held in conjunction with the Yankee Syndicate Sale, averaged $708 on six bred heifers.

Topping the sale at a price of $1,150 was a daughter of Yankee F.W. Panther. She is due in September with a Yankee F.W. Chief daughter. Her maternal sister classified at 89 points and has two records over 13,000 pounds of milk. The dam classified at 91 points.

Larry Benson auctioneered the sales and the Yankee Syndicate managed the sales.

HOLSTEIN

The ROCKY MOUNTAIN RENDEZVOUS Sale, held in Colorado, averaged $2,300 on 53 head. A Valiant daughter topped the sale with a price of $10,000. This 4-year-old is classified at 86 points and has a cow index of plus 1,106 milk and plus 38 fat. She sold fresh and open with an A.I. contract to ABS. Her dam, an Elevation daughter, had a top record of 35,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of fat.

Garnering the second high price of $6,000 was a Marshfield Elevation Tony daughter. Classified VG-88, this 3-year-old has records up to 20,000 pounds of milk and was the 1985 All-Nebraska 2-year-old.

Coming in third in the bidding with a price of $5,700 was a VG-87 Marshfield Elevation Tony daughter. Last year, as a 2-year-old, she produced 24,920 pounds of milk and 980 pounds of fat.

Jim Ellis auctioneered the sale and the Colorado Holstein Association managed the sale.

The BOULDER VALLEY HOLSTEINS YOUNG MILKING HERD DISPERSAL, held in Colorado, averaged $2,586 on 162 head. Topping the sale, with a price of $18,000, was a 5-year-old daughter of Lime Hollow Elevation Mars. She is a fourth generation Excellent out of an Arlinda Chief daughter.

As a 3-year-old, in 365 days, the top seller produced a high record of 26,950 pounds of milk and 1,041 pounds of fat. She sold with a embryo guarantee of six transplants over a period of 24 months.

Second in the bidding, with a price of $17,500 was a Lime Hollow Elevation Mars 4-year-old. She is a third generation Excellent and is presently at 92 points. As a 2-year-old, she produced a top record of 17,770 pounds of milk with a 4.3 percent test.

Third high selling animal, with a price of $9,500, was a 3-year-old daughter of Lime Hollow Mars. She sold dry and is due in August with a Tri-Day Valiant Gold calf. Her dam is classified EX-95 and her granddam is classified EX-93.

Jim Ellis and Gary Massey were the auctioneers and Dave Bachman read the pedigrees.

The SOUTHERN INVITATIONAL, held in Georgia, averaged $2,449 on 90 head.

A male embryo, due in February

1987, topped the sale with a price of $15,500. The sire is Walkway Chief Mark and the dam is Rilar Mars Lass Ravena, EX-91. She has a high record of 32,819 pounds of milk and 1,509 pounds of fat for a 4.6 test.

Second in the bidding, with a price of $8,200, was a 4-year-old Bell daughter. She sold with a pregnancy package of two pregnancies by Valiant Don and two pregnancies by Rotate. She is projected at over 30,000 pounds of milk for her current lactation. Her dam, an EX-90 Elevation daughter, has a top record of 24,010 pounds of milk and 856 pounds of fat.

Rounding out the top three placings was a full sister to the top seller. She is also due in February 1987.

Ervin and Melvin Yoder were the auctioneers and the Georgia Holstein Association and Ernest Turk were the sale managers.

The Dairy Business

By Newton Bair

Can longevity be bred for?

Since we only pass this way once, a long lifetime spent on this earth always seems to be desirable for humans. Likewise, dairy breeders take pride and pleasure in an animal that lives a long and productive life.

What limits the life span of a cow in the milking herd? It surely is not what we associate with the human life span. We humans are usually allowed to live out our years until we die of "natural causes," including old age. Not many cows are allowed the privilege of living their full potential life span.

If you think about it, even our best breeding animals must prove themselves worthy of continuation in the herd almost daily, or out they go. A perfectly healthy cow, with no life-threatening malady, might become worthless in the dairy barn for some other reason.

As a breeder, she must get bred. No matter how good her genetic backing, or the popularity of her sire and dam, she must ultimately make acceptable production records. And even if she has a calf, and is milking her heart out, she must survive all of the hazards of the barn and feedlot and stanchion.

After all this, a cow must either escape the inevitable bout with mastitis or survive the treatment. To say nothing of the dozens of other maladies that can do her in or reduce her usefulness as a breeder. This might even include a nice, even temperament and lovable personality. Cows have been known to get the axe for some trait that has nothing to do with production or long life!

So what actually constitutes longevity in a cow?

I doubt that it is the same thing that we associate with a long life in humans.

Your grandpa and father might live to be ninety years old, and that usually portends a long life for you, regardless of how productive you are, or how much money you make. You do inherit your years from ancestors, aside from the hazards of modern living. So, in a way, humans might be bred for longevity as predicted by our ancestral life spans.

Surely there are inheritable traits that contribute to the life span of a cow. Just as in humans, there is some degree of resistance or susceptibility to diseases that could shorten the usefulness of a breeder.

They are extremely hard to define, and much research and observation must be done before the knowledge can be used in breeding.

Meanwhile, breeding for longevity alone might be mostly a myth. When you realize how many cows leave the herd for other reasons, it makes more sense to consider those reasons that have kept her useful, than to the number of years she spends in the herd.

USDA Begins Dairy Indemnity Payments

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The first of a series of periodic dairy indemnity payments to dairy producers whose milk was removed from the market because their herds were contaminated by the pesticide heptachlor began in July said Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng.

"The supplemental appropriations legislation signed into law by President Reagan July 2 included $8 million earmarked for these indemnity payments," Lyng said.

Heptachlor-contaminated feed sold to some dairy producers in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri resulted in the contamination of milk. This milk was removed from the market by public regulatory agencies. "The maximum permitted level of heptachlor in milk is 0.1 parts per million. Some of the milk from the three States had over 10 parts per million," Lyng said.

In mid-March Lyng dispatched an emergency dairy contamination task force to conduct an on-the-spot assessment of the situation in the affected area. Based on the task force's findings on milk production losses and the number of dairy cows under quarantine, a request was made to Congress for funds to cover indemnification payments for milk and dairy products that had to be dumped.

"Dairy herds fell into three categories," Lyng said. "Some producers were quarantined and not allowed to market their milk for a brief period until it was determined that the milk from the herd was not contaminated. Some with low levels of contamination were quarantined for a longer period and then were allowed to resume marketing of milk after the level of contamination was reduced to an acceptable level. Others, more seriously contaminated, are still not permitted to market their milk.

It can take anywhere from a few weeks to as long as a year or more before a dairy herd is removed from quarantine, depending on the initial level of contamination."

Payments to dairy producers cover losses for the amount of milk that is required to be dumped. Indemnity payments to dairy processors are for the market value of milk and milk products destroyed, minus any salvage value.

PSU Receives Tobacco Grant

LANDISVILLE — R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. presented Pennsylvania State University with grants totaling $9,500.

A research grant was provided to support studies by Dr. John Reynolds will find a $1,000 scholarship for Excellence in Agriculture at the university.

Dr. Charles D. Sopher, senior R&D agronomist at Reynolds

Yocum on partial outside curing, tobacco breeding, and the effects of plant maturity on tobacco quality. An Extension grant was provided which will fund tobacco grower training and support for the Lancaster tobacco show. A grant was made to the dean of the College of Agriculture for use in the enhancement of agricultural programs within the college. When a 1986 recipient is selected, Tobacco, presented the checks for the grants to Dr. John Yocum at the Southeastern Field Research Laboratory.

Since 1979, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company has contributed $92,350 to tobacco research, extension, and education programs at Pennsylvania State University. Since 1962, Reynolds' contributions for similar programs at land-grant universities in tobacco producing states have totaled more than $8.4 million.

Lancaster County Records Flash Flood Damage

MOUNT JOY — Too much rain or too little rain has been a persistent problem in Pennsylvania this year. The northwest sections of the state records record rainfall while the southeast suffers a record drought.

Rainfall in inadequate proportions was magnified last Saturday in Lancaster County where the northern portion was hit with flash floods that were more severe than those that Hurricane Agnes deposited on the area. Up to eight inches of rain fell in the county according to the weather station at WGAL television station, Lancaster.

John Yocum at Penn State's Research Lab in Landisville reported over five inches fell at his post. The normal rainfall for July is 23.67 inches. With Saturday's storm, 26.5 inches of rain have fallen in July this year, Yocum said. Normal rainfall for July stands at 4.04 inches, with the weekend rain, 9.06 inches have fallen this July, he added.

While crop damage was limited at the Landisville lab, high winds, ranging up to 50 mph at the Lancaster Airport, hail and flooding caused some crop damage throughout the county, especially in low lying areas.

The farms of Mel Metzler and Harry Hershey suffered the most storm damage. Metzler, East Petersburg, lost 125 pigs when lightning ignited his two-story barn.

Harry and Joan Hershey, Mount Joy, lost their entire flock when flood waters collapsed their laying house.

Both farms were victims of a storm that dropped eight inches and lasted from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday. Harry Hershey explained that it was a very heavy electrical storm that didn't go away. At approximately 10 p.m. Saturday a siren, which goes off when something is wrong in the laying house, began sounding the alarm. Harry went out to investigate and check on the generator.

While he was in the egg room, the laying house collapsed. Rain water had risen over the 40 inch wall that the tri-deck, high-rise house set on. Without warning, the pressure of the water collapsed the foundation and the entire 44-by-500 building caved in. "It was a nightmare, I saw my whole life swept away in a matter of minutes," Hershey said.

The water rose swiftly which prevented any preparation. Joan Hershey explained that the flood came with such a force and volume in a concentrated area that preventative measures would have been difficult. A waterway did surround the building, but the volume of water was too much for it to handle.

This was the first time the area has ever flooded. There are no streams in the near vicinity and the ground surrounding the farm is relatively flat.

Following the collapse decisions had to be made promptly. By 4:30 a.m. Sunday morning crews to haul surviving chickens away were contacted as well as a crane operator to aid in removal of the roof trusses to get to the surviving birds.

Approximately one-third of the 54,000 birds that were in the house at the time of the cave in drowned. The first order of business on Sunday morning was to get out as many live birds as possible. To get to the birds the roof and then the roof trusses had to be removed.

The birds that survived the ordeal were sent off to be processed, tallying a total flock loss for the Hersheys.

The Hersheys only contacted family members about the disaster, however, over 150 friends, relative, church people, and fellow farmers showed up to help with the clean-up on Sunday. "It was a overwhelming, tremendous response," Joan said. "They were concerned people who wanted to help. Word-of-mouth started the process," she added.

Presently their main concern is clean-up. They are looking at many options and are leaning in the direction of rebuilding.

The storm which caused a large amount of damage throughout the county was termed worse than Hurricane Agnes because of the swiftness that the water level rose near marks set by Agnes in 1972. Saturday's storm was not coupled by any hurricanes, it was not uncommon either. According to Paul Knight, Penn State meteorologist, approximately six storms such as last Saturday's occur per year.

What happens during these storms is a slowing or stopping of strong upper level winds that normally push a thunderstorm along. The thunderstorm which normally dumps its rainload along a 20 to 30 mile route, rains the entire amount on one locality, Knight explains.

Last weekend that locality happened to be Lancaster County. He added that no area of Pennsylvania is prone to these storms, however, thunderstorms without strong upper level winds are common in the deep south. A similar storm deposited three inches on the parched Georgia soil earlier this week. No rain of any substantial amount is predicted for early next week.

Flood waters collapsed the foundation of the high-rise laying house owned by Harry and Joan Hershey. The roof of the 44-by-500 house was removed to get to surviving birds.

A crane was brought in to safely and quickly remove roof trusses. Following the removal of the trusses live birds were evacuated from the flattened laying house.

Thanks and Congratulations to MARTIN VAN NUYS & FAMILY of Belle Mead, N.J.

Groff Repeats Win In Lancaster FFA Market Hog Show

BY JACK HUBLEY

LANCASTER — After Wednesday's performance at the Lancaster County FFA Market Hog Show, Lampeter's Andy Groff would do well to hire out as the county's FFA swine consultant. After topping the hog show last year in his first year of FFA competition, Groff repeated the performance this week.

The son of John and Sue Groff campaigned his 240-pound gilt to the heavyweight championship before taking the grand champion title.

Thus far his winning formula appears to be a York-Duroc cross bred on the home farm. "It's a good combination," says the young swine producer, who learned how to evaluate show prospects from his father, who runs a 120-sow farrow-feeder pig operation. Both this year's and the 1985 champion may well have been out of the same boar, he says.

In choosing show pigs, like the 15 he'll be showing this year, Groff selects long pigs with "good muscling" and width across the back.

Judge Henry Gruber went with another Duroc cross for his reserve champion. The 240-pound gilt followed Groff's pig to the number-two slot after being named reserve heavyweight champion.

Gruber's choice was a surprise to 18-year-old Steve Heisey, the reserve champion's owner.

"I thought it would be just another average pig," Heisey admitted. A second "average" pig shown by Heisey was named champion of the mediumweight division. "That was a surprise, too," he said.

The son of J. Warren and Beverly Heisey of Elizabethtown, Steve bought his pig from Bainbridge swine breeder Larry Mullen. An FFA member for four years, this was Heisey's first reserve championship win in the county show.

In the sale that followed the morning show, Hatfield Packing topped the bidding for Groff's grand champion, offering a final bid of $4. Hatfield was also the sale's most active buyer, going home with 38 FFA hogs. Other volume buyers included Leidy Packing, Souderton, with 13 hogs; White Oak Mills, Elizabethtown, with 12 and Walter M. Dunlap and Sons, Lancaster, with 10.

The sale averaged 70 cents a pound, not including champions, and the 19,225 pounds of pork sold went for $14,504.

Championship Show Scheduled

STATE COLLEGE — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association Championship Show is set for Thursday, September 4, 1986 beginning at 9:30 a.m. The show will be the first major dairy show to be held at the Penn State Agricultural Arena in State College, Pa. The judge will be John Morris, well respected teacher and judge from Frederick, Md.

This year the Championship Show takes on added meaning as points accumulated at the State Spring Show, Regional Championship Show, and from this show will be tallied to select All-Pennsylvania Winners for 1986.

During the Championship Show, the Keystone Three-Year-Old Futurity banner will be awarded to the top animal entered in the Futurity in 1983. The winner of this class will also receive a cash award totaling one half of the entry fees paid into the futurity.

Holstein enthusiasts are invited to come to State College as exhibitors or as spectators. Entries for the show are due to the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College, PA 16801 by August 20, 1986.

Judging Contest At Holstein Championship Show

The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association will be sponsoring a Judging Contest in conjunction with the State Championship Show set for September 4, 1986 at the Agricultural Arena, State College, PA.

The contest is for Junior Holstein members from Pennsylvania. It will consist of teams made up of four members or individuals can participate. There will be two divisions, Juniors up to age 14 by January 1 and Seniors, age 15-21. There will be four classes to place, two heifer classes and two cow classes. The animals will be judged right along with the class during the show.

Teams can register by contacting the Pennsylvania Holstein Office, 839 Benner Pike, State College, PA 16801, 814-234-0364. The deadline for entering teams is August 29, 1986.

Rabies Clinics Scheduled In Lancaster Co.

MANHEIM — The Conestoga Veterinary Medical Association will sponsor 10 rabies clinics throughout Lancaster County on Saturday, August 16, from 1 to 3 p.m. Dogs and cats may be presented for vaccination against rabies.

Rabies is a viral disease spread through the saliva of a rabid animal. It is usually spread by the bite of that animal. There is no cure once the symptoms of the disease develop.

Rabies has not reached Lancaster County in epidemic proportions, but it is very prevalent in counties to the west. Thus far, the Susquehanna River has been the great geographical barrier.

A spokesman for the Association says, "We hope to vaccinate as many animals as possible. We cannot wait for an outbreak to put a vaccination program in motion."

The dogs and cats must be over three months of age and be in good health. The pets must be accompanied by an adult, and all dogs must be on a leash and all cats in a carrier. There will be a charge of $4 per animal.

The veterinarians will donate their time and vaccine, and any proceeds from the program will be donated to the Lancaster County Scholarship Fund.

The clinics will be held on Aug. 16, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. at the following locations.

New Holland- Fire House on East Main Street
Elizabethtown- Friendship Fire & Hose #1 at 171 N. Mount Joy Street
Manheim- Fire Hall on South Main Street
Lancaster- Boys' Club at 333 Dauphin Street

Field Day Cancelled Due To Drought

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Scratch next week's Maryland-Delaware forage field day from your calendar.

The annual event has been cancelled this year due to drought conditions. The field day was scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 6 at the University of Maryland's agronomy-dairy forage research farm near Clarksville in Howard County.

It is sponsored each year by the Cooperative Extension Service in Maryland and Delaware and the Maryland-Delaware Forage Council. Lester R. Vough, Extension agronomist at the University of Maryland in College Park, was this year's field day coordinator.

Dr. Vough reported that the field day was cancelled because of severely reduced plant growth in the research plots and because alfalfa in the fields was too short to conduct satisfactory equipment demonstrations.

Franklin L. Walbert, farm manager, noted that rain gauges at the research farm had recorded only 7.38 inches of rain from March 1 through July 18. This is less than half of the normal precipitation for the central Maryland location.

Topics to be discussed at the winter meetings include alternative forages, weed control in alfalfa, fertilizing for maximum economic yields, and increasing pasture productivity through grazing management.

Check with county Extension agricultural agents for more information.

tatives and farmers interviewed Secretary Lyng on the front lawn of the Hunsberger home.

Responding to a question about low interest loans, Lyng said it was sad when farmers need to go into more dept. But it's better to have an opportunity to carry on. "That is a terrible curse for farmers these days," Lyng said. "because the farm net income is not high enough to make it possible to pay off very much dept. I can recognize why farmers wouldn't want to go into more dept. But the loss has taken place and the farmer needs the opportunity to continue farming."

In a bit of a humorous question one media representative said that farmers tell us the federal government is very powerful. Is it powerfull enough to make it rain the media representative asked. "No," Lyng said, "I think that really shows how lacking in power we really are."

While at the media news conference on the York County farm, a copy of a letter was distributed that had been sent to Secretary Lyng from Pennsylvania Governor Richard Thornburgh. The letter said:

Southcentral Pennsylvania has experienced extremely dry weather conditions this summer, causing severe crop losses in the area. Almost 300,000 acres of cropland in York County alone have been affected. The State Emergency Board has estimated crop losses ranging from 10% of the barley to 95% of the soybeans. Corn, a major crop grown in York County, has suffered a 75% loss due to the drought. The attached Damage Assessment Report for York County documents the estimated losses.

As Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I hereby request that you make a formal Secretarial Emergency Disaster Declaration for York County, Pennsylvania, for damages resulting from the serious drought conditions from April 1986 to July 21, 1986.

Farmers Home Administration and other applicable federal assistance to our farmers will be greatly appreciated.

Conservation Reserve

has 3.8 million acres of highly erodible cropland, and 651,500 acres of wetlands. An additional 4.8 million acres of highly erodible agricultural land have potential for conversion to cropland.

Penn State's Extension Computer Services has available a computer program to help farmers determine fair bids for the CRP, according to Extension economist, William McSweeney. More information on the program, the Conservation Reserve and the conservation provisions is available at local Extension and ASCS offices.

Investing in Design.... To Save Farmers Money

Performance is written all over our new 95 hp and 115 hp engines that power the 1896 and 2096 Case IH tractors. Recent fuel economy tests of our new engine at Nebraska far exceed previous Case or International Harvester engine designs by saving farmers nearly one gallon of fuel per hour. With nearly one-third of the cost of ownership of a tractor directly related to fuel cost THAT'S INVESTING IN DESIGN TO SAVE FARMERS MONEY.

Lycoming County Artist Paints Portraits, Local Historical Scenes

BY BARBARA MILLER

Lycoming County Correspondent
FORKSVILLE — Artist Joan Nicholas Moore and her family live at Happy Thoughts Farm in Forksville, located in the scenic Endless Mountains of Sullivan County.

Four years ago, at age 45, Joan became a full-time artist. Commissioned to do art work from the age of 20, Joan said a major portion of her present income is derived from painting portraits. Many of Joan's other works feature farm scenes with animals.

Through the years, Joan, a native of the Pittsburgh area, has done a variety of artwork. She has designed and painted scenery for theatre productions, has been commissioned to do portraits of people, including a senator and a Miss Pennsylvania, and has completed several murals.

Currently, Joan is working on a 5-by-7-foot mural for the Lycoming County Historical Museum, depicting the Sawdust Revolution, an 1872 labor dispute between striking sawmill workers and plant owners. Joan says she enjoys murals because of their historical subjects and because more people are able to see her work on a regular basis.

Although Joan's favorite medium is oil, she says she also enjoys using charcoal and pen and ink with color.

Joan's inclination toward art may have begun in the womb before she was born. Evelyn Nicholas, her mother, is a professional portrait artist. One of Joan's sisters is studying commercial art and another is in the field of art education.

"It helped me a lot to be around the fine arts and to see how colors were mixed and used," Joan recalls of her early home life.

But, Joan says, "a real feeling of accomplishment" came at 18 when she did a charcoal portrait of her father.

"It was a good enough picture that when other people saw it, they asked me to do pictures for them," she reflects.

Following high school, Joan majored in art for three years at Allegheny College in Meadville. But then Joan put her art career on hold and married. Five children and 14 years later she was widowed. Eleven years ago, she moved from the Pittsburgh suburbs to her present residence and married Robert Moore.

Just as the wild trilliums Joan transplanted to her garden accustomed themselves to garden soil, Joan and her children acclimated themselves to their rural surroundings. Four of the children have attended or are attending college, with only Scot, the youngest, still at home.

During the years when she was rearing her children, Joan says she was able to paint only about four pictures a year. Now, working full time, she may average a painting a week. With portraits, Joan usually works from a photograph. Depending on the quality of the photo, a portrait may require from two to three weeks.

For a number of years Joan worked at various jobs to supplement the family income, painting as a sideline. But in 1983 she completed a painting entitled, "Morning Sentinel," of a duck guarding the entranceway to a barnyard on a summer morning. By the time Joan had finished the work, she had decided to become a full-time artist.

"The painting had power to it," she says. "I was able to get the depth and strength in a picture that I had always wanted." Joan said she thought the picture captured the character of the duck and the feeling of the morning light.

"One of the biggest challenges is to capture the caricature of the animal," she explains. "They can be comical or serious. But to catch that caricature..."

Joan hasn't regretted her decision to paint full time. This summer, she reports happily, she has exhibited her work at three area art shows and at an Artesian's Day in the Park at the county seat.

Gaining entrance to a typical exhibition, Joan said, may take a bit more doing than most people realize. After sending for an application, an artist must submit slides to be "juried." The artist's work is judged against about 350 other artists, with about only a third of the competitors accepted for the final exhibition.

Joan is working on a mural for the Lycoming Historical Society Museum. The mural will depict the Sawdust Revolution which occurred in Williamsport.

When asked what intrigues her about painting, Joan responds with the passion of an artist, with a reply as old as the creative urge in mankind.

"It provides a challenge, pure enjoyment. I can't escape it. It's just there...it's always there. The ideas build up over a period of time and I have to put them down."

When a painting is complete, Joan said she feels a sense of accomplishment. "It's something to look forward to as well as something to look back on," she said.

Living in rural Sullivan County as opposed to a metropolitan area has had a few drawbacks, Joan reports. Art supplies are more difficult to find, so she often is forced to order by mail. She further notes that selling originals is difficult because the market is flooded with prints. And finally, she said, finding "good space" to exhibit her paintings is difficult.

But although the remoteness of the area where she lives hinders her access to art supplies, Joan enjoys her rural environment.

"As a child I always wanted a horse, and when I was 40, I finally got the horse I'd always wanted," she says with a chuckle.

Joan keeps two horses on the family's 28-acre farm and her son, a butcher, runs a small beef operation.

For would-be artists, Joan offers the following advice. "Even though the field is overcrowded and competition is stiff, if you feel you have the talent, don't let the competition get you down."

And perhaps, just as importantly from her own experience, she adds, "Even though you have to set art work aside for other priorities, once in awhile always go back to it."

A piece of shell fungus served as the base for a great horned owl carving. These and sculptures created from the galls that occasionally grow on goldenrod sell well for Joan at craft shows.

How to Freeze Baked Goods and Pastries

Freezing does not improve baked goods and pastries, but it will keep them well for the recommended storage time. To avoid soggy, cool foods to room temperature before packaging. Freeze only fresh pastries and bread — don't wait until they are stale or dried out.

Plastic bags designed for freezer use are ideal for storing homemade pastries.

Pastries purchased from the supermarket or baker can be frozen by simply over-wrapping and properly sealing the package.

Unused pastry portions may also be packaged in freezer bags for use at a later time.

Frozen products maintain quality longer in the absence of air. So remove as much air as possible and seal properly before placing in the freezer.

Pies may be frozen either baked or unbaked. To serve a baked pie such as a fruit pie warm, you can heat and thaw it at the same time. Completely remove the wrapping from the frozen pie and place it in a 400°F oven for 30 to 40 minutes.

Unbaked pies should not be thawed before baking. Completely remove wrapping, make vents in top crust and place in a 400°F oven. Bake until pie is brown. This will take 15 minutes longer than if the pie was baked unfrozen. To be sure the pie is done, check to see if the filling is bubbling in the center of the pie.

If you plan to freeze frosted cakes, use butter, cream cheese, fudge or penuche-type frostings for best results when thawed. Remove the wrapping before you thaw frosted cakes.

Cookies may be frozen either baked or unbaked. To freeze baked cookies, bake as usual, cool quickly and freeze before packaging. Let thaw 5 to 10 minutes.

To freeze unbaked cookies, prepare dough as usual, and form into a long roll. Wrap and seal. Defrost dough only enough to allow slicing. Bake as usual.

Beans Plentiful

The popular green beans, grown as pole and bush beans, are an economical, nutritious vegetable choice in the summer.

Pole beans, grown on poles something like tepees, are about twice as long and fleshy as bush or snap beans and flatter and more broad. Bush or snap beans grow on a low bushlike plant. Pods are rounded, shorter, and straighter than pole beans. Snap beans, as the name suggests, are crisp enough to snap easily when broken. Only fresh, tender beans — not over-mature — will snap.

Look for beans that are free of blemishes and wrinkles and have firm pods. They should also be clean and fresh looking.

If you don't use the beans shortly after you bring them home, keep them fresh in the refrigerator. Store them in a plastic bag or covered dish.

Compare prices of beans when you shop. A pound of fresh beans will give you about four servings; a 1-pound can and 10-ounce package of frozen beans will give you three servings.

While fresh beans are in good supply you may be able to find good buys in commercially canned or frozen beans or can or freeze your own. It's an economical way to stock your shelves and freezer for fall and winter.

Cumberland Co. 4-H Swine Roundup

CARLISLE — The Cumberland County 4-H Swine Roundup and Sale will be held Tuesday, Aug. 19, at the Carlisle Livestock Market. The show will start at 9:30 a.m. and the sale at 6 p.m.

Fitting and showmanship will be evaluated first. A grand and reserve champion hog will then be selected based on type.

The 4-H's are members of the Central Penn 4-H Swine Club and have been raising the pigs since April.

Anyone can buy an animal. Arrangements for processing can be made prior to the day of sale.

For more information contact Dave Hartman at the Cumberland County Extension Office, 1100 Claremont Road, Carlisle, phone 249-7220 or 697-0371 ext. 246. Or, call Robert Finkenbinder at 249-4691.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

It's an uneven path, hard packed from years of heavy use, rough surfaced, and strewn with small rocks.

Scattered thistles dot its fenced edges, some brown and dead, others half-heartedly green in defiance of an earlier dosing with weed spray.

On the pond nearby, a mother mallard and her fluffy brood paddle toward the cover of weeds on the far bank.

A couple of black and white heads glance in my direction as I trudge this path. Most of the lounging herd, though, pretend to ignore the inevitable.

Sometimes this trip isn't necessary. Responding to the urgency of full udders and empty bellies, the dairy cows often crowd together outside the barn door, awaiting the opening of the gate.

But, on summer's hottest, hazy, most humid afternoons, the coolness of the pasture's wooded edge holds more appeal than the confines of the barn.

On such days, bringing in the cows takes a bit more coaxing.

A few respond to a voice call, slowly rising with seemingly great effort. They pause in the process for a brief period on their knees, as if to mull over the worth of the effort in such energy-sapping heat.

Invariably, the last cow still snoozing will be in the most distant corner of the pasture. Neither call nor herd instinct to follow those already headed for the barn will budge her. Instead, she'll demand a personal invitation, a prodding to her reluctant feet with a wake-up pat to the rump. Then, heaving a sign of protest, she'll finally lumber off through the ragged grass to merge with the stream of black and white slowly funneling through the opened gate.

In the distant meadow where the heifers pass their days, a graceful form glides against the sky, and the shriek of the red-tail hawk punctuates the sticky afternoon.

A few stragglers still linger at the shaded water trough, making certain as they depart to swat and kick mud onto their udders from this lone, small, soggy spot on the farm.

Finally, even slow-moving Barb, favoring her crampy leg, is headed up the walkway. Little puffs of dust rise behind each plodding hoof, merging into a tannish cloud which hovers over the stragglers.

Screaming, a killdeer runs from the passing bovine parade.

By the time the last slowpoke has made her way into the barn, most are already in their stalls. Sounds of rushing water mark their presence, as they drink long and deep from the stall fountains.

Bringing in the cows has always been for me an enjoyable interlude, a ceremonious link with generations who farmed here in years past.

It's a chore shared with Eskimo keepers of caribou, African tribesmen tending water buffalo, nomadic Bedouins gathering their camels, and Aborigine descendants herding sheep in the desolate Australian outback.

And I rarely trek the pasture cowpath without feeling a comforting comradeship with those millions of others of diverse creeds, colors, and nations who likewise daily tend herds and flocks.

Wars are won and lost, nations rise and fall, economies peak and plummet, and technology explores the innermost core of the earth and the outer limits of space.

But someone still has to go out everyday to bring in the cows.

And, on those occasions when it happens to be me, I'm glad that some things — like bringing in the cows — doesn't ever really change.

Fresh Fruits Make Luscious Homemade Pies

A trip to the farm market this time of year is a joy indeed! I find it difficult to limit myself to an armful of goodies and usually end up taking home more than I need.

Fruits especially catch my eye, and as I glimpse pints of plump blueberries and baskets full of rosy-cheeked peaches and tart green apples, I envision a steaming fruit pie cooling on the countertop.

If the pie isn't completely cool before the first slice is cut (and it usually isn't at my house), top it with a scoop of ice cream and enjoy the mingling flavors, textures and temperatures of warm pie and melting ice cream.

Below are some of our readers' ideas for creating pies from the bountiful display at the farm market.

LUSCIOUS APRICOT PIE

1 deep pie shell, unbaked
1 large can apricot halves
1 cup granulated sugar
¼ cup flour
½ pint whipping cream, un-whipped

Place apricot halves in pie shell. Combine sugar and flour and sprinkle over apricots. Pour cream over top. Bake at 325°F. for 1½ hours.

Donna Lencoski
Latrobe

STRAWBERRY-RHUBARB PIE

1½ cups sugar
½ cup flour
2 cups cut fresh rhubarb (1-inch pieces)
1 pint strawberries, washed, hulled and cut in half
Crust

In large bowl, combine sugar, flour, rhubarb and strawberries. Toss and let stand 30 minutes. Prepare crust. Turn mixture into bottom crust and dot with butter. Cut pastry strips and put on top. Brush top (but not rim) with some milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 400°F. for 50 minutes or until juice bubbles through lattice. Can be served warm with ice cream if desired.

Donna Lencoski
Latrobe

APPLE CREAM PIE

3 cups finely cut apples
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup cream or milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 round tablespoon flour

Mix together and put in an unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle top with cinnamon. Bake in 450°F. oven for 15 minutes. Then reduce heat to 325°F. and bake 30 to 40 minutes longer. When pie is about done, take a knife and punch top apples down to soften.

WHOLE WHEAT PIE CRUST

1½ cups whole wheat flour or combination of whole wheat and whole wheat pastry flour
½ cup wheat germ
1 teaspoon salt
10 tablespoons margarine
4 to 6 tablespoons ice water.

Stir together flour, wheat germ and salt. Cut margarine into dry ingredients with two knives or a pastry cutter. When dough is consistency of rolled oats, sprinkle with water, using just enough to hold dough together.

Using cupped fingers, work dough together quickly and gently. As soon as it will hold together, form into ball. For best results, refrigerate for at least ½ hour or overnight, but be sure to remove from refrigerator an hour before rolling it out. Preheat oven to 400°F.

Press dough out into thick disc. Roll to size on lightly floured surface, or between sheets of waxed paper, or on pastry cloth. Gently roll dough over rolling pin and onto pie plate, easing it loosely into plate. If it should stick to table, slide long, sharp knife underneath, and if it should tear, patch with extra dough once it is in place.

Gently press dough into plate so there are no air pockets. Cut off excess with sharp knife, but be sure to make rim extra thick so it won't burn. If you are going to fill pie before baking, you may use extra dough for lattice; otherwise, sprinkle with a bit of sugar and cinnamon and bake along with pie as an impromptu cookie. Form an attractive rim and pierce pie shell all over with fork. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes, cool and fill. Bake for just 7 minutes if your recipe calls for partially baked shell. Makes 1 10-inch crust or crust and lattice for 1 8-inch pie.

FAVORITE PLUM PIE

4 cups sliced plums
½ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine sugar, flour, salt and cinnamon. Add to plums and place in 9-inch pastry shell. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon lemon juice over plums.

Topping:
½ cup flour
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Mix and cut in ¼ cup butter. Mound crumbs in center of pie. Place pie in heavy brown grocery bag. Cover pie loosely. Fold over end twice and fasten with paper clips. Set on baking sheet. Bake 1 hour at 425°F. Remove pie from oven. Let rest a few minutes before removing bag. Serve warm.

PEACH OR APPLE PIE

Mix:
4 tablespoons tapioca
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
7 to 8 cups sliced fruit
Let stand 5 minutes. Add topping and bake.

Topping:
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour
1½ teaspoons cinnamon (for apples)
1 teaspoon nutmeg (for peaches)
6 tablespoons butter

Bake at 400°F. for 40 to 45 minutes. Makes 3 pies.

CHERRY PIE

2½ cups sour cherries
½ cup cherry juice
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
3 tablespoons minute tapioca
1 tablespoon butter
1/8 teaspoon almond extract

Combine cherries, juice, sugars, flavoring and tapioca. Let stand 15 minutes. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan. Dot with butter. Place crust or strips on top as preferred. Bake at 425°F. for 10 minutes then in moderate oven (375°F.) for 30 minutes.

P'NUTTY APPLE CRUMB PIE

21 ounces apple pie filling
1 8-inch unbaked pie shell
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup crunchy peanut butter
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup flour
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon lemon peel

Spoon apple pie filling into pie shell. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Cut peanut butter and butter into mixture of flour, brown sugar, spices and lemon peel. Spread over surface of pie. Bake at 400°F. for about 30 minutes, until topping is bubbling hot.

FRESH CRUMB PEACH PIE

2 cups diced fresh peaches
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour or 1 scant tablespoon cornstarch
1 egg

Dice 2 cups fresh peaches. Add sugar and flour. Add well beaten egg. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Top with the following crumb mixture:

½ cup flour
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
Mix well.

Bake in one-shell pie crust in a 9-inch pan at 415°F. for 15 minutes, then reduce temperature to 350°F. for 35 to 40 minutes.

Linda Zerr
Sinking Spring

PIE CRUST

2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening (room temperature)
5 to 7 tablespoons cold water
This makes enough crust for a two-crust pie.

Sinking Spring

An inviting combination of apples and peanut butter make this P'NUTTY Apple Crumb Pie a favorite.

GOOSEBERRY PIE

3½ cups gooseberries, stems and end blossom ends removed
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1½ cups granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons melted butter

Pastry for a 2-crust pie
Wash and drain gooseberries. Add tapioca, sugar, salt, rind and butter. Let stand for 20 minutes. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Fill with berry mixture, moisten pastry edge with water and put on top crust. Trim edge and flute. Cut vents for steam to escape. Bake at 425°F. for 10 minutes, then reduce to 325°F. Bake 35 minutes more. Serve with whipped cream.

New Freedom

APPLE MINCEMEAT PIE

1½ quarts grated apples
1½ cups beef or pork puddings
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup molasses
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 cup raisins

1 cup water or enough to simmer above ingredients.

Simmer above ingredients together for 15 minutes. Remove from heat and add:

1/8 teaspoon lemon flavoring
1/8 teaspoon maple flavoring

If mixture is too watery, thicken with cornstarch or Clearjel. Cool. Use for pie filling in a double crust pie. Bake at 350°F. for about 1 hour. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream.

Shippensburg

PEACH CREAM PIE

Filling:
4 cups fresh peaches
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Crust:
½ cup butter
1½ cups flour

Topping:
½ cup sugar
½ cup flour
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon

For crust, cut butter into flour and salt. Press into 9-inch pie pan.

For filling: Slice peaches into a bowl; sprinkle with ¼ cup sugar. In another bowl, combine ¾ cup sugar, flour, egg, salt and vanilla. Fold in milk. Stir in peaches. Pour into crust. Bake at 400°F. for 15 minutes, then reset at 350°F. for 20 minutes.

Combine topping and mix until crumbly. After baking pie 20 minutes, sprinkle topping over top of pie. Bake another 10 minutes.

RICH RHUBARB PIE

1 egg, beaten
1 cup thick sour cream
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons tapioca
3 cups chopped fresh rhubarb
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Combine egg, sour cream, sugar and tapioca. Mix well. Fill the unbaked pastry shell with chopped rhubarb. Pour egg and cream mixture over rhubarb. Bake in oven for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350°F.

Featured Recipe

If your luck with pastry shells has been less than perfect, this week's featured recipe will be to your liking. Crumb crusts are easier to deal with than the rolled out variety and taste just as good.

The Crunchy Oatmeal Crust below is the perfect foundation for a delectable fruit pie.

Crunchy Oatmeal Crust

1 cup uncooked rolled oats
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup powdered dry milk
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Preheat oven to 350°F. Combine all ingredients in mixing bowl and stir well with fork to moisten. Press with fingers into bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake 8 to 10 minutes in preheated oven, until lightly browned. Fill as desired. Makes 1 9-inch crust.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't seem to find it anywhere, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION - Beverly Reiner, Pitman, would like a recipe for Duchess soup (a type of cheese soup) and a recipe for Chicken Montrey using deboned chicken breasts with a type of barbecue sauce.

QUESTION - Rhea Rhinehart, Akron, would like recipes for snapper soup to can.

QUESTION - Donna Lencoski, Latrobe, would like a recipe for "Chunkies," a type of sweet-tart pickle that have seeds removed, allowing you to use older cucumbers.

ANSWER - Ronald Kannoda, Monongahela, requested a recipe for meadow tea syrup. Thanks go to Janice Burkholder, Quarryville, for sharing her recipe.

Meadow Tea To Freeze

- 4 quarts water
- 4 cups sugar
- 4 cups fresh tea leaves

Bring water to a boil. Remove from heat and add tea leaves. Let stand 15 minutes. Remove leaves. Add sugar and cool. Put in quart boxes and freeze. To serve, combine 1 part concentrate with 3 parts water.

Utensils: kettle to cook the water, cloth to strain the syrup and remove leaves.

Under-The-Sea Salad

- 1 3-ounce package lime gelatin
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 1-pound can pear halves
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
- 1/8 teaspoon ginger

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Drain pears, measuring ¾ cup syrup; add water if necessary. Dice pears and set aside. Add pear syrup and lemon juice to gelatin. Measure 1¼ cups into a 1-quart mold. Chill until set but not firm. Gradually add remaining gelatin to softened cream cheese, blending until smooth. Add ginger. Chill until thick. Fold in pears. Spoon into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Makes about 4 cups or 8 side salads.

Pear Crisp

- 6 cups sweetened fresh or canned pear slices, drained
- ⅓ cup flour
- 1 cup quick uncooked oatmeal
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅓ cup melted oleo

Place pear slices in greased baking dish. Combine dry ingredients. Add melted oleo, mixing until crumbly. Sprinkle on top of fruit. Bake in preheated oven at 375°F for 30 minutes. Serve with milk.

Note: This recipe works well with peaches too.

Pear-icious Cake

- 1½ cups salad oil
- 2 cups sugar
- 3 eggs
- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups chopped canned pears (well drained), save syrup
- 1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Combine oil, sugar, and eggs and beat well. Mix in 3 tablespoons pear syrup. Sift together flour, salt, baking soda and cinnamon. Add to creamed mixture. Add vanilla; fold in pears and nuts. Grease and flour a 10-inch tube or bundt pan. Spoon in batter. Bake at 325°F. for 1 hour and 20 minutes or until done. Let cool in pan for 20 minutes and remove to cake rack for complete cooling. Drizzle white glaze over cake and let some run down sides.

White Glaze:

- 1 tablespoon soft butter
- 1½ cups powdered sugar
- 2 to 3 tablespoons syrup from canned pears

Blend butter and sugar with enough syrup to make a smooth, slightly runny frosting.

NOTE: If you have fresh pears, peel, cure and cook in enough water to cover.

CORRECTION - Last week's Question Corner included a recipe for Pineapple Cream Pie. However, an error was made in the directions. The corrected recipe appears below. Lancaster Farming regrets this error.

Pineapple Cream Pie

- 2 cups skim milk
- 4 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1½ teaspoons pineapple flavoring
- Equal brand sweetener to equal ¼ cup sugar (6 packets)
- 2 cups unsweetened crushed pineapples, very well drained
- 1 9-inch graham cracker crust

Place drained pineapple in bowl and add sweetener to equal 1 tablespoon sugar and pineapple flavoring. Set aside.

In non-stick pan or double boiler scald 1½ cups milk. Mix together ½ cup cold milk, cornstarch and salt. Add slowly to hot milk, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Add a little of hot mixture to yolks and then stir into hot mixture. Continue cooking and stirring until thick. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Cool slightly and add rest of sweetener. Add pineapple. Pour into shell. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Chill. Serve within 2 to 3 days.

Troy Fair Home Arts Contest

TOWANDA — This year's Troy Fair Home Arts Show displayed almost 500 quality handmade items at the Linda B. Hulslander 4-H Building. Exhibitors from all corners of Bradford County won honors and premiums at the third Home Arts Show.

Of the total 120 exhibitors, 100 won over $1,340 in premiums. Joel Crayton, Towanda, and Dawn Landis, Monroeton, received the highest total amounts for their entries. Like Crayton and Landis, many had multiple entries. Six persons entered over 20 items each in the competition.

Entries were made in three departments, Canned Foods; Clothing, Needlecraft, Afghans, Quilts and Rugs; and Traditional Handcrafts and Household Furnishings.

Eight outstanding exhibits received Best of Show awards. The winners and their entries follow:

Students Receive Co-op Achievement Award

HARRISBURG — High school students Rebecca Weinstock and Kay Lobaugh recently received the Walter Loy Examination Achievement Award at the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperative's 26th annual cooperative business education youth institute.

Weinstock, of 1234 Pothouse Road, Phoenixville, was attending the conference for the first time. Lobaugh, of 440 Lobaugh Road, Aspers, joined 36 other second year scholars at the institute.

At the conclusion of the conference, each of the 120 students took an exam dealing with business principles. Weinstock and Lobaugh each had the high score in her experience group.

The PAFC Summer Youth Institute is designed to provide high school youth with a background in business economics, focusing on cooperatives and agribusiness. The conference also provides opportunity for leadership development, recreation and fellowship. Youth from a four-state area, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware, attended the PAFC conference.

ATTENTION POULTRY GROWERS!

Cablevey The automatic Controlled Feeding System

The number of pans to be installed on Cablevey feed lines will depend upon bird density - usually 4 per 10 feet of feed line.

1. Reduce "growout" costs by tighter control over feeding program
2. Instant feed distribution in every pan when system is activated
3. Fast delivery of feed up to 100 ft. per minute — transporting up to 1500 lbs. per hour per receiving hopper. A system with 4 feed intake points would approach a delivery rate of 100 lbs. per minute
4. Time clock and electrical control panel application for ultimate in control feeding
5. Can handle systems up to 1000 feet
6. Virtually no feed separation
7. Low operation and maintenance cost
8. A smooth, quiet operating feed transport system

The Supercharger™ System for Poultry Grower Ventilation

The XL1800 is ideal for improving your current heating system or as your totally new heating system. Here are some typical installations

To maximize feed and fuel efficiency combine the powerful XL1800 with the highly efficient GASOLEC infrared brooders and the Stage Manager™ Control System and you've got our Supercharger™ System

The Stage Manager™ Control System gives you single knob control of all your equipment up to 13 different temperature set points, and a remote digital display of the environment temperature

GASOLEC™ infrared heaters use low cost fuel and radiate the heat directly down where you want it for optimum heating control and efficiency

The XL1800 mounts through either endwalls or sidewalls. It's suspended by twin guy wires for easy installation without mounting brackets to get in the way

Ida Risser

Now that we've had some rain with a recent thunderstorm the grass and weeds are really growing. But, so is the field corn. It keeps me busy keeping the lawn trimmed and the garden reasonably clean.

Last week I broke off hundreds of hosta lily seed heads. This is a job that I assigned to the children when they were small. But I had to get my little red wagon and haul them away myself.

That thunderstorm I mentioned was quite severe. We had no telephone for one day and had to drive to neighbors a mile away to call for servicemen. Our water pump stopped running. Our big color television set was also knocked out. Our propane gas tank caught on fire as it apparently had a small leak and the electrical storm lit it. My husband got the fire out with an extinguisher while I stood a distance away and ask him to move away too. But, he didn't listen to me since he has a mind of his own. Luckily, everything turned out okay.

Just now I have enough green beans for several families. I am freezing them and will share some with our children. At the present time, the tomatoes also look as though they'll give a bumper crop, so I better have my canning jars ready.

We were surprised to get a phone call from one of our sons who is traveling through Europe. He phoned from Luzerne, Switzerland and it brought back memories of my trip there five years ago. He's really enjoying the Alps the same as I did when I was there in July too.

Tenrec's Of Madagascar Come In Variety Of Sizes

WASHINGTON — At one point in his research stint on Madagascar, zoologist Martin Nicoll awakened to the scampering of as many as 228 tiny feet across his bedroom floor. They belonged to 57 tenrecs, Madagascar's oldest living mammals.

The island off Africa's east coast has at least 25 species of tenrecs, some tiny and mouselike, another growing as big as a rabbit. Nicoll, hoping to learn about tenrec eating and reproductive habits, had acquired an assortment of them from the wild. They included streaked tenrecs, mouse-eared tenrecs, and mole tenrecs. The population soon multiplied, which is a special tenrec talent; one species can produce 32 to a litter.

"To my surprise, I would come home and find several tenrecs of different species, normally very aggressive, sleeping together and mutually grooming one another's faces," Nicoll recalls.

Behavior

Bizarre

Nicoll, research associate at the National Zoo in Washington, has studied tenrecs across their range of west-central Africa, the Seychelles Island chain, and Madagascar. He is one of the few scientists to observe and record the many bizarre facets of tenrec anatomy and behavior.

One-third of the species he observed on Madagascar had never before been seen alive. He confirmed that tenrecs are extremely cool, with an average temperature 7 to 10 degrees Celsius lower than that of other placental mammals. His work is partly funded by the National Geographic Society.

Nicoll reports:

- Although most tenrecs dwell on land, three aquatic varieties live in the rivers of west-central Africa.

Two have webbed feet and a very flat head.

- One aquatic tenrec has large, radar-like ears and a tail shaped like a beaver's, but turned sideways. The tail is knife-sharp. If a person wanders in its streams and tries to touch the animal, it will bite.

- A similar but rare aquatic tenrec travels fast-flowing rivers of Madagascar, where two of its five known habitat sites have deteriorated. Its fur is like a mink's.

- The pygmy hedgehog tenrec, which resembles a hedgehog, is arboreal but clumsy, spending much of its time trying to get back into trees. "You walk through the forest and occasionally hear soft thuds, and the animals are falling out," Nicoll says. "They're not very competent climbers."

- Two tenrec species are streaked. The black-and-white streaked ones live on Madagascar's central plateau and are nocturnal. The black-and-yellow streaked variety stays in the eastern rain forest and is partly diurnal.

Communicate With Quills

- Both streaked versions and the juveniles of the tailless tenrec "stridulate" — rubbing together a group of specialized quills on their backs to produce high-frequency sounds for communication. When alarmed, they stridulate in intense bursts.

- Streaked tenrecs forage in groups. Nicoll stalked them in his attempts to capture individuals for study. "When you go after one, the group immediately goes into a defensive mode, making buzzing calls and rubbing the quills on their backs together," he says. "As you put your hand down to pick one up,

Just one of at least 25 kinds of tenrecs on the Indian Ocean island of Madagascar, this streaked tenrec bears a crest of long quills on its head and shorter ones on its body. The streaked tenrec communicates by rubbing its quills together to make high-frequency sounds.

it detects you and all of the quills previously lying flat are thrown up into a great corona. Then the animals jump back at you, while giving out a 'zip, zip!'"

The animal has turned into a virtual pincushion. "If you would persist in annoying it, it would continue to attack and you could end up with 30 barbed spines in your hand," Nicoll says. Meanwhile, the rest of the group has scattered and frozen, disappearing in the leaf cover.

- Many tenrecs "echolocate" while exploring strange places by producing tongue clicks.

- The tailless, or common, tenrec, known as tandraka by the Malagasy people, is hunted for food (the streaked kind is taboo). But it takes persistence to overcome its quills, pungent odor, and formidable jaws. "My whole hand was put out of action once when it was bitten by a common tenrec," Nicoll says.

- Tailless tenrec males in the Seychelles frequently fight over females, the smaller males sneaking up to try to mate and scurrying away at the approach of the "huge" males. The huge males have thick pads of skin on their backs, enormous teeth, and massive head muscles.

"When a huge male's mouth opens, his jaw muscles bulge so that it looks as if he's got two balloons stuffed inside," Nicoll says.

Torpid About Temperature

Rain-forest tenrecs appear to keep relatively steady body temperatures, but across the island in the desert, the tenrecs practice torpor, allowing their temperatures to fluctuate with the air temperature, sometimes as much as 15 degrees a day. On a wintry desert night, the pygmy hedgehog tenrec doesn't seem to notice the cold.

"The peculiarity is that when a mammal has offspring, she generally becomes a very efficient thermoregulator. But these animals don't. On cold days, a whole family will cool down," Nicoll says.

Tenrecs are insectivores, feasting mostly on insects and earthworms. Like many of Madagascar's animals, some tenrecs appear to be fighting for survival. The island has one of the world's highest levels of rain-forest destruction, and the main habitats of tenrecs have already been lost.

"Besides being models of primitive mammals, tenrecs are important links in a variety of food chains," Nicoll says. "We hope that by studying tenrecs, we'll find out more about how man is affecting Madagascar's natural ecosystems."

1985 Micro Way Favorites

I have had repeated requests for these two recipes during the past few months. Therefore, they must be the 1985 favorites!

This manicotti is made without precooking the pasta. It's stuffed dry, then the pasta cooks right in the sauce. The recipe is given in two quantities, to accommodate different family sizes. Also, because the larger size pan, a 9 x 13-inch dish may not fit in some microwaves.

Cheese Manicotti

- 1/2 (3/4) pound ground beef, optional
- 3 (4) cups spaghetti sauce
- 1/2 (1/2) cup water
- 1 (1 1/2) cup(s) ricotta cheese
- 1/4 (1/3) cup parmesan cheese
- 1 (1 1/2) tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 (2) beaten eggs
- 8 (10-12) uncooked manicotti

1. If a meat sauce is desired, break up ground beef in an 8 x 12-inch (9 x 13-inch) glass utility pan. Microwave on high for 3 to 4 (4 to 5) minutes, stirring once after 2 minutes, until cooked.

2. Stir in spaghetti sauce and water; microwave on high for 10 (12 to 14) minutes, until hot. (If your oven has a probe, set the probe for 170 degrees and heat on high.) Stirring once or twice will help the sauce heat more quickly.

3. While sauce is heating, combine cheeses, parsley, pepper and egg(s), stirring until well combined. Using a small spoon, fill each uncooked manicotti to the ends. Push the filling inside the pasta with the back of the spoon.

4. Press each manicotti down into the hot spaghetti sauce, making sure it is surrounded by and covered with sauce. Cover pan with plastic wrap. Microwave on high for 10 (15) minutes.

5. Turn each manicotti over using tongs or two forks or spoons. Spoon sauce over the tops of the manicotti, and recover pan. Microwave on medium high (70.7) for 15 (20) minutes. Let stand 15 minutes before serving for the noodles to finish cooking.

Serves 4 (6).

TIP: To prepare ahead, complete Steps 1 and 3, and refrigerate manicotti and sauce separately. When ready to cook, heat spaghetti sauce, as in Step 2 before combining, then continue with Step 4. It is important for the spaghetti sauce to be very hot before adding the manicotti.

These giant cookies microwave well and are fun for "kids" of all ages to decorate. You might even find yourself hooked on the tasty wedges.

Pizza Cookies

- 1 stick margarine or butter
- 1/2 cup chunky peanut butter
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 large egg
- 1 1/4 cups flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup quick oats, uncooked
- 1/4 cup candy coated chocolate pieces or chocolate chips

Toppings:
1/4 cup candy coated chocolate pieces or chips

1/4 cup chopped peanuts

1/4 cup shredded or flaked coconut

1. Put margarine and peanut butter in a large microsafe mixing bowl. Microwave on low (30.3, defrost) for 1 minute to soften.

2. Beat in sugar and egg until fluffy, then beat in flour and soda. Stir in oats and 1/4 cup candy coated chocolate pieces. Divide dough in half.

3. Spray two 10-inch glass pie plates with non-stick vegetable spray. (Or use 9-inch round cake pans or 9 to 10-inch dinner plates.) With a spatula or spreading knife, spread the dough to make an 8 to 9-inch cookie. It will bake better if the center is slightly thinner than the edges.

4. Sprinkle the top of each "pizza" with half of the topping ingredients.

5. Bake cookies one at a time: Microwave on medium high (70.7) for 5 to 6 minutes, rotating twice during the cooking time. The cookie is done when it is just puffed and set in the center. (Watch it closely at the end, the exact cooking time will depend on what container you've used and how thin you've spread the dough. Be careful not to cook too long, or you will have very hard crunchy cookies!)

6. Let cool for 20 minutes, then cut each "pizza" into eight wedges. The cookies are easier to cut when they are still slightly warm. Serve warm or cold. Makes two 8 to 9-inch cookies (16 wedges, or servings).

Tips:

— If your oven doesn't have medium high, microwave the cookies on medium (50.5) for 7 to 8 minutes, or low (30.3, defrost) for 9 to 10 minutes.

— For a "healthier" cookie, replace 1/2 cup white flour with 1/2 cup whole wheat flour and add 2 tablespoons wheat germ. Replace candy with same amount of raisins or other chopped dried fruit.

Note: The times above are for microwaves with 600-700 watts of cooking power. For 500-600 W, add 10 seconds to each minute; for 400-500 W, add 20 seconds.

'America Salutes FFA' Rescheduled

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — "America Salutes the FFA," planned for Aug. 2 in Kansas City, Mo., has been rescheduled for early summer 1987.

Bob Alexander, producer, from Nashville, Tenn., said lack of lead time to secure sufficient corporate sponsorship for the concert and an unfavorable television syndication schedule for the two-hour special being prepared from the event, made rescheduling necessary.

Concert tickets will be refunded in full at the box-office where purchased. Questions regarding refund procedures, should be directed to the agency from which tickets were purchased.

"America Salutes the FFA" is a 12-hour concert event that will honor and recognize the Future Farmers of America for their achievements and the vital role they play in the future of American agriculture.

More than 40 top entertainers, including Alabama, Wolfman Jack, Sawyer Brown, Dave Mason and the Marshal Tucker Band were donating their time for the concert, proceeds of which would go to the National FFA Foundation, Inc. to fund scholarships and support new and existing programs.

"While we deeply regret the need to reschedule the concert for 'America Salutes the FFA,' it is apparent that it is in the best interest of all involved," Larry Case, National FFA Advisor said.

"There is clearly great enthusiasm for this event on the part of entertainers, FFA and the general public by rescheduling for next summer. We believe the show will include more artists and receive greater exposure through more favorable television syndication," Case said.

Montgomery County 4-H Fair To Highlight Canine Frisbee Competition

CREAMERY — The 4-H Clubs of Montgomery County will host the Gaines Ashley Whippet Invitational for disc catching dogs on Saturday, August 16th at 11 a.m. at the Montgomery County 4-H Center.

All dog owners, youth and adults, with trained dogs are encouraged to compete and everyone is invited to view the proceedings.

Also included in this show will be a demonstration given by one of the top dogs on the east coast.

Sheba, owned Rick Pierson of Norristown, is a 9-year-old German Shepherd who has been competing for years. She has been in the top three placings at many local competitions and is currently in the state standings. In addition to her competitions, Sheba has given many demonstrations for local organizations.

The Ashley Whippet Invitational is named for Ashley Whippet, a three-time world champion, celebrated canine athlete and TV and film star. There is no entry fee for competing. The event is open to any dog who can catch a frisbee disc. Trophies will be awarded to the top three places and a tee shirt will go to the first place winner. Everyone who participates will receive a ribbon and a certificate. Frisbees will be provided.

For more information or to register for the contest please contact Nancy Kadwill, county agent, at 489-4315. Advance registration is requested for the contest participants.

This is only one of the many fun events which are part of the county 4-H Fair. The Fair runs August 14 to 16 and is open to the public. Other events on Saturday, Aug. 16th include a Pet Parade, Chicken Bar-B-Que, 4-H Dairy Goat show, and a Antique Car Parade and presentation by "Karen's Kids" a twirling group. For a complete schedule of the Fair events contact the County Extension Office.

Rick Pierson of Norristown and "Sheba" will be among those participating in the upcoming Gaines Ashley Whippet Invitational for frisbee catching dogs on Saturday, Aug. 16th.

The Heart of every EASTERN CROWN Tank Washer

... is the electronically accurate control system that translates your instructions to the washer itself

Complete Automatic Tank Washer Includes:
Electronic Controls
1 or 2 Spinners

AVAILABLE WITH Automatic Electronic Control

Say goodbye to the inconvenience of hand washing forever. Eastern Crown has perfected a clean-up system that's entirely automatic. At the flick of a switch your unit washes, rinses, sanitizes and drains while you tend to other chores. You know it's "the best" because the Eastern Crown name is on it. Special spinners spray-clean with such force that they sanitize much more thoroughly than is possible by hand.

TWO STEP ECONOMY PURCHASE PLAN. If now is not the time to go fully automatic then take advantage of Eastern Crown's flexible plan and go semi-automatic by using a timer with the pump unit which is available separately. Add the control unit later. Here's an easy way to make a major improvement at a minor expense. Eastern Crown Tank Washer is easily installed with no structural changes in your present set-up. It's the way to improve quality and increase profits automatically!

Northeast Region Fashion Revue Winners Named

Lycoming County Correspondent
WILLIAMSPORT — Everything from romantic gowns to men's apparel was pirouetted on the runway at the second annual 4-H Regional Fashion Revue, July 28, at the Lycoming Genetti Motor Inn, Williamsport.

Sixty-four 4-H'ers from nine counties in the Northeast-West Region took part in the day-long program. In the senior division six gold medal winners were chosen to represent the Northeast-West Region at State 4-H Fashion Revue, Aug. 5, on the Penn State University Campus. Six junior gold medal participants were also recognized for outstanding work.

Three senior division gold medal winners were selected from Tioga County. They were Darlene Ogden, Helen Norman, and Kathy Black. Additional winners were Linda Meiser, Snyder County; Amy Cotner, Union County; Terri Packard, Bradford County; and Kim Beishline, Columbia County. Kathy Black was elected a gold medal winner, but because she will be unable to be present at the State

Revue she allowed another participant to take her place.

At the State Revue senior division gold medal winners will compete with top winners from other regions. The State winner will get an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 7 to 11.

Receiving the junior gold medal awards were two Union County 4-H'ers, Allison Beckley and Michelle Reichley; two Snyder County participants, Danielle Stauffer and Abbey Remaley; Kelly Beishline, Columbia County; and Cheryl Viaud, Lycoming County.

Semi-finalists in the senior division were Dawn Bacon, Bradford County; Amy Remley, Columbia County; Ann Baranoski, Snyder County; and Stacy Miller, Tioga County.

Junior division semi-finalists were three Northumberland County entrants, Jean Styer, Bobbi Housner, and Janel Stuck. Remaining semi-finalists were Malena Moore, Snyder County; Wendy Mitstifer, Lycoming County; and Michaelene Seibert, Columbia County.

Two Columbia County males, Doug Haladay and James Aten took part in the revue. Doug, 14, of the Roaring Creek Valley 4-H Club modeled a stylish shirt and pants. This is Doug's fourth sewing project and he says his sister encourages him in his sewing efforts.

James Aten of the Centre 4-H Club modeled his seventh sewing project, a shirt, pants, and lined blazer. James reports his mom is the sewing leader and he likes to sew.

Judges for the second annual regional revue were Mrs. James Bookwalter, Lock Haven; Jean Benfer, Shermans Dale; Cheryl Miller, Lock Haven; Betty Shafer, Millville; and Marian Mains, Duncannon.

The State Fashion Revue program is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Cooperative Extension Service. Chairman of the regional revue was Barbara P. Kinnan, Tioga County; co-chairman was Eleanor Yarrison, Lycoming County.

12 Students To Attend National Co-op Institute

HUNTINGDON — Twelve Commonwealth young adults who served as delegates to a summer youth institute held at Juniata College have been named to attend the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Knoxville, Tennessee, August 4 through 7.

Those named are: Sarah Baker, RD 4, Bedford; Clifton Brubaker, RD 1, Loysville; Darlene Coover, RD 1, Carlisle; Andy Greenleaf, RD 1, Martinsburg; Gwen Gray, RD 1, Schellsburg; Mike Hall, 1716 Pioneer Rd., Lancaster; Mike Heim, Rt. 2, Felton; Scott Lemmon, RD 1, Newburg; Beth V. an, RD 1 Birdsboro; Chris Strait, Box 5, Harrisonville; and Nathaniel and Rebecca Weinstock, 1234 Pothouse Rd., Phoenixville.

They were chosen on the basis of a report covering local activities, a quiz on cooperative business functions, and leadership activities while at the institute.

At the national convention, the delegates will take part in various programs designed to increase their knowledge of farmer cooperatives and agribusiness. They will join with 900 young agricultural leaders from all parts of the United States, Canada, and Puerto Rico.

tatives from the following cooperative councils: Adams-Franklin-York - Mike Heim; Blue Mountain - Beth Morgan; Chester-Delaware - Nathaniel & Rebecca Weinstock; Cumberland-Perry - Clifton Brubaker, Darlene Coover, Scott Lemmon; Lancaster - Mike Hall; South Central - Sarah Baker, Andy Greenleaf, Gwen Gray, Chris Strait.

The youth institute was sponsored jointly by The Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives, local cooperative councils, and The Pennsylvania State University's College of Agriculture.

Shippensburg Fair Names Beef, Sheep and Swine Champions

BY GINGER SECRIST MYERS

SHIPPENSBURG — Despite a delay for a very welcomed thunderstorm, the beef show competition at the Shippensburg Community Fair got off to a good start with the third annual Beef Animal Fit-Out Contest.

This year's competition was won by the three-man team of Darren Statler, Steve Clapsaddle, and Duaine Glessner, all from Franklin County. These three cattlemen had a combined total of 14 years of experience between them in showing and fitting beef cattle.

The contest rules called for a three member team that must provide a beef steer for the competition that was already entered at the fair. The team had to provide all their own equipment. Once the steer was in the stocks, the team could not receive any help from other 4-H or FFA members, or their parents. The teams were given 45 minutes to fit their steer.

The judge for this year's contest was John Fought, an active leader in the Cumberland County 4-H Beef program. In selecting the winners, Fought stated, "This steer is really clean and this is the team that worked the best together."

Placing second in the contest was the team of Holly McLaughlin, Nicole Lebo, and Charles Freed, Cumberland County. Third place went to the Adams County team of Travis Sherman, Lewis Hilbert, and Mandy Hilbert.

Market Steers

Middleweight steers carried the beef show Monday evening, with three of the four champion ribbons going to winners from that division.

Selecting a steer that she called structurally sound and capable of doing a good job for the cattle industry, judge Brenda Walter, Airville, slapped the rump of Troy Waggoner, Angus-Chianina cross-bred middleweight winner for the over-all champion ribbon and the grand champion award in FFA. Waggoner, from York, had a blue ribbon night, having earlier been selected the champion fitter of the show.

For reserve over-all champion, Walter went to the steer she said followed most closely the mold of her champion. Nicole Lebo, Chambersburg, took the reserve over-all champion award plus the grand champion 4-H ribbon with her middleweight cross-bred steer.

The reserve 4-H champion was also a middleweight steer shown by Donald Sheiss, Chambersburg. The lone heavyweight champion went to Kim Hopple for the reserve champion in FFA.

The showmanship competition for the evening became a family affair with three brothers competing for the title of champion showmen. Judge Walters stated that combined, Donnie Sheiss, Eric Sheiss, and David Sheiss, Chambersburg, would make a great show team anywhere. But, going with his experience and his ability to hold his steer together the best throughout the class, she selected the senior division showman Donnie Sheiss as the over-all champion showman.

Market Lambs

It was the largest market lamb show ever held at the Shippensburg Community Fair. One hundred head of market lambs, representing 10 breeds were paraded out before judge J. G. Warfield, Marrietsville, Md., at the day-long show held Monday, July 21. Show chairperson Diane Conaway stressed that with 45 exhibitors from all over south-central Pennsylvania, this show was unique in its geographical representation and is one of only a handful of shows open to all juniors, thus allowing for more competition in the classes.

In selecting his over-all champion, Warfield noted that the breed champions as a group were a good, useful group of lambs, but that his grand champion would have to represent what he liked best. For over-all grand champion he selected the champion Suffolk lamb exhibited by Michele Walker, Newville. He granted the Suffolk more cleanliness and tightness about the front end than his reserve over-all champion, a Hampshire shown by Alicia Strasbaugh, York. Walker's home-bred grand champion was also designated champion of the FFA show, while Strasbaugh's lamb picked up the champion ribbon in the 4-H division.

Reserve FFA champion went to Chris Hopple showing her winning Hampshire, and 4-H reserve champion also went to Alicia

The Shippensburg Fair's beef show champions were (left) Troy Waggoner, FFA and overall champion; Nicole Lebo, 4-H champion and reserve overall; Donald Sheiss, reserve 4-H champion; Sandy Hopple, reserve FFA champion; show judge Brenda Walter.

Strasbaugh with her Hampshire in that division.

Breeding Sheep

The fair concluded its livestock show with its largest breeding sheep show, 193 head representing 37 exhibitors. Judging the event was Ronald Miller, shepherd for Wye Farms, Kutztown.

Commenting on the classes, Miller stated that the show had quality throughout all the classes. He granted his champions size and scale, correctness of feet and legs and uniformity of breed character.

He ranked the Dorsets as the strongest breed show of the day, but granted that the champion Suffolk ram and ewe were his favorites. Miller pointed out that the weakest point of the show was the ram classes. Commented Miller, "The rams have to get better. Breeders need to turn out rams that are useful to the commercial breeder. That is, rams who will throw size and finish."

Livestock Sale

A new record price for a champion market hog was set at the Seventh Annual FFA Market Animal Sale held Tuesday evening, July 22. Wayne Craig & Sons, Shippensburg, paid $5.10 a pound for the grand champion market hog at the fair. The hog was the FFA project of John Sigler and the first champion hog at the fair to come from the Shippensburg Chapter. Ironically, this hog was the first hog numbered for the show and still wore the number one as he entered the sale ring.

Shaw Packing Company led the buyers list on the remaining champions, purchasing the champion market steer shown by Kim Hopple for $1.30 per pound, the champion market lamb shown by Michelle Walker for $1.75 per pound, and the champion pen of hogs shown by Sandy Hopple for $1.05 per pound.

This sale is no stranger to quality animals and excellent prices. This year's sale consisted of three market steers, 42 market hogs, and 30 market lambs. There was a 50 percent increase in the number of lambs sold over the previous year. The steers averaged $1.05/pound. The sheep averaged $1.22/pound, and the hogs averaged $1.34/pound. The sale is organized by the Cumberland County Vocational Agriculture teachers, with the assistance of their students. Prior to the sale, over 100 perspective buyers receive a letter explaining the purpose of the sale and encouraging them to participate.

Several other individuals in addition to the vo-ag teachers donate their time annually to this sale. Shippensburg Community Fair swine chairman Bob Finkensbinder helps organize the hogs, while Rick Foreman, a former FFA member, donates his auctioneering skills.

At this livestock sale it's obvious that students and the teachers both get their homework done before the sale.

At Shippensburg Fair's livestock sale, Shaw Packing bought Michelle Walkers champion market lamb for $1.75 per pound.

FAIR Days

Allentown Fair Entries Being Accepted

ALLENTOWN — Entries of exhibits and livestock for the 134th Allentown Fair are being accepted in Agricultural Hall now through Saturday, Aug. 9.

Registration hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. everyday except Sundays. Friday, Aug. 8 the hours will be extended until 8 p.m., and Saturday, Aug. 9, closing day, they will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The entry fee is $6 and includes admission to the grounds fair week.

Exhibits to be judged and displayed fair week range from farm and garden products to domestics and fine arts. Animals to be entered include cattle, swine, sheep, poultry, pigeons, rabbits and caviars.

A special category in celebration of the statue of Liberty and Ellis Island restoration has been added this year. Prizes will be awarded for all types of memorabilia relating to the two national landmarks forming a special exhibit in Ag Hall. Any photos, souvenirs, memoirs, or other relics relating to the statue or island will be considered for entry.

Premium lists, containing entry procedures and rules and regulations, are available at the fair office behind the Ritz Bar-B-Q.

Schuylkill County Fair Opens Aug. 13

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN — The Schuylkill County Fair will officially begin at 5 p.m. Wednesday Aug. 13 and continue through Sunday, Aug. 17. Opening ceremonies will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday and will be followed by entertainment by the Cressona Band. The Fair is open daily 10 a.m. through 11 p.m. except Sunday, when the Fair will close at 6 p.m.

Admission is free, but there is a $2 parking fee. Nightly entertainment includes Cheyenne on Thursday, the Jordan Brothers Plus on Friday, Whiskey River, Saturday, and the Kerstetter Family and Bill Allison Gospel music, Sunday.

Premium books with entry information are available from Pennsylvania National Bank offices. Everyone is eligible to enter. Last year's fair boasted over 2,000 entries.

Transportation on the fairgrounds from the parking area to the exhibition area will be provided from 6 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday; from 5:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Saturday; and from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The fair is completely organized and run by volunteers, and more are needed to keep the Fair growing. For more information, contact Ray Gaston of Orwigsburg. "We need lots of help putting the final touches on things," Gaston said.

Montgomery Co. 4-H Steer Show

Tara Bernhard of Harleysville will be among the 4-H'ers participating in the annual 4-H Steer Show to be held Friday, August 15, as part of the Montgomery County 4-H Fair, August 14-16 at the 4-H Center, Route 113, near Skippack. Tara was last year's champion showman and hopes to capture top honors again. The public is invited to the fair which runs from August 14-16. Call 489-4315 for a detailed schedule.

Westmoreland Co. Fair Scheduled

SCOTSDALE — The 1986 Westmoreland County Fair will get under way Saturday, August 17, running through Saturday, August 24, at the County Fairgrounds at Mutual.

The fair will feature the annual competitive exhibits of open class, 4-H and FFA livestock, agricultural products, and home economics displays of food, needlecraft, etc. The agricultural exhibit building will open on Monday from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.; 4-H exhibit building will open on Monday from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. These buildings will be open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Commercial exhibit buildings will open Monday at 5 p.m. and Tuesday through Saturday at 1 p.m., staying open until 10 p.m.

A change in the judging timetable will allow more of the prime-time fair visitors to view the judging of some species of livestock. Tuesday, August 19 at 6 p.m., market goats will be evaluated in the small arena. At 7 p.m., market lambs will be judged. On Wednesday evening, August 20 at 7:30 p.m., Brown Swiss dairy cattle will be judged.

Special free events in the Show Arena and Small Arena for fairgoers begin on Monday evening with opening ceremonies and the 4-H Queen Contest beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The Junior Livestock Sale, at which 4-H and FFA youth will sell market steers, hogs and lambs shown at the fair, will start at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, August 22.

Admission to the Westmoreland County Fair is $2 for adults and 50 cents for children (6-12), and weekly passes are available for $6 and $2, respectively.

Entry information and schedules are available through the Westmoreland County Extension Service in Greensburg and many agricultural businesses throughout the county.

USDA Releases Dietary Guidelines

WASHINGTON — A new set of seven short bulletins issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture can help consumers eat the varied, balanced diet recommended by government nutrition experts.

The set, "Dietary Guidelines and Your Diet," offers supplementary information that helps consumers follow the seven basic dietary guidelines in "Nutrition and Your Health: Dietary Guidelines for Americans" when purchasing, selecting and preparing food. The Dietary Guidelines — published by USDA and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services in 1980 and revised last fall — form the basis of nutrition education policy for the general public.

According to Carole Davis, chief of the Human Nutrition Information Service's guidance and education research branch, each of the seven "minibulletins" focuses on one of the seven Dietary Guidelines and provides information on food composition, food labeling, modifying recipes and menus, and practical ways to follow the guidelines in planning, purchasing and preparing foods. Each also includes a self-assessment quiz or activity to involve readers with the information and encourage them to apply it to their own food practices.

"The tips and recipes in each minibulletin consider all of the guidelines, so you won't find yourself neglecting one to follow another," Davis said. "The guidelines all work together for a healthful diet."

The first minibulletin, "Eat a Variety of Foods," and the second, "Maintain Desirable Weight," from the framework for following a good diet. The first features practical suggestions for selecting foods to get the nutrients you need, Davis said. The second deals with the why and how of weight loss and weight maintenance.

Three of the minibulletins — "Avoid Too Much Fat, Saturated Fat, and Cholesterol," "Avoid Too Much Sugar" and "Avoid Too Much Sodium" — give tips for cutting down on food components.

"Eat Foods with Adequate Starch and Fiber" features suggestions and recipes to help increase the use of vegetables and grain products — foods that are good sources of starch and fiber.

The seventh minibulletin, "If You Drink Alcoholic Beverages, Do So in Moderation," reveals the calorie content of many popular alcoholic beverages and includes recipes for nutritious, nonalcoholic alternatives.

The minibulletins include more than two dozen recipes that provide ways to follow all of the Dietary Guidelines. Developed by USDA nutritionists, these recipes range from dips to entrees to desserts. Nutrition information accompanies each recipe.

The seven 4- to 12-page minibulletins are packaged in an envelope and are available for $4.50. Be sure to order the set by stock number 001-000-04467-2 and include payment. Write to: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20250 or S. Woods, Department 187P, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. GPO accepts VISA or MasterCard for telephone orders; call (202) 783-3238.

A second set of minibulletins, to be issued in 1987, will provide further information on ways to follow the Dietary Guidelines. The second set will cover shopping, menu planning, food preparation, eating out, bag lunches, desserts and snacks, and meals in minutes.

Pa. Students To Attend Co-op Institute

HARRISBURG — Seven Pennsylvania high school students are bound for Knoxville, Tenn., this week courtesy of the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives.

The educational trip to the National Institute on Cooperative Education, was awarded to outstanding students attending the 26th annual PAFC Summer Youth Institute in Huntingdon earlier this month.

Both conferences focus on agriculture and the role cooperatives play in our domestic economy. They also provide a base in general business education and offer opportunities for leadership development and recreation.

Those students awarded the expense-paid trip include Mike

Hall, Lancaster; Mike Heim, Felton; Gwen Grey, Schellsburg; Scott Lemmon, Newburg; Beth Morgan, Birdsboro; and Nat and Rebecca Weinstock, Phoenixville.

Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative is also sponsoring five students from the PAFC Conference. They are Sarah Baker, Bedford; Clifton Brubaker, Loysville; Darlene Coover, Carlisle; Andy Greenleaf, Martinsburg; and Chris Strait, Harrisonville.

Approximately 120 youth from a four-state area attended the PAFC conference. About 400 youth attend the national conference, as well as another 1,100 young farmers; cooperative directors, managers and employees; and agricultural educators.

Late July and early August is a good time to buy or transplant iris for your flower garden. This will give them time to become reestablished before winter.

Iris are easy to grow and require a minimum of care. They will tolerate poor soil as long as they receive full sunshine. Iris are also very drought-resistant.

The German, or bearded, iris need a well drained location. The beardless types, such as Japanese and Siberian iris, grow well in moist soil along a pond or stream; they rarely need to be divided.

Plant your iris with the thick, underground stem or rhizome, partly exposed on the soil surface. New roots will soon grow from the underside of these rhizomes.

In dividing older iris clumps, each "fan" of leaves with attached rhizome will form a new plant. It will usually take these plants about two years to flower. Larger clumps with several "fans" of leaves will flower the next year.

Perennials and biennials are no more difficult to start from seed than annuals—they just take longer to develop. Perennial seeds sown now, in late July or August, will have ample time to grow into small seedlings that will overwinter well and be excellent plants by early next summer.

Easy perennials to start from seed include columbine, foxglove, delphinium, coral bells, shasta daisy, violas, and pansies. Sow seeds in pots or directly into the ground in a shady part of the garden.

Sweet Williams, foxglovers, Canterbury bells, viola, and pansies are biennial plants that can be grown from seed planted in early August. Biennials are plants that have a two-year life cycle and will die after blooming next year.

Seed sown this time of the year needs a little extra care to protect it from the hot sun or drenching thunderstorms. It can be sown in flower pots with a mixture of equal parts of garden soil, coarse sand, and peat moss.

Place the pots in a sheltered location, such as a coldframe or sheltered area for the winter. Early next spring they may be transplanted to the garden where they will flower.

Hanging baskets with cascades of colorful flowers or foliage are becoming more popular every year. Many of them that were bought in early May have grown quite large by now and the root area has become restricted.

If your hanging basket looks a little stretchy and droopy it has probably used up the plant nutrients in the soil and is in need of a dose of fertilizer. The best way to fertilize plants is to apply a diluted solution of soluble fertilizer. Flowering plants need a 5-10-5 fertilizer and foliage plants could use a 10-6-4 fertilizer. Plants that are overgrown can be cut back and reshaped for summer-long beauty.

Tioga County Fair

Self Esteem Helps Children Cope With Stress

NEWARK, Del. — Stress is our body's reaction to any situation or event that frustrates, endangers, excites or confuses us. And being young is no guarantee against stress, says Roxane Whittaker, University of Delaware extension home economist in Kent County.

Whittaker says any experience can cause stress if it changes one's life and requires more than routine adjustment. And stress can accumulate. For example, a teenager may adjust adequately to a family move, but when several other changes occur within the same period, the cumulative effect is a high level of stress.

Each child is unique and may react to stressful situations in a variety of ways. Symptoms of stress may be any of the following in various combinations: sleeplessness, grinding of teeth, poor concentration, fidgeting, irritability, nervous tics, depression, withdrawal, crying, not eating, overeating, high blood pressure, smoking and the use of drugs and alcohol.

The key to reducing stress in a child's life is to limit and manage change when possible, says Whittaker. For example, if a major stressful event occurs, such as divorce or death, try to avoid other major changes in the child's life during the same year.

The key to coping with stress is self esteem and feeling in control of one's life. Parents and teachers intent on creating self esteem in children tend to preach a general gospel of "wonderful," says Sally Foulke, the university's extension home economist in Sussex County. Exaggerating the quality of a child's efforts is an easy road for adults, but it doesn't lead to self esteem for the child.

Self esteem builds only when it is earned. Foulke notes that an eight-year study of 3- to 11-year-olds showed that children develop real self esteem only when they are able to solve problems and hurdle obstacles.

"Parents shouldn't make life too easy for their children," says

Foulke. "Children need to learn to rely on their own resources. Parents should then approve signs of progress."

Whittaker suggests that parents should help their children learn to set and achieve positive goals so that they feel more control over their lives.

After children decide on goals, parents should help them plan several ways to reach their goals, and have them write down a projected accomplishment date.

Stressful events will always occur. But they are usually less traumatic for children who know that many areas of their lives are indeed controllable.

Welcome

Ample
Bus Parking

The reunion will feature a museum building filled with early industrial steam engines - most of them running, and a front display of early farm and home implements such as butchering equipment, sausage stuffers, wooden washing machines, butter churns, seeders, corn shellers and early farm carpentry tools.

You can find anything running there from very early "hit-'n-miss" gas engines once used to pump water, shell field corn, wash clothes, or power a small mill, to large gas-powered tractors.

EVENING PROGRAMS

WEDNESDAY: A threshing demonstration and fiddlin' (with everyone welcome to join in the fiddlin'.)

THURSDAY: Warren Mercer will play for square dancing, so bring and swing your partner.

FRIDAY: Steam and gas games and competition. This is a don't-miss evening with contests the like of which you have never seen before, like the "How slow can you go?" (without stalling) event and precision handling of tons of powered iron.

SPECIAL FEATURE

A special feature of this year's reunion will be a chronological display of many pieces of machinery made by the Hart-Parr/Oliver-White farm machinery company. If this name sounds strange, please remember that modern companies hold no exclusive title to company mergers. A bit of history of these company names and how and when they merged, will be included in the demonstration narrative.

Chester County Youth Compete For Dairy Honors At 4-H Round-Up

KIMBERON — The Chester County 4-H Dairy Round-up was held at the Kimberton Fair Grounds Saturday, July 19. 4-H members from Chester County's five dairy clubs showed over 70 animals, competing for ribbons in type, showmanship, and fitting. Judges for type were Dennis Patrick, herd manager of Rothrock Farm in Lehigh County, and Jerry Myers, a professor of dairy science at Delaware Valley College in Bucks County. Judging showmanship and fitting were Bruce Kreider, extension dairy agent in Dauphin County, and Alan Kozak, extension dairy agent in Centre County. The senior showman and fitter champion was Tiffany Yeager of Spring City, showing a senior 2-year-old Jersey cow. The reserve champion senior showman and fitter was Duane Stoltzfus of Morgantown, who showed a 5-year-old Holstein cow. Junior showmanship and fitter champion went to Kelli Huzzard of Spring City and her 4-year-old Holstein cow, while reserve junior champion showman and fitter honors went to Troy Hendricks of Kimberton and his senior yearling Jersey heifer.

Henry Yorgey of Spring City, took first year showman honors, and Owen Bewley of West Chester, took reserve champion first year showman honors. Yorgey and Bewley switched placings in the first year fitting contest, with Bewley taking first year champion fitter and Yorgey taking reserve champion first year fitter.

Type judging was very competitive, with Duane Stoltzfus of Morgantown, taking grand champion Holstein honors with his 5-year-old Pennwood Earl Sophia. Reserve grand champion Holstein went to Dwight Stoltzfus of Morgantown, with his 3-year-old Pennwood BF Sandra. Junior champion Holstein honors went to Lauri Hicks of West Chester, with her senior yearling Maplebound Maple Donna. Reserve junior champion Holstein honors went to Henry Yorgey of Spring City, with his Intermediate Calf Hewitts Maestro Marie.

ALUMINUM EBY GOOSENECK TRAILERS, Standard Specifications:

LENGTHS AVAILABLE: 14' to 28' (longer lengths available as option)
WIDTHS: 96" Standard - 102" Optional
HEIGHT: 6'6" Standard - 7'6" Optional

A versatile, lightweight, Eby aluminum stock trailer is built to provide years of maintenance free service. An Eby trailer is custom built to fit your individual hauling needs - No mass production! We use only quality components and strong alloy aluminum to manufacture what may be the last trailer you'll ever buy.

CONSIDER THE FEATURES OF AN EBY ALL-ALUMINUM TRAILER

LIGHTWEIGHT
Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.

MAINTENANCE
Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.

DURABILITY
Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components of 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

Weight Gain During Pregnancy Expected, Necessary

PITTSBURGH — The emphasis today is on the slim and trim figure, something that puts even more stress on the expectant mother. Think about it! How many times have you heard someone greet a pregnant woman with a hearty, "My aren't you looking fat?"

The response should be, "No, I'm looking pregnant." Indeed it is clear that pregnancy is not a time for dieting and weight loss. Weight gain during pregnancy is expected and necessary for a healthy mom and baby.

A certain amount of the weight gain helps meet the demands of the developing infant including an increased blood supply. Some of the weight helps keep the mothers' nutrient stores at a level that will support both pregnancy and breastfeeding. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends a weight gain of at least 24 pounds with a range of about 24 to 28 pounds.

One of the important points to consider is that weight gain should be gradual with about a ten-pound gain during the first half of pregnancy. The early months are a period of cell formation with each phase being critical for a different part of the developing human. Cell expansion and growth escalates during the last half of pregnancy, something which dramatically affects the need for energy and nutrients. Weight gain of the mother during the last three months is generally about one pound a week, much of which is due to expanding size of the developing baby.

The theme for eating should be "eat smart." Adequate calories and a balance of nutrients to meet the recommended daily allowances are critical throughout pregnancy. Of special concern are some nutrients which are often low in the diets of women, folic acid (a B vitamin) and the minerals iron and calcium.

Eating smart means including a variety of foods from all of the major food groups. Pregnant women should include extra amounts of dairy foods, at least four daily servings. Yogurt, milk, and cheese are examples. Such foods provide extra protein, the much needed calcium, Vitamin B 12, Riboflavin and Vitamin D. No other food group can supply calcium in the quantity and quality necessary to meet the needs of pregnancy.

Meat and alternatives to meat such as fish, chicken, dried beans, eggs, and peanut butter should be increased slightly to three servings each day. In addition to protein, such foods supply iron, folic acid, magnesium, and zinc.

Vegetables and fruits should be continued at the pre-pregnancy level of at least four servings a day. This is a food group which is the major source of Vitamins C and A. These foods also provide Folic Acid, iron, water and a variety of trace vitamins and minerals.

Fiber, an important part of food is found in both fruits and vegetables and in the final food group, Breads and Cereals. Rice, cereal, pasta, bagels, tortillas, and other breads are all examples. The key is to include four servings each day of whole grains or enriched products since these are the sources of the important nutrients iron and the B vitamins, thiamin and niacin.

If this sounds like a lot of food, it isn't! Good food habits are necessary for healthy mothers and babies. Although a pregnant woman isn't eating for two, she does need about 300 extra calories each day. Women who limit weight gain or who choose foods without concern for nutrient balance raise the risk of delivering a low birth weight baby. Such infants start life trying to catch up on growth and brain development.

Chester County 4-H Dairy Champions

A showing class was also held for those children too young for 4-H. The judges found it too difficult to determine which exhibitor was best, so the 12 tykes in the class received a blue ribbon.

25 Years of People Power

Life is a series of experiences and thresholds. Recently, I just crossed my 25-year threshold of working for the Penn State Extension Service, and what a wonderful experience it has been.

I consider it a privilege to have had the opportunity to work with so many interesting people and to work so closely with agriculture these past 25 years. To all of you who helped to fill my life with wonderful memories and experiences I say "Thank you; it's been great." Hopefully, I've been able to contribute as much to your lives as you've contributed to mine.

Life as an Extension Agent isn't all a bed of roses. In addition to the long hours, the irregular hours and the weekend details, there also is the nuisance of paper work, reports, committee work, governmental policies, budgetary crunches, help shortages, misunderstandings, and too much to do with too little time to do it. Sounds like farming, doesn't it? But overriding all of this is the reward and satisfaction of working with and helping people. They've taught me so much, and they've kept my batteries charged.

If there is one thing I've learned in these 25 years it's that there are a lot of great people out there. Most of them are very appreciative of what you do for them, and are supportive of worthwhile programs.

I've always been impressed by how willing people are to share their experiences, their time and their talent in an effort to help someone else. This may be in the form of lending a helping hand to a neighbor in need, serving as a volunteer leader or as a member of an advisory committee. Others host tours and barn meetings or perform as speakers and panelists on programs.

It has also been rewarding to watch young people grow up into mature, responsible citizens. What a thrill it is to see a shy, young 4-H'er develop the poise and confidence necessary to give a winning set of oral reasons in a statewide judging contest. It's great to observe how young people set goals, develop skills and then become role models to other young people, with whom they freely share their talents.

I can also remember when a 4-H club was concerned about the hungry people in Ethiopia. They conducted a show halter raffle at our 4-H dairy show and donated the proceeds to an Ethiopia project. Their actions inspired others to contribute, and the judge was so moved by their concern and efforts that he also donated his honorarium to the cause.

It's fun too, to watch young people learn how to work together, to conduct their own club meetings and to democratically arrive at group decisions. In the arena of competition, young people learn to set high standards of achievement for themselves. It is also satisfying to watch these young people share their skills with other young competitors, and to watch them become humble winners and good "losers" — we try to get them to not think of themselves as losers.

I have a lot of faith in young people, and it's a great feeling to know that you've been involved with programs like 4-H that have helped people become excellent examples for others to follow.

I have also had great satisfaction in working with farm families helping young people get started in farming, helping more mature (more experienced) members of the family phase out of farming, helping farmers through rough financial and emotional situations, and helping them with a variety of herd and crop management concerns. I've also been fortunate in having many opportunities to work with friends in ag industry, agricultural organizations, and in the news media; they have been very supportive.

These thoughts may not do much to help you manage your herd, your crops or your finances. But, there is more to life than cows, crops and money; occasionally, we need to reflect on our life's goals and our relationships with people.

This might sound like I am writing my farewell. Not so. I've had 25 great years, and I hope to have many more. It's just my way of saying thank you for the good times; there are many great people in this world, and I am very fortunate to have been associated with so many of them.

Va. Apple Butter Contest

Set For Sept. 20

WINCHESTER, Va. — The Virginia Championship Apple Butter Making Contest will be held Saturday, Sept. 20, in the Winchester Recreation Park. The annual event is held in conjunction with the Rotary Club's Apple Harvest Festival and offers participants an opportunity to win over $700 in prize money.

The contest is sponsored by the Frederick County Extension Service and the Winchester/Frederick County Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the area apple producers and support businesses. The apple butter must be made in the park on the day of the contest and can be sold on both Saturday and Sunday during the festival.

If you are interested in trying to unseat the 1985 Virginia Apple Butter Making Champions, John and Sherry Smith from Bunker Hill, W. Va., contact the Frederick County Extension Service by writing to Second Floor, Frederick County Courthouse, Winchester, VA 22601, or phoning 703-665-5699, for rules and entry forms.

When Depression Hits Strike Back With Positive Action

NEWARK, Del. — Everyone has a bad day now and then, a discouraging day when nothing seems to go right. Most people bounce back from such down moods, but for others depression is an ongoing, self-destructive, downward spiral which becomes increasingly hard to overcome.

One of the world's oldest ailments, depression has been called the common cold of mental illness. Knowing its symptoms may help save a life — your own or someone else's.

Farmers and their families are as vulnerable as anyone to attacks of depression, says University of Delaware extension family specialist Dr. Patricia Tanner Nelson, especially during times of crisis. Feelings of hopelessness and despair are often triggered by some personal loss, such as divorce, death of a loved one, loss of a job or failure of a crop.

How can you tell if you or someone else is depressed? Symptoms vary with the individual, Nelson says. Some people have many, others only a few. Here are some of the indicators:

- Unhappy appearance — sad face, slow movements, unkept look;
- Guilt and low self-esteem — "It's my fault things aren't going right, I should be punished, I am a failure, Nobody cares about me";
- Less than normal activity — "Doing anything is too much effort";
- Difficulty concentrating;
- Withdrawal from other people;
- Stress-related physical problems — difficulty sleeping, weight loss or gain, decreased sexual interest, headaches;
- Suicidal thoughts — "I'd be better off dead; I wonder if it hurts to die."

People who have learned to cope with depression know that when they start to feel emotionally down it's time to take positive action.

"Depression is often relieved by participation in planned activities," the family specialist says. "When you're depressed, become involved in church functions, daily farm chores, Grange or other meetings — even if you don't feel like it. Get busy doing things you usually enjoy. Stay in touch with family and friends. Fight the physical slowdown of depression by exercising. Take a walk, jog, bowl. Exercise is a safe way to release the turbulent feelings that often accompany depression. Keep your energy level high by eating a balanced diet. Read self-help articles and books to understand the emotions you're feeling."

Important as these efforts are, they may not always be enough to fight your way up from the depths of depression. At times you may need assistance.

"If you experience severe mood swings, feel your life is getting out of control, or are contemplating suicide, seek help," Nelson says. "Also seek help if you suspect your depression is related to other problems that require professional aid or think you would feel better if you talked with an experienced counselor. To find help, ask your doctor, a trusted nurse, your pastor or a close friend to recommend a good therapist. Or contact a mental health center, usually listed in the phone book under mental health services."

What if someone close to you is depressed? How can you help?

"Depressed people can be very difficult to be around," says Nelson. "Yet they need more than the usual amount of understanding and support from friends and family."

People who are depressed sometimes treat those close to them with disturbing anger and lack of concern. Because they feel unworthy, they may question the sincerity of others. Some withdraw to the point where it's virtually impossible to include them in activities that would help them feel happier or more hopeful.

Nelson says one of the best ways to help a depressed friend or relative is to simply be available. Let the person know you care and are concerned. Be a good listener. Don't pressure the person to "Snap out of it" or "Put on a happy face." Don't claim to know exactly how the person feels, but if you've had a similar experience consider sharing that. It might help. Urge the depressed person to seek professional counsel.

Be alert for hints or threats of suicide. If you think suicide is an immediate possibility, don't leave the person. Contact a mental health professional for help immediately.

Mild depression is common, and is usually of short duration. Chronic depression, on the other hand, feeds on itself, dragging down the sufferer. Once recognized, however, there are effective ways to combat it.

For a happier, more productive life, Nelson urges farmers and their families to be aware of the symptoms of depression and to take positive action against it.

Franklin Co. 4-H'ers Host New Yorkers

CHAMBERSBURG — Twenty six families in Franklin County hosted 4-H'ers from Canandaigua, N.Y., this week as part of a two-year exchange program.

Robert Kessler, Franklin County 4-H agent, said the 24 4-H'ers and three chaperones arrived from New York on Monday evening and were hosted at a covered dish supper. After a free day on Tuesday, the group visited Washington, D.C. Wednesday to learn more about our nation's Capital.

The group also enjoyed the rides at Hershey Park, and many of the families visited the Amish area in Lancaster County. Saturday evening, the group will enjoy a chicken barbecue and covered dish supper and music by "Blue Jeans." The New Yorkers will visit the Battlefield at Gettysburg Sunday before returning home.

This is the second year of the two-year exchange program. Franklin County 4-H'ers visited the Canandaigua area last year to learn about their culture and how their 4-H program operates.

NOTICE
Dangler & Williams arch support specialists from Ohio are now making regular trips to your area. (PA, DE, VA & MD).

They will be giving free footprints to see if you need arch supports.

The arch supports are hand crafted from a light-weight leather made from impressions of your feet. Your feet are like the foundation of a building. If you strain your feet, it can cause you to have trouble in other parts of the body.

Anyone interested in a free examination please contact us, write or call.

by OMAHA STANDARD

Real
POWER!

- 52" or 60" heavy gauge sides give you more hauling capacity for grain, sugar beets and other commodities.
- "Clean Flow" design of the extra deep 30° sidewall corrugations allows complete emptying with no sharp corners for grain to hang up
- Greater inside width and length make this an ideal body for hauling bagged or palletized products.
- Standard three section full opening rear doors
- Complete your "Grain Power" package with an Omaha Standard work-proven hoist. Choose from the most complete line of scissor or stabilized "Olympic" telescopic hoists.
- Compare any of Omaha Standard's full line of steel, aluminum or wood grain bodies and rugged hoists. You'll know why Omaha Standard is the most respected name at work on the farm today

See us right away-the sooner the better

How to rake it all in, without wearing yourself out.

Grass clippings are bad enough, but the leaves? It's just getting to be too much! And there's no need to rake and bag the stuff by hand.

Now John Deere makes lawn cleanup easy. With a full line of material collection systems matched to John Deere riding mowers and tractors.

These systems come in a variety of combinations. Choose a twin-hopper 6½-bushel system for riding mowers, lawn tractors and 200 and 300 Series Lawn and Garden Tractors. Or the new 6½-bushel Power Flow unit for tractors with 46- or 50 inch mowers.

Big cleanup jobs demand big artillery. And John Deere's got it in pairs for 300 and 400 Series Tractors. The Tilt Dump and the Hydraulic Dump Systems have a unique variable-speed PTO-driven fan. Speed it up for added efficiency when leaves or clippings are deep and soggy. Slow it down and save fuel when the stuff is dry and thinly layered.

When the 13-bushel hoppers are full, both models let you dispose of the material right from the driver's seat. No ropes to untie, no collection bags to unfasten or unzip.

Don't wear yourself out behind a rake. Get help from the number one name on lawns, John Deere. Come on in.

Livestock Champions Named At Lebanon Area Fair

Bow, Emrich take Top Sheep Honors

LEBANON — Melanie Bow came to the Lebanon Area Fair with high hopes for her Suffolk wether and she wasn't to be disappointed. Show judge Chester Hughes selected Melanie's wether champion market lamb of the Fair Wednesday evening.

"He's a real flashy animal," Melanie said after the show. "I had some real high hopes for him."

Melanie's 132-pound homebred wether placed first in the heavyweight division, topping a 248-pound lamb entered by her chief competitor, Heather Emrich. Heather's lamb was named reserve champion.

Melanie, the 18-year-old daughter of Ben and Mary Bow, R1 Annville, is no newcomer to the show ring. She has won numerous championships at the Lebanon Fair and has shown her lambs at Farm Show and Keystone International.

The Bows raise both Corriedales and Suffolks and have about 65 breeding sheep and 20 replacements on their farm.

Heather's reserve champion was a homegrown Polled Dorset wether. Following the show, Heather said she was surprised to have done so well. "Usually horned lambs don't do so well, so I was really pleased," she said.

Heather is the 16-year-old daughter of Henry and Anna Emrich of R1 Annville. The Emrichs have about 25 Dorsets on their Friendly Persuasion Dorest Farm.

In the breeding show, which had only a handful of entries, the tables were turned with Heather taking both the 4-H and FFA supreme champion ewes and Melanie claiming reserve champion ewe. Melanie showed the champion 4-H ram, a Corriedale lamb, and Heather took the FFA champion ram with a Dorset lamb.

Heather's breed champion ewes were both Dorset yearlings. The FFA champion was a homebred lamb and the 4-H champ was purchased from Stavers of Palmyra.

Melanie claimed the reserve champion ewe with a Suffolk entry.

The two show veterans also battled for showmanship honors, with Melanie edging out Heather for the top placing.

Below are results from both the breeding and market lamb shows.

National All-Jersey Continues Progress

COLUMBUS, Ohio — National All-Jersey is continuing its efforts to obtain multiple component pricing for federal orders and higher minimum standards on fluid milk, reported Richard Clauss, Hilmar, Ca., president of NAJ, at the recent National All-Jersey Inc. annual meeting.

"We must have your support as we continue to look for new markets and educate the people on the advantages of using high protein milk," Clauss said to the membership.

Chances are good that future production will have to parallel an increasing market, not a declining market, predicted Clauss. A combination of decreased production caused by the Dairy Termination Program and increased sales caused, in part, by the National Dairy Board's milk promotion program will be responsible for this, he said.

NAJ has returned an additional $50 million to Jersey owners in the past 28 years and over $2.5 million to The American Jersey Cattle Club, said Executive Secretary Maurice E. Core in his report to the membership.

"We should never reduce our efforts to obtain full value for the product of our Jersey cow," Core said.

The Equity Program, launched ten years ago, has made tremendous progress, according to Calvin Covington, assistant secretary to the NAJ. Its goals have been to work towards the nationwide establishment of an equitable milk pricing system and the development of specialized markets where sellers of higher than average protein milk can be paid for their milk in relationship to its yielding ability.

"Today there are hundreds of Equity markets in 30 states," said Covington. "As a result of Equity Pricing, Jersey dairymen received over $20 million additional income in 1985.

"The most important progress to date in Equity Pricing took place this past March when the first hearing to consider component pricing in a Federal Order was held."

The plan is proposed for the Great Basin Marketing Order. It would price milk based on pounds of fat and protein plus the appropriate class differentials.

"We will continue to do all we can to implement component pricing in other orders," said Covington.

Increasing minimum standards for fluid milk is also a main concern of NAJ.

"All-Jersey strives to provide the consumer with the best fluid milk possible," Covington said. "The dairy industry would be much more viable today if all dairymen and plants would use this philosophy."

Under other business, Bill Barlass, Janesville, WI, was elected as an NAJ director, and Richard Riggs, Evansville, IN, was re-appointed as director-at-large. Ex-officio directors include Dr. J.J. Malnati, Newberry, SC, and Harold Wright, White River Junction, Vt. David Spahr, Findlay, OH, as current president of the AJCC, will also serve on the NAJ Board of Directors.

Shorthorn Assoc. Honors Eisiminger

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, August 2, 1986-C3

OMAHA, Nebr. — Dr. Roger Hunsley, executive secretary-treasurer of the American Shorthorn Association, recently announced that Bradley Eisiminger of Waynesburg, Pa., has been named one of seven national "Builder of the Breed" recipients.

Woodside Farm, owned by Eisiminger, is one of the oldest Shorthorn herds in the country, with its establishment dating back to 1883. Eisiminger is the fourth generation of his family to breed and show Woodside Shorthorns. Together with his wife, Shirley, and son Bret, they are continuing the success story their ancestors began.

Eisiminger exhibits breeding cattle and feeder steers at many county and state fairs, at the Eastern National Livestock Exposition, the Keystone International Livestock Show, the Pennsylvania Farm Show and the State Shorthorn Show. Their senior herd sire, JAF Major Duke 78 X, was a two-time All-American nominee and won reserve calf champion bull honors at the 1979

National Shorthorn Show in Kentucky. He was also the champion bull at the Keystone International and at several state fairs. Another winner for the Eisimingers has been Woodside Cynthia Rose who was champion in the cow and calf class in 1981 and 1982 at the Eastern National.

The firm has been a strong supporter of Shorthorn sales. Eisiminger helped to organize the Pennsylvania Association Fall Sale, and he is responsible for organizing and hosting the Keystone Autumn Classic Shorthorn Sale each fall at their Woodside Farm. He provides about half of the 40 head of cattle usually cataloged and invites other breeders from surrounding states to supply the rest of the Shorthorns for the sale.

Eisiminger has been a member of the American Shorthorn Association for 40 years. He is a director of the Mason-Dixon and Pennsylvania Shorthorn Associations, a member of the Maryland Shorthorn Association and serves on the sale committee in the Eastern Ohio Shorthorn Association.

He helped organize and is currently president of the Greene County Cattlemen's Association, has been a director of the Greene County Fair Board since 1979 and is a member of the Central Greene Vocational Agriculture Advisory Board.

Nominations Due For NY Cattlemen's Direct Marketing Program

CORNING, N.Y. — Nominations for the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association Direct Marketing Program of feeder cattle, both beef and dairy, are due Aug. 18.

Marketing coordinator Lee Kraszewski of Corning said response by producers and potential buyers has been good to date.

The state-wide program has been developed and implemented by the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association to offer producers a marketing alternative that can bring them better prices for their cattle that are preconditioned and that meet grade and eligibility standards. The program is funded in part by a grant of $30,000 from the State Department of Ag & Markets. Working with the Cattlemen's Association in the development and implementation are Cornell University and the Department of Ag & Markets.

Peter Nixon of Westfield, president of the Cattlemen's Association, explained the reasons for the development of the program. "Effective and competitive marketing has always been a problem for our New York State beef producers, most of whom are part-time cattlemen with small herds. These producers often lack the time to search out the best marketing alternative and they lack the number of feeders to attract buyers with competitive prices."

Kraszewski explained that after a producer indicates his interest in direct marketing by nominating his beef or dairy feeder cattle (before Aug. 18) an on-farm evaluation will be scheduled. At the time of the on-farm evaluation the producer will make the actual decision to participate by signing the form committing his feeder cattle. This commitment will include weaning them at least 28 days before the Nov. 8 assembly and required vaccinations.

Feedlot operators will be contacted and will submit bids based on weight, sex and grade description of the cattle available. The national eight market average prices will be used as the base for all bids, Kraszewski explained.

Several informational meetings have been scheduled to give New York producers more details about this Direct Marketing program. These meetings will be at 7 p.m. Aug. 4 at Wegman's Market meeting room in Corning; at 7 p.m. Aug. 5 at the Country House in Syracuse; at 7 p.m. Aug. 6 at the Genesee County Cooperative Extension Office in Batavia and at 7 p.m. Aug. 7 at the Schoharie County Cooperative Extension office at Cobleskill.

'Better Beef' Program Outlined At Md. Angus Field Day

BY SHARON SCHUSTER
Maryland Correspondent
WEST FRIENDSHIP, Md. — Approximately 100 Angus enthusiasts gathered at the Moxleys' Dawn Acres Angus farm here for the Maryland Angus Association's annual field day on Sunday, July 27.

After a tour of the farm and inspection of the prize-winning Dawn Acres herd, the crowd heard a few brief remarks from Dr. Arthur Bartenslager, president of the American Angus Association. He stressed the importance of one of the association's goals, which is to increase membership nationwide. His plan involves a simple but effective strategy for growth; "everyone get one new member for the national membership."

Bartenslager spent most of the day talking to the guests on a one-to-one basis. The doctor of veterinary medicine said that he has a purebred Angus herd of 300 for commercial use. "We produce bulls that commercial breeders can use," he explained. His 615 acre farm is located in Churchville, Virginia. Originally from Pennsylvania, Bartenslager said his family fed for the Lancaster market.

Chief Operating Executive Officer for the AAA, Dick Spader, expounded on the comments of the president. "There are some positive things going on in the Angus industry," he began. "About one-third of the new people who come into the Angus industry say they have gotten started because of attending an organizational activity." Spader said that promotion is a big part of the industry's success. "We spend about $2 on every registration on national advertising," he explained.

Referring to the Angus Herd Improvement Records program, Spader said that the organization plans to revive the National Sire Evaluation program and place more emphasis on their findings. "We know a great deal about this breed, particularly the carcass. But, that's just a drop in the bucket. We want to develop the best programs we can to identify where superior genetics are." Communicating information to breeders will soon take new form in a computer that Spader said will be able to interface with home computers.

Commenting on the eight-year-old Certified Angus Beef program, he reported that the CAB program doubled sales in 1984-85 and is expected to do so again. Spader said that a Certified Angus feeder program is also in the works. "It is a long-range program to bring value back to the producer," he explained.

The featured speaker for the field day was a Hereford breeder from Mississippi, Fred Stokes. He explained the Better Beef Marketing program that is soon to be instituted in the Midwest. "It started about a year ago in Wisconsin," he explained. A committee was formed to investigate the question, "Is it possible to market beef at a profit, and if so, how?" The study, completed in May, "felt that a co-op was proper organization."

"Our thinking is sort of upside down," he continued. We don't pay much attention to the bottom line. The USDA indicated that the average producer loses $208 per head, and the average retailer makes $1.02 per pound with the average carcass yielding 407 pounds of retail cuts." Stokes said, "We need to avoid the swinging sledge hammer of the supermarket chains. It's hard to believe that the guy who is slicing the pie is going to give you a bigger piece."

The plan developed by the Better Beef Marketing committee involves beef producers selling their fed animals to a centrally located co-op, which will in turn sell the beef to specialized markets, avoiding competition with the retail chains. The profits would then be returned to the coop and divided among those who sold cattle to it.

Selling cattle to the coop would involve a fee of about $5 per head that the producer intends to market through the co-op. After the program has become established, the prevailing market price would determine the fee. At the coop drop point, the animals would be made trade ready, sold, expenses subtracted, and profits divided among those who sold.

"We're going to determine what our customers want," explained Stokes. He said that the co-op would deal with "niches in the marketplace," such as the hotel, restaurant and institutional trade. "These consumers welcome the opportunity to buy a quality product from an organization such as this."

Referring to the plan as making use of "strategic alliances," Stokes said "we're not going to have a top-heavy corporate structure." With the packing industry overbuilt, he said that only 40 percent of the existing facilities are being used. The marketing plan calls for use of these existing facilities rather than heavy capitol expenditures, such as building packing plants and office buildings.

Some concern was expressed by those in attendance concerning competition with the already established Certified Angus Beef

Fresh from his win at the Maryland Angus Breeders Show only the day before, Mark Moxley displays his calf champion, DA Nightingale, at Angus Field Day. Moxley also compaigned the event's grand champion female and was named premier exhibitor.

Program. "I would like to think the programs will be compatible," commented Stokes. "We will have a product that is very similar." Stokes said that while 3.2 million pounds of beef were sold through the project at $10 million, at $288 per head premium over other retail brands of beef, the problem with the CAB program is that the producer doesn't get the premium. Therein lies the biggest difference in the two beef marketing programs. Stokes said that "the prime beneficiary" in the new program will be the producer.

The Better Beef Marketing program will start in the Midwest. The organization is trying to raise $3.5 million to build this first system. "I believe that there is room for the producer and the retailer to make a profit; we feel this is the way to go," said Stokes.

Mississippi Hereford breeder, Fred Stokes, outlined an innovative program called Better Beef Marketing at the Maryland Angus Assoc. Field Day.

12 Sheep Breeds To Show at ENLS

WEST FRIENDSHIP, Md. — The Eastern National Livestock Show has upgraded the Open Class Sheep Show for 1986. Under the direction of the new superintendent, Jack Price of Westminster, Maryland, 12 breeds will be exhibited. In the wool breeds shown will include Corriedale, Columbia, Merino, Rambouillet, and Romney. Cheviot, Dorset, Hampshire, Montadale, Shropshire, Southdown, and Suffolk represent the meat-type breeds.

Superintendent Price has secured the nationally recognized judge, Mr. Max Woolever from Greenup, Illinois, to place the entire Open Show. Approximately 500-600 head of sheep are expected to be entered by the closing date, September 2, 1986.

The shows are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, September 29-30, at the State Fair Grounds at Timonium, Maryland. At 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 30, 1986, the second Bred, Exposed, and Open Ewe Sale will be held with Dorsets, Hampshires, and Suffolks offered.

Southwest Angus Symposium Addresses Marketing Problems

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — In the cattle business today, "A handshake will not do—you always need a contract". That's some of the advice given to cattle producers at the Texas and Southwest Angus Symposium June 28 in Dallas, Texas.

The legal and financial portion of the symposium was covered by a panel of two lawyers and a CPA, who are in the cattle business or involved with it. They urged documentation of all cattle transactions, both for the parties involved, and for the IRS.

Dwight Hartley, Hartley Angus, Chalk Mountain, Texas, said that contracts are important because, "You forget, they forget. Put it in writing and there is seldom any misunderstanding."

"People never say the same thing twice in a row," explained Carl Dudensing of 4-D Ranch, New Ulm, Texas. "That's why you shouldn't use an oral contract." But it is not necessary to go to a lawyer, Dudensing said, you can simply write a letter to the person involved and spell out the details of the transaction. You sign it and ask that the other person sign a copy and return it to you.

Both lawyers and Houston CPA Kelly Simmons explained that big changes are coming in tax laws that affect investments in cattle.

"The days of the big tax shelters are dead," Simmons told the group. Limited partnerships are sure to be classified as a "passive investment", Simmons said, and thus ineligible to be written off as a business investment. The key to successful investments in the future will be "Material Participation" in the cattle business, Dudensing said.

However, the men seemed convinced that the new tax laws, if passed substantially as they are now written, will not bring an end to investment in the cattle business. "You can still have a very fine cattle breeding business within the confines of the Senate Bill," Dudensing said.

The symposium was sponsored by the Texas Angus Association as part of their 50th anniversary celebration. In addition to the legal and tax panel, the program featured panel discussions on herd management, herd ownership and registered cattle sales.

The need for a detailed marketing plan was emphasized by several participants on "The Salesmen" panel.

Keith Evans, director of public relations and communications for the American Angus Association urged breeders who want to merchandise registered cattle to follow a five-step plan: 1. Determine the potential for sales. 2. Define your own market area, based upon potential for sales, competition and the like. 3. Determine what kind of cattle that customers in your market area need and want, and what price they will pay. 4. Produce the best cattle possible that fill these needs, and at a competitive price. 5. Use advertising and merchandising to develop top-of-the-mind awareness of your operation in the minds of most of the customers within your marketing area.

"Anyone can buy cattle at a sale," said Tom Burke of the Angus Hall of Fame in Smithville, Missouri, "But we get out of the Angus business because we don't have a marketing plan. When you buy," he emphasized, "Buy with selling in mind."

Greg Garwood, general manager of the Angus Journal echoed the need for planning in his opening comments. "People who succeed in the registered cattle business make the best possible plan of attack and then use the professionals as much as possible," he said.

"Imagination is the key to selling," said David McMahan, owner of Belle Point Ranch, Fort Smith, Arkansas. McMahan urged breeders to improve their situation as it exists today—to analyze the weak spots in their competition and to make sure you don't make these same mistakes.

One of the highlights of the day was J.D. Sartwelle Jr., of Port City Livestock Co., Sealy, Texas. Sartwelle, a market operator and fifth-generation registered Brahman breeder, listed reasons people stay in and get out of the registered business.

People stay in, he said, if they develop a deep conviction that their breed and the cattle they produce can be of value to the commercial cattle world. They also recognize early on that the big end of their bulls will be sold to commercial cattle producers.

Conversely, Sartwelle said, the reason most people get out of the registered business is that they can't sell bulls. They get discouraged and quit.

Sartwelle said that every registered breeder should know the operators of the three markets closest to them. "Invite them out, tell them you need to sell bulls and even offer the man a commission," he said. The local auction is also the best classroom to teach what is going on in the beef cattle industry in your area, Sartwelle concluded.

A great deal of discussion centered around embryo transfer.

Panel moderator, Ken Conway, warned the audience that they should never get into embryo transfer because others are doing it. Embryo transfer is like an intense AI program with a lot more problems.

It must be cost effective, said Bill Marsten. "The cost is high—you must get this back in marketing."

Heslops Awarded Trip

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc., the Northeast's largest milk marketing cooperative, is pleased to announce the selection of Edward and Janet Heslop, from Spencer, New York, to attend the American Institute of Cooperation, National Institute of Cooperative Education (AIC-NICE), August 4-7 at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.

This is the second such trip to be awarded by the Cooperative as part of the Eastern Milk Producers Young Cooperator Program. The program is designed to inform and educate the Cooperative's younger members and to prepare them as future Cooperative leaders.

Earl R. Forwood, President of Eastern Milk Producers, says, "Our Cooperative is again pleased to be sending a couple to this National Cooperative Education Seminar since the younger members are the future strength of our cooperative. The Board of Directors and I feel the Heslops and Eastern will both benefit from participation in programs such as

AIC-NICE."

The Heslops farm outside of Spencer on a 120 acre farm milking 35 head of Holstein cattle. Besides farming, Edward is also a graduate student at Cornell University and Janet has a full-time position off the farm.

The selection of the Heslops is based on their involvement and leadership in the dairy industry and other community groups, as well as their goals for the future of their farm operation and Cooperative.

The Heslops are active members in the District Two Eastern Milk Producers Young Cooperators, Farm Bureau, Broome-Tioga Holstein Club, Finger Lakes Microcomputer Users Group, American Agricultural Economics Association, Agway and the National Federation of Independent Businessmen.

Edward's and Janet's goals for the future include purchasing a larger farm on better soil to improve their profit potential. Edward said, "Here we will continue the active involvement in purebred sales and embryo transplant work."

Are You Letting Stray Voltage Milk Your Profits?

You could be and you might not even know it. University studies show it may make your herd difficult to handle, increase mastitis, and ultimately lead to an overall decrease in your production and profits.

Using computer technology, our survey documents the level of stray voltage and shows you when and where it occurs on your farm.

From the survey report you can determine if stray voltage is milking your profits. If it is, Blackburn has the only guaranteed method of reducing it from both on and off-farm sources.

When we make it so easy to detect and reduce stray voltage it makes sense to find out if your milk output and herd health is less than it could be.

To learn more about stray voltage and its effects call for our free brochure or arrange for a detection survey. We'll put your farm to the test. And put your mind at ease.

Ehrlich gets the jump on fleas.

Fleas feed only on blood. Prior to biting humans they may have fed on skunks, rats or deer. Fleas don't care.

Adult fleas can go two years without a meal, but prefer to eat often. They usually bite humans on the legs, but will jump onto beds and chairs if given a chance. This can be more than just irritating. Fleas are among the most notorious disease carriers in the world.

Allowed to roam your home, one female flea will lay about 450 eggs. Get the jump on fleas before they jump on you. Call Ehrlich for a free inspection, no obligation.

Cumberland County DHIA Monthly Report

June 1986

Cumberland County Dairy Herd Improvement records show that 7,042 cows in 114 herds were on production testing in June according to Duane G. Duncan, County Agent. Of the 95 herds on DHIA, 38 herds have an average fat production of 600 pounds. During the month 78 cows completed their 305 lactation with 650 lbs. of butterfat. DHIA Supervisors working with the dairymen to improve efficiency include Harold Boldosser, 130 Old Gap Road, Carlisle, PA, John Rolar, R.D. #2, Box 97, Newville, PA, Owen McCulloch, R.D. #2, Box 333, Newville, PA, and Shane Henry, R.D. #3, Newville, PA. The following are the highest of actual butterfat in 305 days or less in the county during the month. The age listed is her age at the time of freshening.

You can't afford to plant second best

■ Don't be misled by cheap seed treatments that only provide limited disease protection. The systemic activity of Vitavax® -200 protects your wheat and barley against disease losses from true loose smut, common bunt, scab seedling blight, seed rots and seedling diseases.

■ Vitavax is patented as a growth stimulant. Under field stress conditions, like drought or cool, wet weather, Vitavax-200 treated plants normally emerge faster, develop more extensive root systems and larger crowns, and produce healthier stands that contribute to higher yields.

Vitavax gets to the heart of the problem. ♥ It gets to the heart of the seed.

See Us At Ag Progress Days On Third Street

Bob Wiker of Ronks, PA says his AgTec "retired" his Brand X Sprayer

"The other sprayer would not penetrate sweet corn and I had to save the crop. I talked to a neighbor about my problem and he said the AgTec was the only sprayer to use in sweet corn. So I bought the AgTec and it gave me what I needed in the field — penetration. I got the coverage I needed and I had clean corn."

"Then I tried it on my other crops — tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussel sprouts. Now I spray all 77 acres with Ag-Tec."

"I can't afford to use the other sprayer on my vegetables. The AgTec cuts the cost of chemical application and saves me time in the field which I can use elsewhere. That's a deal I'll take anytime."

FEEDER WAGONS

16', 21', 27' lengths available. A great feature for feeding cattle in meadows or in feed lots. Can be used for feeding round bales. If old gas tanks are used for feeder wagon bottoms, they should be sand blasted. If not, the gas and rust may result in sick cattle or even death. Be safe and buy from us as ours are sand blasted before being painted.

Custom Built Cow Trough Dividers - Gutter Grates & Cattle Guards

For Under $12,000!

Tackles big acreage forage crops, or takes on custom work with profit-making performance and capacity.

If you want the most in crop chopping capacity, step up to the International 881 forage harvester. This heavy duty machine all but guarantees to keep extra men and wagons working with no time consuming waits. And with the increased capacity of the three-row crop unit, you'll finish your chopping jobs in record time. The smooth running, high capacity, 881 harvester is rugged, ideal for large-

Crop units include

- 72 and 90-inch windrow pickup units
- 2 and 3-row crop units
- Ear corn snapper unit
- Ear corn hopper attachment

Besides the obvious advantages of multiple interchangeable crop units, the 881 basic machine has a whole host of convenient, time-saving features.

Remote electric controls give easy, fingertip control of major functions right from the tractor seat. Rotate spout, change deflection angle, start and stop feed rolls at the touch of a button. Ideal for cab equipped tractors.

Four big feed rolls feed material to the cutter-head in a positive manner. Spring-loaded upper rolls compress acre private operations or high capacity custom services. And it's designed for 140 to 190 hp tractors with 1000 RPM PTO. In addition to its sturdy construction and high capacity, the 881 is a versatile machine, able to handle all your forage crops with ease. You'll like the way it can be set up to bring in any type of forage crop with maximum efficiency.

High helix, 12-knife cutterhead has big tonnage capacity while allowing fast ground speeds. Produces fine chop in 3/16 or 5/16 inch lengths.

Equal angle hitch positions hitch point equi-distant between the tractor PTO and implement powershaft knuckle. This permits sharp turns without sacrificing performance, and there's less chatter and vibration. That means longer powerline life.

Compare the 881 with other forage harvesters and see the difference. Check the quality of its chopping performance, its easy operation and its simple service requirements. They all add up to extra value for more profitable management of your forage crops.

KRAUSE TILLAGE INNOVATORS INVENTED THE ROCKFLEX DISC TO BRING PLEASURE TO FARMERS

ALL KRAUSE DISCS
SOLD BY HOOBERS
HAVE THE 8 FEATURES

BELOW

- 1...Rugged, dependable performance.
- 2...Excellent penetration in tough conditions.
- 3...Level job every time.
- 4...Higher resale value when it's time to trade or sell.
- 5...More timely planting.
- 6...More time with the wife.

1. "SUPERSEAL" BEARINGS
Engineered to assure positive greasing directly into the cartridge. The triple lip seals keep grease in, dirt and moisture out.

2. FRAMES
Engineered of super strength steel tubing with cross braces and gussets at major stress points.

3. WHEEL HUBS
Krause Made - Precision machined and regreasable. Every hub passes rigid inspection to assure proper tolerances.

4. TIE RODS AND SPOOLS
Alloy steel tie rods are 1 3/4" in diameter on heavy duty units (1 1/2" on medium duty) - (30% to 70% stronger than many other brands.) There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing. Krause spools are ductile iron, and weigh 20-to 30-lbs. each.

5. OVERLAPPING FRONT DISC GANGS

A unique Krause design for smoother, more uniform field finish. It eliminates the center strip of untilled ground left by conventional tandem discs.

6. "ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS
Krause invented the "Rock-Flex" arm in 1965. This unique C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage. "SuperSeal" bearing is completely encased in rubber to absorb shock.

7. WING HINGES
Krause uses big 1 3/4" diameter bolts on heavy duty units (1 1/2" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area.

8. ROCKER SHAFTS
A full 6" in diameter with big steel tube wheel arms for maximum carrying capacity. Compare ours to other makes!

... THE AXIAL-FLOW SPECIALISTS

case Axial-Flow Combine

DIFFERENT and BETTER from the inside out

HERE'S THE INSIDE DIFFERENCE:

1. An impeller on the front of the rotor draws the crop and air into the rotor and threshing cage.
2. The single rotor threshes and separates the crop. Speed of rotation can be adjusted on the go.
3. Torque-sensing rotor drive automatically regulates belt tension in relation to load.
4. Three-section concaves can be removed and reinstalled by one man in less than 30 minutes. Small-wire and large-wire concaves are available to match different crops. Clearance is easily adjusted with a ratchet handle.
5. A variety of separating grates are available to best handle almost any crop you'll be harvesting.
6. Augers move the grain smoothly, positively to the cleaning sieves. Grain can't bunch up, even on steep hillsides.
7. Opposed-action adjustable sieves remove chaff from the grain.
8. Advanced-design cleaning fan with variable speed drive removes any chaff and foreign material that remains.
9. Positive discharge beater propels straw rearward to the straw spreaders. (Straw chopper is optional.)
10. Wide spread twin-rotor straw spreaders distribute discharge material uniformly and can be removed in seconds for windrowing material.

Why Axial-Flow is superior. On conventional combines, the grain passes between the cylinder and concave only once. Consequently, the threshing action is severe. But with Axial-Flow, grain is threshed several times — repeatedly, but gently — as it spirals around the single, large diameter rotor and passes through the threshing cage. Multiple threshing plus gentle threshing results in less cracked grain, less dockage at the elevator and top price for every bushel.

Centrifugal force replaces straw walkers. Axial-Flow eliminates the need for straw walkers — a substantial source of grain loss with conventional combines. Consequently, the more grain you grow, the more grain you'll save with the more efficient Axial-Flow system.

NEW- HEAVY DUTY FORAGE BOXES BUILT FOR YEARS OF RUGGED SERVICE

SAVE! BUY DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURER

SERIES HD 700

New hydraulic head assembly is designed to be compact for low maintenance. Heavy duty low speed high torque motor eliminates one step down in gear reduction.

SERIES PTO 600

All lumber is high quality pressure treated southern yellow pine #1 dense (select). Many heavy duty features at critical areas make these forage boxes the most rugged ever built.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS, ETC.

Serving Customers Coast to Coast.

Complete TA assemblies for 706 1586 are priced at $595 and come with a Dana Co Heavy Duty Sprag instead of the usual IH sprag. The Dana sprag is guaranteed for 2 years against failure. Sprag kits (includes sprag gear, Dana sprag and piston carrier) and all items for rebuilding your own TA are available to qualified persons. Ramps and carriers for the older style TA's (as in SMTA, 340, 560) are priced at $150 each and carry a 90 day guarantee. We have all the parts needed to rebuild your TA in stock at prices that will save you money. We also have a shop available for complete TA installation. Or you may split your own tractor and bring the center housing to us, which we can rebuild while you wait (approx. 4-6 hrs.) We also stock New and Rebuilt Water Pumps, Dynlife Clutches, Pressure Plates and PTO Drive Gears (Spline fit into pressure plates) for most IH tractors and combines.

We are in need of TA & clutch cores for rebuilding purposes. If you have not returned your cores, please do so or call us for pickup.
Dealers: We are paying cash for cores. If you have quantity, we will pick up.

MASTER MIX SILO-BOOSTER

Why should you use Master Mix SILO-BOOSTER instead of another product? SILO-BOOSTER has been proven in 20 years of on-farm use, as well as in continuous university research. With each new discovery in silage science, we have improved the original formula. Today's SILO-BOOSTER gives the most effective silage inoculant yet developed.

Laboratory analysis of both treated and untreated silages confirms the increased production of lactic acid by the bacterial cultures in SILO-BOOSTER.

	SILO-BOOSTER TREATED	CONTROL
Lactic acid % (average of 11 measurements from day 1 to day 30)	2.35%	1.83%
pH (average of 11 measurements from day 1 to day 30)	3.98%	3.96%

While both silages showed very similar changes in total pH change; the SILO-BOOSTER treated silage contained more lactic acid. The homofermentative production of lactic acid by SILO-BOOSTER cultures reduces the potential for dry matter losses and the generation of excessive heat of fermentation.

Beef Briefs

by Chester D. Hughes

Lancaster Co.
Extension Livestock Specialist

Editor's Note: Regular readers of our livestock page may have noticed a lapse in our Beef Briefs column last month. The hiccup in proceedings was caused by Dr. Lester Burdette's retirement, and more information on that event is included in this section.

Since we instituted our beef column last year, Dr. Burdette has been a valued contributor of sound management advice and we're going to miss him.

Coming on stream with this issue is Lancaster County livestock agent, Chet Hughes, who notes that, while he may not be able to physically fill Dr. Burdette's shoes, he will try to do his best in the figurative sense. Chet, of course, is no stranger to our readers, having written a general livestock column for us during the past three years. A cattleman himself, Chet is well-known in Angus circles, and currently serves as secretary of the Pennsylvania Angus Association.

As with our other livestock columnists, Chet will appear on this page once a month. The rotation will continue to be beef, poultry, sheep and swine.

Welcome aboard, Chester!

August: Stress Time For Beef Cattle

For the cow/calf operator guide by a satisfactory management schedule, the month of August is generally regarded as a time of less labor. The bulk of the hay crop is in, most AI breeding is completed, and the cows continue to tend to their growing calves. The clean-up bulls are turned into the herd and the cattleman can relax on his porch, sip a lemonade and admire his favorite cows.

Unfortunately, good management cannot stop and sometimes the stresses associated with late summer and the cow herd, require the alert attention of the herd manager. Before you sit back and totally relax, consider the following factors that make August a challenge.

The weather seems to be responsible for much of what can happen in late summer and generally our native grass and clover pastures begin to fail at this time of year. During a dry period, like this year, the stress becomes even greater. When the available forage falters, so does milk production; perhaps when the calves need the most nutrition.

Supplemental feeding of the cows and/or the calves may be appropriate, and sometimes necessary. But this additional feeding may cause additional problems, like bloat and scours, especially calves are introduced to a new feed source. High protein grain rations and new legume hay (alfalfa) are often culprits of bloat and/or scours. Bloat, especially, should be treated as an emergency. Your veterinarian is equipped to easily treat this condition, but time is a factor with a bloated animal.

Additionally, failing cool season grasses that are poorly managed, often leave poisonous weeds and plants as the only source of grazing material, which can be fatal to a hungry ruminant. Some that come to mind are: nightshade, May apple, pokeweed, and morning glory. And if your farm borders a residential area, be alert for neighbors who may, unknowingly, toss clippings of poisonous ornamentals to your hungry cows. Summer storms can also cause broken tree limbs, and wilted wild cherry leaves are readily eaten by hungry cattle, often producing fatal results.

The hot, humid weather of August provided a favorable atmosphere for flies and worms. This is a very good time to treat suckling calves for worms and the entire herd should have access to a backrubber, dust bag or any other fly control method. Cattle comfort is very important for appetite, cycling activity, and general health. Your herd should have access to a cool shaded area, whether it be a woods, pine grove, a simple shed, or a barn with fans.

Finally, my thoughts turn to the all important water source. In August, mature beef cows can easily consume 15 to 20 gallons of water daily. They prefer a clean, cool fresh source, low in nitrates and bacteria, much like you or I would. Remember that August can be a time when streams are dried up, and ponds stagnant, so daily filling of the stock tank may be mandatory.

Just when you were about to relax in your rocking chair with an iced tea, I had to bring up all of these late summer stresses. Keep these thoughts in mind, practice sound beef cattle management, and stay alert for August's challenges!

Penn State Beef Specialist Dr. Lester Burdette Retires

UNIVERSITY PARK — Lester A. Burdette, professor of animal science, retired from the University on June 30 with emeritus status.

Dr. Burdette, who joined the College of Agriculture faculty in 1957, has been responsible for beef cattle education programs with the Cooperative Extension Service and has been extension coordinator for livestock programs in Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science. He specialized in nutrition and management programs for cattle breeders and feeders, as well as housing and equipment for all phases of beef production.

Dr. Burdette started his extension career as an assistant county agent in York County. "When I started out, I was working with nearly every species of meat animal livestock. We were more like generalists than specialists," he says. "But as livestock production became more specialized it became more difficult to keep up with all the changes that were taking place. We had to concentrate on one or two species."

One of the biggest changes he has seen is the number of beef cows on Pennsylvania farms. "When I started at Penn State there were roughly 55,000 beef cows in the state. Today there are nearly 200,000."

Much of this growth has been because of changes in rural communities. "Many farms have switched from dairy or poultry operations to beef when the operators took off-farm jobs," says Dr. Burdette. "Other small beef farms have been started by those who were escaping city life. It's a challenge to coordinate production and marketing options so that the small beef farm, which is typical in Pennsylvania, can remain competitive in today's economy."

A native of Mercer County, Dr. Burdette received his Ph.D., M.S. and B.S. degrees in animal husbandry and production, all from Penn State. Dr. Burdette lives with his wife, Johanne, in Pennsylvania Furnace. He is the father of four children - Nancy, David, Shirley and James.

Embryo Transplants Beef Up Profits For Va. Cattleman

BY JULIE GOCHENOUR

Virginia Correspondent

WOODSTOCK, Va. — It's simple, Wilson Eastep says.

The purpose of any beef cattle operation, purebred or commercial, is to sell their animals at the best possible prices. And embryo transplants are helping the cattlemen do just that.

A little over 10 years ago, the Simmental breeder and his family went into the cattle business for themselves. They spent those first years acquiring animals, building herd numbers, and breeding up from a percentage to a purebred polled herd of Simmentals. Even though demand was still strong for the relatively new breed and producers were eagerly buying "half-blood" and "three-quarter" animals, Wilson figured it couldn't last.

And it didn't. The number of Simmental herds increased, Virginia and Maryland began restricting sales to full-bloods and purebreds (7/8th Simmental) and buyers, faced with expanding availability, Eastep recalls, could begin to be selective. In short, supply caught up with demand and it soon took more than the word "Simmental" to make a sale.

Today, with this the current situation, the Lakeview herd includes 35 full-blood, 60 purebred and 30 "percentage" cows such as half-bloods, which Eastep describes as the "bottom layer" of his herd. Until he started using embryo transplants, they were also the least profitable.

Wilson Eastep and daughter Teresa look over a crop of five one-month-old ET calves sired by Lightning. Dam, also named Teresa, is a Signal daughter.

Lakeview Simmentals is a medium sized operation marketing purebred and full-blood heifers to other breeders and bulls to commercial cattlemen who want to add Simmental size and growth to their herd's offspring. "We were getting pretty nice bull calves and pretty nice heifers from our half and three-quarter cows, but they weren't the percentage we needed" Eastep explains. "We couldn't sell them, merchandise them, like we could a purebred — they just wouldn't bring the money."

The answer for his operation, he decided, was embryo transplants. "We figured we could use these half and three-quarter cows that we already have, who have proven to be good milkers and good mothers, to carry the top quality embryos we wanted. Then we would have more full-blood bulls and heifers from the same herd — but everything would be high percentage."

"If you have a half-blood cow and you breed her to a purebred bull, you get a three-quarters calf," he continues. "That's worth just a little over market price if you sell it to an individual privately. But if you've got an embryo in that half-blood cow and you're lucky enough to sell the calf at an average price for a purebred ET heifer or bull, it should be worth twice as much."

Embryo transplants allow Eastep to make maximum use of both the top and bottom layers of his herd, and the process at Lakeview is a completely self contained operation. Instead of buying fertilized eggs, the cat-

Heagy, Grumbine Show Lebanon's Top Market Hogs

BY JACK HUBLEY

LEBANON — Former Penn State swine specialist Matt Parsons came down from Massachusetts this week and found Pennsylvania pork to be in good trim. Parsons, who currently runs a swine consulting business and came south to judge the Lebanon Fair's market hog show on Monday, remarked that the show was characterized by good quality pigs all the way through.

One pig that caught his eye, though, was a Duroc-Yorkshire gilt shown by Shelby Heagy of Lebanon. "She did the best job of combining muscling, leanness and volume," said Parsons. The show's grand champion was bred by Miss Heagy's grandfather, Leon Arnold, a well-known Lebanon breeder. Sired by the "Extra" boar owned by Leon's brother, Larry, the top porker was also heavyweight division champion at 240 pounds.

Miss Heagy also had the show's lightweight champion, sired by the same boar. The daughter of Pat Heagy, Shelby is in seventh grade at Cedar Crest Middle School. Although she has shown champions at the county roundup, this was her first grand champion at the county fair.

She exhibits both beef and swine, but prefers swine in the showing. "They're easier to train," she says. Another one of her grandfather's pigs placed third in carcass competition.

At reserve was a 230-pound gilt shown by Daryl Grumbine. Bred by Roger Bankert of Hanover, the Poland-Duroc cross was one of three pigs that Grumbine bought at a sale in March. Another one of this trio placed fifth in the carcass show.

The son of Dennis and Barbara Grumbine, Daryl is a freshman at Elco High School and a seven-year veteran of the 4-H program.

Following are results of the market hog show.

$22,000-Worth Of Sheep Sell At Mid-Atlantic Classic

BY JACK HUBLEY

MANHEIM — Shepherds came from a dozen states and all points of the compass to take part in the Mid-Atlantic Classic Show and Sale held at the Manheim Fairgrounds on July 19.

In its second year, the Mid-Atlantic saw nearly 90 Hampshires and Dorsets come under the judge's scrutiny before crossing the auction block later in the day. Judging this year's show was Richard Cobb of the University of Illinois.

After taking top honors in the Hampshire ram show, a rail-called Jersey garnered the sale's high bid of $1,500. Owned by Verna Gengler of Honey Hill Hampshires, Pittston, New Jersey, the big ram was sired by last year's reserve champion at the Maryland State Fair. The ram's new owners, Belle and Daniel Fangmeyer, plan to give Jersey a chance to go one title better at this year's show.

Honey Hill's purebred Hampshire operation actually started eight years ago when the Gengler's two daughters got involved with sheep through the 4-H program. It

Birch Hill Hampshires came all the way from Gorham, Maine to win the champion Hampshire ewe title. Their top ewe went to Don Witt of Champion, Pa., for $600.

In Polled Dorset competition, the champion ram came from the Bloomington, Ill., farm of Stan Rader. The ram sold to Owen Rhoads of Paoli, Pa., for $510.

The top Polled Dorset female was shown by Willow Run Farm of Wytheville, Va., The ewe sold to Kirsten Sass, Johnsonburg, N.J., for $410.

Woodleigh Farms of Weston Mass., showed the top Horned Dorset ram that sold to Virginians

Barbara and Leon Cassell for $260.

The top Horned Dorset ewe was shown by Steve Savage of Macy, Ind., and sold for $425.

By sale's end, nearly $22,000-worth of sheep had passed beneath the gavel of auctioneer Ken Brubaker. The sale's 40 Hampshires averaged $287, the 34 Polled Dorsets averaged $225 and the 13 Horned Dorsets sold for an average of $206.

USDA Announces Export Program For Poultry, Eggs

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng recently announced plans for a $6 million program to expand poultry and egg exports in the next year to Pacific Rim and Middle East countries.

Lyng said promotional activities will be carried out through an agreement between the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service and the USA Poultry and Egg Export Council, which represents the U.S. poultry industry.

Promotional activities will be targeted at expanding consumption of poultry and eggs in Japan, Hong Kong, Singapore, Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, the United Arab Emirates, Yemen and Bahrain.

The dollar value of U.S. sales to these countries dropped from $370 million in 1980 to $175 million in 1985, Lyng said, a loss of 53 percent. Export subsidies, primarily from the European community, accounted for most of this loss.

A Royal Birth

'While Britain's Sarah and Andrew were honeymooning, their namesakes, a set of twin Hereford calves, were born on the New Windsor farm of Lancaster Farming's Maryland correspondent, Sharon Shuster. In beef industry circles, at least, the birth of Sarah and Andrew ranks right up there with the royal wedding. According to USDA, twinning occurs in only .5 to 8 percent of bovine births, with beef breeds producing fewer twins than dairy cows.

Master Farmer Fertilizer Will Hold Open House

Lancaster Firm To Celebrate Half Century of Service

LANCASTER — This year, Master Farmer Fertilizer Company is celebrating two service milestones in Lancaster County. This is the company's 50th year of service to the county, as well as being the 30th year of continuous service by its owner, Bill Brubaker. Both events will be celebrated during a two-day open house scheduled for Aug. 6 and 7 from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The firm was incorporated as Organic Plant Food Co. in 1936 by Norman Brubaker, father of the present owner. The company was originally operated as a mixer and dealer of organic supplements. These products in the early years were marketed to the organic gardening trade.

The company gradually made the shift into the general farming trade early in its history. Farm grade fertilizers such as 3-12-6, 5-10-10 and 0-14-14 were blended by hand in the early days. With sewage sludge as the base or filler for these early fertilizers, they were made primarily from ammonium sulfate, 20 percent granular superphosphate and muriate of potash. They were loaded by hand into wheelbarrows, weighed on a small platform scale, and dumped on a pile in front of a bucket elevator until a one-ton batch was complete. The pile was then turned by hand and shoveled into the elevator.

The "mixed fertilizer," at this point, would either be stored in a bulk bin for the season or it would be directed to a bagger or bulk load out for shipment. The bagging was done in used cane sugar bags, wire tied and tagged by grade. The bulk shipments were either in a spreader truck or in 250-pound barrels.

The changes in the company from this early beginning were constantly taking place. Agriculture went through a major revolution in the 1950's and 60's, and the fertilizer industry strained to keep pace with the progress.

In 1956 Bill Brubaker joined the company as a trained agronomist. Soil testing was immediately added as a service of the company, and its customers were quick to realize its value. The firm also realized that this was the beginning of custom mixing and blending of fertilizers. The first rotary drum mixer was added along with a weigh hopper in a new bulk blending building at the old plant location. This immediately developed the need for faster and more farmer oriented delivery and bulk spreading capabilities. To fill this need the company began adding trailer spreaders to its small fleet.

It was also in the mid 1960's that the company added anhydrous ammonia to its line of products.

It was in 1968 that the company learned that it was going to be forced to move. A state highway project was going to be coming directly through the plant location. The company bought a property in East Lampeter Township and building plans began. The relocation was completed, and spring of 1972 saw the company operating out of a new and modern bulk blending facility on Norman Road.

It was in December, 1969, that Bill's dad died. He did not get to see the new facility; however, the road carries his name. "He was a well liked and respected man in the industry, and some of our long time customers still remember Dad," notes Bill.

During the mid to late 70's, the growth and changes kept coming. The smaller engine driven spreaders were added to enable the company to better serve their new Amish neighbors. The new plant now included two mixing units, and a modern bulk loading facility. The material storage capacity is now over 2,000 tons of dry fertilizer.

It was also at this point that the company bought the custom spraying business and equipment that was operated by Harold Zook. Zook was one of Lancaster County's major custom spray operators. This immediately placed the company deeply into the custom spraying business. Along with this purchase the firm began the sale of liquid nitrogen, and weed and feed programs for corn. The liquid nitrogen business has increased to where the company now has storage for 108,000 gallons of the product.

The Master Farmer Fertilizer Company, as it is now known, is service oriented. As Bill explained, "We all have the same products to sell to Lancaster County farmers. It is what we know and what we can do that makes us different from our competitor and valuable to our customer."

The staff today consists of a plant manager and Pioneer sales representative, two full time sales people, two office people who operate the company's computer, and six people in the plant. The plant operator, Bill Kendig, now has 32 years of service with the company.

The other five people are all application specialists. Each of these men specialize in one or two phases of the custom application services offered by the firm.

Although the company has come a long way in the last 50 years, they will be the first to tell you that Master Farmer is still a small company. They know their customers and their needs, and work hard to fill those needs.

New Compound Claimed To Improve Livestock Health

LEWISBURG — Paul Martin of Lewisburg markets a compound called black cleaner, which is used in all types of livestock raising as preventive maintenance. Farmers who use the compound can benefit in several different aspects of their operations.

"Black cleaner is an organic matter which is electronically charged to draw off the toxic materials in our environment," explains Martin. There are no drugs or chemicals of any sort in the product. Veal growers and dairy farmers have used the compound in their feeding programs. And Martin is able to provide testimonials from people in various industries who are also using the product.

One area in which the product is extremely useful is the dairy industry. "There the cell count problems in milk can be cut in half. We have found that by using the powder farmers can increase animal health, reduce threat of milk fever, ease ring worm scares and breeding problems," Martin said. The product will efficiently utilize the food while decreasing the consumption rate, thus increasing production and fat at a saving. The same powder can work in all types of animals including beef, hogs and poultry.

Black cleaner is in use in several farms in Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. And the names of satisfied customers are available from Martin upon request. Persons interested in learning more about this product may write to Paul Martin at the Martin Co., Box 182-A, Lewisburg, PA 17837.

Farm Credit Supports National 4-H Congress

The hot months of summer would seem to be an unlikely time to contemplate the cold December weather, but to 44 happy 4-H'ers, Chicago in December is the hottest item in their thoughts.

All of these youths were chosen from a group of over 700 4-H'ers to attend the National 4-H Congress held yearly in Chicago. For this trip, the highlight of any 4-H career, the youths submit carefully compiled records of their 4-H projects that have been the focus on their work for the past year. These record books, along with their already established 4-H reputation, helped in their selection to represent Pennsylvania in Chicago.

Ranging in categories from automotive to wood science, the youths put many hours into their documented work on the record books. Chosen on a point system for each section in the book, a panel of 20 judges took two days to examine and score the records. The final selections for the Chicago trip winners were made from the interview scores.

Impressed by the encounter with the 4-H'ers, one of the judges, Laurie Thomas from the Butler Association of the Pennsylvania Farm Credit Service, praised all of the applicants for their hard work and time spent on their projects.

"It is very enlightening when teens as young as 15 can come in and tell you their life's work and his or her plans for the future," said Ms. Thomas, a former 4-H'er herself. "All of the youngsters were outstanding and they were all top in their project areas. Even though the judging process was a lot of hard work, it was well worth the time."

With 42 categories, 44 youths were chosen in all. The programs consisted of 39 different areas plus two winners each in achievement, citizenship and leadership. The category of fashion revue was the only area this year without a winner.

The Pennsylvania Farm Credit Service has financially contributed to the success of the 4-H programs with a yearly donation that is matched by the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore. The Baltimore Farm Credit District, one of 12 districts in the Farm Credit System, includes the state of Pennsylvania. Additionally, the Pennsylvania Farm Credit Service provides financial support for programs sponsored by the Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H.

Carol Mercner from the West Chester Office of Farm Credit, was one of the judges last year who helped select the Pennsylvania 4-H representatives to attend the National Congress in Chicago. Commenting on her experiences as a judge Ms. Mercner said, "I feel that I benefited from being a part of the selection process in two ways: the personal experience was extremely rewarding and I'm convinced that it's very important for sponsoring organizations to become better acquainted with and involved in the programs that they support." This year, Ms. Mercner encouraged Laurie Thomas to become a judge. Ms. Mercner continues to serve on the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H.

The 4-H'ers named to attend the 1986 National 4-H Congress in Chicago and their respective categories are: Karl Tyson, Adams County, Achievement; Darlene Ogden, Tioga County, Achievement; Greg Stricker, Berks County, Agriculture; Mark Gardner, Columbia County, Automotive; John Kirschner, Washington County, Beef; Kevin Carson, Venango County, Bicycle; Michele Mawhinney, Venango County, Bread; Madonna Becerra, Pike County, Citizenship; Amy Rodgers, Adams County, Citizenship; Karen Daum, Centre County, Clothing; James Scott, Indiana County, Commodity

Marketing; and Ross Pifer, Jefferson County, Conservation.

Karen Mooneyham, Fulton County, Consumer Education; Sue Eisenhart, York County, Dairy; Stephanie Meyers, Franklin County, Dairy Foods; Patricia Ogburn, Washington County, Dog; David Priestner, Susquehanna County, Electric; Karen Beaver, Franklin County, Entomology; Jamie Bennett, Centre County, Food Conservation & Safety; Susan Bell, Indiana County, Food Preservation; Kristen Youngman, Luzerne County, Food/Nutrition; David Lentz, Forestry, York County; Janet Ludwig, Adams County, Gardening; Rebe Weinstock, Chester County, Health; and Christine Hoskin, York County, Home Environment.

Linda Beatty, Indiana County, Home Management; Tracy Miller, York County, Horse; Tad Kuntz, Adams County, Leadership; Damian Shiner, Lebanon County, Leadership; Matthew Will, Somerset County, Petroleum Power; Michael Countryman, Somerset County, Photography; Colin Ringer, Lehigh County, Plant & Soil Science; Tammy Balthaser, Berks County, Poultry; Kathy Black, Tioga County, Public Speaking; Jennifer Whitehill, Centre County, Recreation; Fred Hoch, Cumberland County, Safety; Rick Dunn, Butler County, Sheep; James Scott, Jr., Indiana County, Swine; Lucinda Frey, Cumberland County, Veterinary Science; Bruce Ryburn, Washington County, Wildlife & Fisheries; Connie

Mertz, Montour County, Wildlife & Fisheries Leader; Sean Weaver, Somerset County, Wood Science; Juan Figueroa, Lancaster County, Nutrition Development; Sharon Smith, Carbon County, Personal Development.

York Farm Credit Names Loan Officer

YORK — C. Daniel Brogdon has been named to the position of loan officer for the York Farm Credit Service, according to John H. Brumbaugh, branch manager, Chambersburg.

Brogdon, a native of western Pennsylvania was previously employed by Farm Credit in New Jersey. A graduate of the Pennsylvania State University, he holds a B.S. Degree in Agricultural Mechanization.

Farm Credit is a nationwide credit cooperative which lends money to farmers, farm related businesses, and rural home owners. The York Farm Credit Service is part of the Baltimore District, one of 12 districts throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

Feed Supplements Critical To Milk Production

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The key factor in milk production in most herds is feed with insufficient nutrients, says John Hess of John J. Hess II Inc. in Paradise, Lancaster County.

"Even good cows with an inbred capacity to consume and convert large quantities of feed won't produce up to their genetic potential if improperly fed," Hess says.

Cows should receive abundant feed with plenty of nutrients in correct proportions, he adds. "At the onset of pregnancy, dairy cows must have enough nutrients for both milk production and building up and maintaining the developing fetus."

Getting a dry cow or heifer in proper condition is extremely important. Her condition at freshening largely determines the extent of her production, says the dealer.

"A deficiency of protein, energy, minerals or vitamins in the ration during the last two months of pregnancy may result in a weak or unhealthy calf. However, the cow's condition can be controlled by proper feeding during the latter part of lactation as well as during the dry period.

"Modern feed production technology can help today's dairy farmers carry out feeding programs that suit their production goals by making nutritionally balanced supplements available," he adds. "A supplement will help dry cows and heifers build body reserves for the next breeding or lactation period," he says. "The blocks provide the necessary protein they require, in addition to selenium, magnesium and vitamins A and D in a precise formulation to balance roughages."

In addition, proper body condition before calving can mean up to 2,000 pounds of extra milk in the following lactation period, he notes. "These supplements assure dairymen their dry cows are getting the balance of nutrients needed for producing healthy calves and maintaining body condition," he concludes.

New Grain Law Protects Maryland Farmers

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — A new grain law that went into effect last month should result in added protection to any Maryland farmer that sells or stores his grain. Effective July 1, 1986 changes in the Grain Dealers Licensing Law made by the 1986 Maryland General Assembly became law. The major change in the wording of the law was the definition of a "grain dealer".

Under the new law, "grain dealer" is defined as any person who is in the business of buying, receiving, exchanging, or storing grain from a person who grows grain. This does not apply to a farmer who buys, receives, exchanges, or stores grain for use in the farming business of that farmer.

Under the law a license may not be issued or renewed until the applicant has filed with the Secretary a financial statement that is reviewed by a certified public accountant or a letter from a CPA. Each document must indicate that the applicant's grain business has a net worth of at least $100,000 or he must post a surety bond in the amount of $100,000 and present proof of insurance coverage. Anyone who violates this portion of the new grain law is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction is subject to a fine of $10,000.

"This law should help protect the farmer who is selling or storing his grain by assuring him that the person he is dealing with (when storing at time of licensing grain) is a licensed grain dealer who is financially stable and carries adequate insurance to protect his product until he (the farmer) is paid," explained Thomas O. Meredith, administrator, Maryland Grain Laws.

FMC To Sponsor Soybean Leadership Conference

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Farmers from across the nation, who hold leadership positions in soybean organizations will have an opportunity in August to learn more about the Soybean Association and to develop their leadership skills. The 75 soybean farmer leaders will travel to Princeton, New Jersey in mid-August for a two-day educational program of the American Soybean Association sponsored by FMC Corporation.

The farmer-leaders, all of whom serve on soybean organization boards of directors, will hear soybean industry leaders discuss current challenges and opportunities. The two-day intensive educational program is designed to help the farmers develop more effective programs to help increase soybean farm profits in their states.

The conference program will include an update of ASA structure, policies and objectives, technical training and upgrading of communications skills, review of the agricultural economy, a presentation by FMC and several informal group activities.

Brockett's Ag Advice

By John E. Brockett
Farm Management Agent
Lewistown Extension Office

Take a Vacation!

To help a farmer make good management decisions, he or she must get away from the business from time to time. This vacation from the farm helps in several ways. First, it makes the manager back off from the trees so that person can see the woods. In other words, a farmer who spends all of the time doing farm work often fails to see the overall situation or problem.

Second, it gives the farmer time to spend with the family in a different type of atmosphere than just work.

Third, it acts as a refresher in that for at least a few hours the farmer is not thinking about business. I remember a number of years ago when I was trying to convince a good friend to go on a trip. His response was "I've never missed a milking and am concerned as to the problems that would come up if I left." Finally he was convinced that a short trip, looking at other dairy farms, would be advantageous. He left with a great deal of trepidation. I'm sure he had many moments when he nearly backed out. Fortunately he had pre-paid his and his wife's fees for the tour. Being a typical farmer, he did not want to lose that, so left on schedule. When he got home, he was both relieved and somewhat disappointed that everything was in good shape with no lost cows, no damages, and no loss of income. Since then he has made annual use of vacations as a renewal of his management and a rejuvenation of his physical self.

What Type of Vacation?

Vacations can be anything from a one-day trip to a park or picnic area to an extended stay at the shore or in the mountains to a trip to Hawaii or Florida. When most of our kids were home, we had a considerable amount of strawberries. During strawberry season we worked from 6 a.m. until 11 p.m. six days of the week. On Sunday we did chores, went to church, then often went to Reed's Gap or Greenwood recreational areas to swim, picnic, and play ball. At the end of strawberry season and before we got tied up in sweet corn, cantalopes, and other projects we went out to dinner. It was a big event. We usually had to make reservations ahead, because most restaurants in this area were not geared to take on casual parties the size of ours. We and the kids appreciated the break in what was always a rather hectic time of the year.

Sometimes a vacation is no more than being able to sleep in on a Sunday. Usually this does not work very well because it is too easy to see something that absolutely needs to be done. That becomes the end of any relaxation or change of pace. If short times are all that are available, it would be better to take a few hour trips away from home. Usually that short time away from the business will help you get a better grip on the management routine when you return.

Labor Management

While you are considering your own vacation, what about voluntarily offering your hired man or woman a few extra days or a part of a day off. It would be like an extra bonus and many times would be appreciated more than a monetary bonus.

Perhaps you could say "You can have two days off once we get the second cutting of hay done or the oats combined." This would give the hired person something to anticipate and would give them time to plan ahead. Or you could offer to extend their regular weekend or vacation time by a day or two. This would be especially helpful if you were planning to really push things for a period of time so the hired help would have a lot of extra hours of work involved. Never take the hired help for granted. Nothing is more discouraging for a person than to do a good job and then receive nothing except fault for not doing more or something different.

Most farmers make a mistake when they hire help, because they do not spell out the work load and expectations they have for hired help development. Most jobs have what is called a job description. Such a document would often save a lot of boss-hired help conflicts. This document could have bonuses, incentives and requirements for pay raises included in it.

When you serve fruit and cheese combinations, remember this handy tip: with sweet fruits (honeydew or grapes), serve a mild-flavored cheese such as Brick; with tart fruits (apples), consider a strong-flavored cheese such as Cheddar.

Virginia Cattleman

tleman AI breeds his six best cows and then has them flushed about every three months. These eggs then go into the percentage host mothers or "recips" and the top cows remain open and can be bred again. "It's not really as much trouble as AI as far as the labor and all," Wilson notes. "It's a busy week but then you don't have to worry about it for the next 60 to 90 days."

Easte's daughter, Karen, elaborates. "If you were AI breeding, you might have to get two in today, and one in tomorrow, and two in the next day. But by using ET's on all of the recips, you catch them once, give them a luteal shot, watch them while they're in heat and get them in the day of the transplant. You know when they should be coming in."

The donor cows require more attention, however, and it does make for a busy week at Lakeview, Karen admits. "Donors get shots every day starting out with one the first evening and the next day getting two shots for five days, and then ending on the last day with one. Then, after you give them that last shot, they should come in heat a day or two later because they also get luteal with the last two shots. Then you AI and seven days later you flush and transfer," she explains.

The shots contain a fertility drug which causes the cows to super-ovulate, Wilson reports. "Each time we've averaged right in the neighborhood of 20 good eggs. We try to have about 20 to 25 recips ready and we usually use them all, freezing any excess eggs for later use. We AI breed the next so many best purebreds and then we use the bottom half for recips. So they're all either being flushed, carrying calves, or are the recips that didn't catch and will be used the next time."

So far the cattleman has 50 embryo calves on the ground or on the way, and he's been more than pleased with the results. The costs are high, though. The ET service Easte uses charges $300 for the first flush, $250 for the second and $200 for the third, with a maximum of $750 per visit. Then the cattleman is charged $250 for each successful pregnancy within 60-80 days.

"We figure we've got an average of $500 in each embryo — and that's taking into consideration you lose when you put the eggs into these cows and five or six of them don't catch. Then you've got these cows you're carrying open for 90 days or more, so you've lost two calves you'd have had if you'd bred them to a bull or used AI. We might go up to the barn when the 21 days are up and see them in heat, but you can't breed them back because that would be a successful pregnancy when the service came back to check."

It's still worth the cost, Karen Easte and her father believe. "It has to be," Karen explains. "Instead of having a $400 half-blood

Lamb and Wool Producers To Vote On Promotion Program

WASHINGTON — Lamb and wool producers will have an opportunity during an August 18-29 referendum to vote on whether they want the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., to continue its market promotion and improvement program on their behalf.

According to Milton Hertz, Acting Administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the agreement to be voted on is similar to one approved in 1982, except it would authorize deductions of up to 6 cents per pound on shorn wool and 30 cents per hundredweight on unshorn lambs marketed in 1986. Deductions from producer incentive payments for 1982 through 1985 were 4 cents and 20 cents respectively, he said.

Hertz also said the new agreement would permit USDA to withhold part of any wool incentive payments that might be made to producers on 1987-90 marketings to finance the council's promotion activities.

He said deductions would be used by the council to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb and programs to develop and disseminate information on product quality, production management and marketing improvement for wool and sheep.

ASCS county offices will distribute copies of the agreement and ballots to sheep producers early this month. Producers may cast their ballots by mailing or delivering them in person to county ASCS offices by the close of the referendum, Hertz said.

Anyone who has owned sheep six months old or older for at least 30 consecutive days during 1985 may vote. Votes may be cast by individuals or by cooperatives. Members of cooperatives which cast votes would not be eligible to vote separately in the referendum. The agreement requires approval by two-thirds of the total volume of producers, or two-thirds of the total volume of production represented in the referendum.

The National Wool Act of 1954 provides the authority for deductions and for promotion activities. Sheep producers have approved the program in each of the eight referendums held since 1954. In the most recent referendum, in 1982, 72.6 percent of the producers approved the program.

heifer you might have a $1200 full blood heifer or one worth a little more." And Wilson agrees.

"Even if we get a real nice three-quarter bull out of a half-blood, he's still real hard to sell. If you do get him sold, he might, or might not, bring five cents over market price. But if you can price a bull calf out of that same cow at $1200, that's over $1 a pound. And after that ET calf is on the ground, it costs the same to raise it and get him up to a 1,000 pound bull as it did that three-quarter. And you can sell him for more."

has been used by progressive farmers for over 17 years. University tested and proven MOPRO Liquid Silage Fortifier is formulated to balance the major mineral and protein deficiencies of silages. It conserves dry matter by slowing down the heat of fermentation and also prevents loss from mold and rot after being removed from the silo or trench. MOPRO is added at the time of ensiling and is applied by metering equipment with very little handling cost. MOPRO will not corrode mild steel tanks or brass fittings and has no free ammonia odor to irritate the eyes or skin. MOPRO is a homogeneous solution of ammonia salts, urea, cane molasses, and minerals (except salt and calcium) in an efficient liquid carrier. It provides nitrogen for improved fermentation in the rumen and contains a mineral balance of phosphorous, magnesium, and trace elements including selenium. MOPRO 100 will give a resulting silage of up to 14.3% protein.

Ice cream was known in the American colonies about 1700.

A Virginian, dining at the home of Governor William Bladen of Maryland, mentioned it in a letter, writing "...a Great Variety of Dishes, all serv'ed up in the most Elegant way, after which came a Dessert no less Curious; Among the Rarities was some fine Ice Cream which, with Strawberries and Milk, eats most Deliciously."

HAY, STRAW, EAR CORN, PEANUT HULLS

(Best Value Protector)
"THE LEAD ALTERNATIVE"
GASOLINE TREATMENT

This new additive has been developed for the protection of engines designed to operate on leaded gasoline

Without lead your engine loses power & compression caused by valve seat recession BVP acts as a protective lubricant to prevent direct metal to metal contact that would cause high wear

Use BVP for the protection of lead without the pollution

Available in 8 oz bottles (24 per case), 5 gallon containers & 55 gallon drums

IT COSTS SO LITTLE TO PROTECT SO MUCH!

J & J "ON THE TABLE" CONFERENCE AUGUST 7-8-9, 1986

JIM AND JANE McHALE AND THE REST OF THE CREW AT J & J AGRI-PRODUCTS & SERVICES, INC. INVITE YOU TO ATTEND OUR "ON THE TABLE" CONFERENCE. OUR OBJECTIVE IS TO PUT THE FACTS ON THE TABLE, AS FAR AS AGRICULTURE IS CONCERNED AND OUTLINE A SUSTAINABLE PROGRAM FOR FARMERS THAT STARTS WITH THE BASICS: OUR SOIL AND ENDS WITH BINS AND BUSHELS OF QUALITY PRODUCTION. THERE WILL BE SOME EXCITING THINGS "ON THE TABLE" WITH A FULL PACKAGE OF OUTSTANDING SPEAKERS.

EDDIE ALBERT, A long-time promoter of conservation, and now an in-depth student of economics, will meld the two topics into a blockbuster presentation that covers Maintenance of Parity for the soil and the exchange equation, "Which are really the same side of the same coin "

DR. DANIEL L. SKOW D.V.M., Fairmont, Minnesota will discuss New Technologies In Crop Production. Dr. Skow learned years ago that if we are to help farmers on animal health problems, we must treat the cause and not the symptoms. The last ten years, Dr. Skow has been a consulting vet. He has written several books on soil fertility, working with energy levels and the Biological Theory of Ionization.

MURRAY BAST, Wellsley, Ontario, Canada will make a presentation aptly named, Keep The Vet On The Road And Not In Your Lane. During recent years, Murray has refined the use of Homeopathic procedures in the feed lot, combined with an Eco approach to soil management

CHARLES WALTERS, JR., Editor of Acres, USA will sum up the meeting and his publications's many years of experience with a talk entitled, "What Have We Learned?"

RUTH KOBELL, legislative director for the Washington, D.C. office of the National Farmers Union will give us An Up To The Minute Report On Legislation Before the Congress This Session and its impact on farmers and the rural community

JACK MEGASON, Former Vice President of Media Corp and now Vice President of IMU Marketing Inc will speak on Building A Healthy Immune System In Both Animals And People.

Wye Field Day Set for Aug. 21

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — When time are tough for farmers, the tough farmers have one essential question: "How can I squeeze a little more profit out of my operation?"

For some new answers to that old question, farmers and agricultural leaders can look this year to the Wye Field Day, sponsored by the University of Maryland.

"Farmers want to know how to increase their profitability, not necessarily their yields. And in planning this year's program, we've tried to fill that information need," says Brinsfield.

The following is a sampling of what's in store:

- Row crop farmers can find out how to get the most out of their investment in herbicides, which are the up and coming soybean varieties, and how they can help reduce pollution of surface and ground water supplies.

- Fruit, vegetable and nursery producers can learn the latest on the blossoming cut-flower industry in this area, how well new virus-free blackberries are performing, how to manage high-density plantings of peaches, and how to deal with pests on ornamental plants.

- Livestock and forage producers will learn how to measure and improve the reproductive capabilities of beef bulls and cows, and how to graze more animals on their fields.

- Farm families and anyone with financial responsibilities in an agricultural business will get expert help on financial, insurance, and estate planning. And they will also get tips on how to deal with stress during financially troublesome times.

The 1986 Wye Field Day also will include exhibits, clinics, lunch, and — to top off the day — a crab feast.

The costs of the luncheon and crab feast are nominal — everything else is free.

The Wye Research and Education Center is located off US Route 50 east, approximately 3 miles east of the US 50-301 split and 3 miles west of MD Route 213. Look for signs for the Wye Institute, Carmichael, and the Wye Field Day.

CHORE-TIME

FLEX-AUGER® delivery systems for high moisture corn

Chore-Time's famous
"coreless"
FLEX-AUGER
now available in two models

Model 125

Model HMC
50 lbs./minute

to 27% moisture

FLEX-AUGER means you can move more feed per unit of energy used. A 1-hp power unit moves 50 pounds per minute with Model HMC and 220 pounds per minute with Model 125. FLEX AUGER is also so reliable and long lasting that Chore Time now warrants the auger itself for 10 years.

And the system is completely corrosion proof from the feed bin to the nylon coated boot to the special PVCT auger tube. FLEX AUGER high moisture corn systems - a new way to cut costs and boost efficiency.
